

FRANCE AND AMERICA. (Continued from page 1.) The members of the Chamber of Deputies, at Paris, closed the debate on the American Indemnity Bill. All the amendments were rejected, save one, to the effect that the money shall not be paid until some explanation be tendered by the United States to the French Government, for the terms in which the American President had demanded the non-fulfillment of the treaty. The exception of this article—inserted with the bill—was presented by the Chamber, and the bill was carried by a larger majority than even the Ministers had expected, there being 289 votes for, and 137 against. I believe it is pretty well ascertained that the Chamber will vote in favour of the bill. As soon as this majority had been secured, the Chamber rejected the amendments proposed, one of which was that the interest should be paid from the day on which the bill was passed. The Chamber rejected the bill, and consequently rejected the indemnity of 30 millions of francs to be paid on account of this bill, by France to America.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH. A coloured man, a waiter at the City Hotel, was on a window of the second story of said hotel, and was instantly killed. It is supposed that he had struck either the iron railing, or the cornice of the basement, as it was very high. It is said that he was occasionally drunk. Bilt. Chron.

FOREIGN. A very important bill from Europe, the passage of the American Indemnity Bill by the French Chamber of Deputies, has pronounced judgment upon the report of M. Berryer, on the subject of the American Indemnity, by a vote in its favour, and the overwhelming majority of 192, in favour of 426 members—the majority being towards of an hundred more than Ministers first ventured to count upon. The debate in the Chamber was herefore brought to a close on the 16th of May, the 17th, M. Mauguin, whose political opinions have lately become a question with us, was the principal speaker against the bill, and he produced a little sensational number, by the following statement:—

A person writes to M. Mauguin, that he will examine the original papers produced in support of the American claims, and will be able to discover in it a falsification, for in the texture of the paper itself a date is written to the date of the statement. It is strange discovery which induced M. Mauguin to reject a claim which was supported by fraud.

It was said in the Chamber, that the original papers were from Prince Polignac, M. Mauguin requested that the original documents should be laid before the Chamber, but the Minister asserted that they were not in his possession. Thus the accusation of fraud, against the French journal, is maintained. The accusation, however, seems to have made a great impression on the Chamber, for it voted against M. Berryer's amendment to reduce the indemnity one-half. The vote was taken with unusual solemnity, 170 voted against, and 156 for M. Berryer. This vote assured the government that the position of the Chamber was much more than what it had dared to hope. On the 17th the debate was resumed and brought to a close by two amendments were proposed, one by M. Mauguin to the effect "That the sum of 20,000,000 shall not be paid until France has satisfactory explanations on the part of the American Government, relative to the President's message," and another by M. Berryer, to the effect—"The money to be paid to America shall be included in the budget, and paid in interest in six separate payments; the first commencing in the year 1836, and the last in 1841"—both of which were rejected by a large majority. It will be seen, however, on an amendment was adopted, on motion of M. Valaze, requiring that the money shall not be paid until France obtains a satisfactory explanation from the President for the language thought proper to adopt towards the Government, which will prevent the payment of part of the indemnity until after the meeting of the next Congress; but as the interest will be constantly accruing, this delay is of no moment. The required explanation will be forthcoming in due season—and all this will be well.

A correspondent of the London Times makes the following remark upon the result of the evidence it affords of the decay of party—for no effort has been left unmade to make the question a mere party trial. The outcry from the organs of opposition, an "un-national Chamber," who have lost the honour of their country—that is to say, have not provoked a war, in order to avoid payment of a just and acknowledged debt.

NOTICE OF THE MUSEUM. WADE'S LIBRARY, PORT FOLIO AND MUSEUM.

A S the publications now issued from the office of the Society Circulating Library are of a highly popular cast, and of a character to be appreciated by the educated portions of the community, and to circulate everywhere, by concert with the proprietor of the Museum, that work, the Port Folio and Library, are offered to those who take the three on the following conditions, viz.

The Museum Port Folio and Library, if paid for in advance and addressed to the same individual, whether in town or country, will be supplied for $12, thus enabling every individual to benefit by the circulating system, without the necessity of applying to others. Those who have a due regard for the current year to either of the works, of whose amount, will be privileged to avail themselves of this arrangement, by paying the balance—

1. Those who have paid or now pay $12 for the Library, shall receive the Museum Port Folio, the price of which separately is $3, on the payment of $7.

2. Those who have paid or now pay $5 for the Museum, shall receive the Library and Port Folio, the price of which is separately $8, on the payment of $3.

3. Those who have paid or now pay for the Port Folio, shall receive the Library and Museum on paying such a sum as will be equal to $12 on the whole.

4. The Circulating Library and Museum, will be sent to the same address on the payment of $10.

REMARKS.—The three works thus issued together, comprise a greater amount of the current literature of the age, than is issued in a periodical form from any other office in the United States, and will, the proprietor believes, with the addition of a good newspaper, supply to families all the advantages which could be furnished in a most extensive reading room in one of our Atlantic cities. In the Library the newest and best books are regularly published; in the Museum and Port Folio it has been found by experience that every thing we could wish to copy from the entire British literary periodicals, omitting mostly the political articles, can be rapidly issued. These publications embrace so much that is desirable to be known, and are so generally perused in the best circles in America, that to be without either is to drop a link in the literary chain. Therefore the reader will very rarely indeed be compelled to pay for the same matter twice, as they are independent of each other, complete in themselves, and free in general from any repetitions of the same articles.

These views the proprietor respectfully throws out for the consideration of the friends of sound and wholesome literature.

ADAM WALDIE, 207 Chesnut-street, Philad. May 28.

FOR ANNAPOLIS, EASTON AND CAMBRIDGE. The MARYLAND will go to Annapolis, Cambridge (by Castle Haven) and Easton on every Tuesday and Friday morning, leaving Baltimore at 7 o'clock, from the lower end Dugan's wharf, her usual place of starting.
