

quarter of a mile without sustaining any other injury than the spraining of his wrist.

Three of our citizens have been killed, and many others injured, some severely. The amount of property destroyed is very considerable. The most cases of the poor are the greatest. The street in which I reside, occupied by the preservation I desire to render unnecessary to Almighty God. Rev. Dr. Howe who had several years at Savannah, Georgia, and me that he had witnessed the effects of Southern tornado, but that it did not destroy its power and destructive character to the South. We learn from other sources that the tornado commenced at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, about four miles from New Brunswick, a place called Middlebush. The destruction New Brunswick was confined chiefly to the streets Nelson, and Schureman streets. The tornado then crossed over to Piscataway, destroying very thing in its desolating progress. We heard no particulars of the damages, but that, besides a large amount of property, a number of lives are lost. Of the three who were killed, one, we learn was a widow, named V. Orsade, another a young gentleman named Booraem formerly a midshipman in the Navy and the third, a boy, named Bayard.

THE QUEEN CHARLOTTE.

We noticed some months since the wreck of a vessel, (one of the prizes taken by Commodore Perry his memorable action upon this lake) from which had been for several years sunk in our harbor. She had been put in perfect repair, with new, elegant and commodious cabins and new rigging, and is to take in the line of packets lately established between New York and Chicago by Pratt, Taylor & Co., who are partners of her, having purchased the interest of Mr. Lee. Capt Miles still retaining the one half. The Queen Charlotte left this harbor on Monday last for Buffalo preparatory to commencing her services in the line of commerce, in which we hope she may prove of value to her present owners than she was to her former ones in the sphere for which she was originally intended. As she went out of our harbor, (the first time she has floated before the breeze since she was brought here from the action, she made a truly grand and imposing appearance, and, as the beholder ran through in his mind a brief outline of the history, a wondrous fleetness of a humiliating kind.—Eric O'Leary.

THE GREAT SHIP.

The following particulars in relation to the "Great Ship" of the Pennsylvania, now on the stocks at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, have been communicated for publication a sail maker in the U. S. Navy.—Some of the several persons have suggested that the government establish a school for the instruction of apprentices as seamens and if the suggestion should be thought worthy of consideration, might not the Pennsylvania be fitted on the express purpose of aiding in the plan.—

BREACH OF PROMISE.

An action for breach of promise, under some novel circumstances, is appointed for trial on the 6th day of term at the ensuing sitting of the Circuit Court before Judge Edwards. The plaintiff is a merchant in this city, of highly respectable standing and considerable wealth, and in extraordinary business. The defendant is a married lady, residing in the neighborhood of E. son, of great personal attractions—youth, grace, and accomplished. The alleged cause of action arose, we are informed, from a wanton and cruel breach of faith on the part of the lady, the particulars of which are as follows:

In the early part of the present year, the plaintiff, the suit, who was then connected as a partner in a large commercial firm in New Orleans, came to this city to purchase goods, and attend to other business transactions, and in the course of his pursuits he casually met the lady who now, with her husband, is destined to go as the defendant in the law proceeding referred to. They met at the house of a mutual friend, at a party to which both were invited. She was then charming and the introduction led, after several subsequent interviews, to reciprocal declarations of the most tender and fervent attachment. Vows of an import so tender and affectionate had not been long exchanged, before she made proposals of marriage, which were accepted, on condition only, however, that she should leave the south and fix her residence in this part of the continent—she not being disposed to leave the land and healthy climate of the north for any risk to oblige the fair object of his fond regards, and anxious to delay as long as possible the consummation of his earthly bliss.

He completed his arrangements here, had his loved one, and started, full of hope and joy, to settle his affairs at home, preparatory to quitting there, perhaps ever. He was not idle in making the necessary preparations for his return, and in three months after his departure he was again in New York—ready to fulfill an important engagement he had so gladly entered into. In a few short weeks, however, what casualties occurred, what difficulties may intervene, to mar the brilliant prospects—to blast and ruin the most loved and bright anticipations! The female whom he regarded as possessing angelic purity without dissimulation and without guile—in whom his soul's affection was most warmly and all concentrated—had, during his absence, given her hand to another, and so appearing to claim him as his own, had passed the honeymoon.

Such are the circumstances, as related to us, of a trial that is to take place during the next month of the Circuit Court of this city.—It, indeed, it is true.

ROYAL MODE OF CLUBBING.

WALDIE'S LIBRARY, PORT FOLIO AND MUSEUM.

AS the publications now issued from the office of the Select Circulating Library are of a highly popular cast, and of a character to be appreciated by the educated portions of the community, and to circulate every where, by concert with the proprietor of the Museum, Port Folio and Library, are offered to those who take the three on the following conditions, viz:

The Museum, Port Folio and Library, if paid for in advance and addressed to the same individual, whether in town or country, will be supplied for $12, thus enabling every individual to benefit by the clubbing system, without the necessity of applying to others. Those who have made a payment for the current year to either of the works, of whatever amount, will be privileged to avail themselves of this arrangement, by paying the balance—

1. Those who have paid or now pay $5 for the Port Folio, shall receive the Museum and Port Folio, the price of which separate is $9, on the payment of $7.
2. Those who have paid or now pay $6 for the Museum, shall receive the Library and Port Folio, the price of which is separately $8, on the payment of $6.
3. Those who have paid or now pay for the Port Folio, shall receive the Library and Museum on paying such a sum as will be equal to $12 on the whole.
4. The Circulating Library and Museum, will be sent to the same address on the payment of $10.

REMARKS.—The three works thus issued together, comprise a greater amount of the current literature of the age, than is issued in a periodical form from any other office in the United States, and will, the proprietor believes, with the addition of a good newspaper, supply to families all the advantages which could be furnished in a most extensive reading room in one of our Atlantic cities. In the Library the newest and best books are regularly published; in the Museum and Port Folio it has been found by experience that every thing we could wish to copy from the entire British literary periodicals, omitting mostly the political articles, can be rapidly issued. These publications embrace so much that is desirable to be known, and are so generally perused in the best circles in America, that to be without either is to drop a link in the literary chain. They are all under the control of our mind, and therefore the reader will very rarely indeed be compelled to pay for the same matter twice, as they are independent of each other, complete in themselves, and free in general from any repetitions of the same articles.

These views the proprietor respectfully throws out for the consideration of the friends of sound and wholesome literature.

THE WASHINGTON MIRROR.

A weekly newspaper, devoted to Political, Literature, and District Affairs, is published every Saturday at the seat of the General Government.

BY WILLIAM HOOPER.

TWENTY-SIX numbers of this Journal have been already published; and another series is commenced with increased and increasing patronage. The publisher and editor has enlarged the Mirror, from the Medium to the Super Royal size. It is printed on good paper and with new type, and will be delivered at the residence of each subscriber in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, on the day of publication. Price Two Dollars per annum—the first half year invariably in advance. Subscriptions and advertisements are respectfully solicited. Postmasters and others residing out of the District, who will procure five subscribers and remit $5 in advance for half year's subscription, will receive a gratuitous copy of the Washington Mirror. The editor will spare no pains to obtain correct and early information of public occurrences at the seat of the Federal Government and his editorial comments will be as much as possible, free from party or sectional bias. If the Washington Mirror should continue to be liberally patronized, the publisher will continue to make further improvements.

He respectfully announces the following new arrangements:

- 1st. The Washington Mirror will continue on its present size and price without any change or alteration in the ensuing volume.
- 2d. Country subscribers will have their papers regularly mailed on the day of publication.
- 3d. During the session of congress, a weekly article will be prepared and invariably appear under the head of 'Sayings and Doings in Congress.'
- 4th. During the recess the political rumors and on-dits at the seat of the General Government, will be noted for the information of distant subscribers.
- 5th. The names of all the subscribers to the Mirror in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, will be published, once every six months, in an advertising directory, with the profession and residence of each subscriber.
- 6th. For the information of commercial readers, a selection will be made and published every week, from the New York Journal of Commerce also a price current, adapted to the Washington and Georgetown markets and carefully corrected for the Mirror by intelligent mercantile gentlemen. This information will be given under the head 'Commercial.'
- 7th. For the Ladies' and Literary Department of the Mirror, good original, and well selected matter will be constantly provided.

Having already nearly seven hundred subscribers in the city of Washington alone, and a very handsome subscription in Georgetown and Alexandria, the Mirror will, it is presumed, obtain a fair portion of advertising patronage.

Communications, whether containing orders or remittances, must be addressed (postage free) to W. Thompson, editor of the Mirror, Washington City, D. C.

We shall be much obliged to the editors with whom we exchange, if they will aid us in making known these arrangements and the enlargement of the Mirror.
