BEFORE the Select Circulating Libra-ry had been long in existence, it was iscovered that there was still something wanting -that many occurrences in the lite eary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. 'o establish a tuller medium of communication and supply the desideration, the Jour-nal of Beller Lettres was added; which we 5th. The Management of Trust. nave reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage ex-tended to the Library induced the provide-tor to give hat gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended experience has shown o ther desiderata which the "Companion" intended to supply. While reading for the "Library" a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, emertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the disegnation of Magaziniana, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarteriles. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would encreach too wuch on the columns of the "Library" designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret. them by is constantly a subject of regre. To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books entire. Reviews, lists of 128 works, the choicest contributions to Augustines. &c. &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large. It is be leved that with the "Library," the "Journal," and the "Companion," such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little further to be desired. Being all published from the same plice, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal

The following plan is respectfully submit-

1. The "Companion" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals.

2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the Library-each number containing sixteen pages-thus, every six months, giving thirteen numbers, which can be bound with the Library at little or no more expense, and making a better sized volume; and to those who do not take the Library itself, a volume every year, of 416 quarto pages of the size of the present.

3. The price will be three dollars for a subscriber—five dollars for two—and clubs five and upwards will be supplied at two dollars each. 4. As the works will not be commenced. unless a sufficient patronage be obtained, no payment is required at present, only the name, sent free of postage. Those wishing to support the publication will be pleased therefore to announce their intention as early as possible, as it is intended to commence work on the first of January next.
