THE WASHINGTON MIRROR.
A weekly newspaper, devoted to Political, Literature, and District Affairs, is published every Saturday at the seat of the General Government.

BY WILLIAM THOMPSON.
TWENTY-SIX numbers of this Journal have been already published; and another series is commenced with increased and increasing patronage. The publisher and editor has enlarged the Mirror, from the Medium to the Super Royal size. It is printed on good paper and with new type, and will be delivered at the residence of each subscriber in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, on the day of publication.

REMARKS.—The three works thus issued together, comprise a greater amount of the current literature of the age, than is issued in a periodical form from any other office in the United States, and will, the proprietor believes, with the addition of a good newspaper, supply to families all the advantages which could be furnished in a most extensive reading room in one of our Atlantic cities. In the Library the newest and best books are regularly published; in the Museum and Port Folio it has been found by experience that every thing we could wish to copy from the most British literary periodicals, omitting entirely the political articles, can be rapidly issued. These publications embrace so much that is desirable to be known, and are so generally perused in the best circles in America, that to be without either is to drop a link in the literary chain. They are all under the control of one mind, and therefore the reader will very rarely indeed be compelled to pay for the same matter twice, as they are independent of each other, complete in themselves, and free in general from any repetitions of the same articles.
