

The Maryland Gazette.

ANNAPOLIS, THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1835.

NO. 31.

TO THE PRINTERS OF THE UNITED STATES.

J. SPITALL, WOOD LETTER-CUTTER AND ENGRAVER, No. 21, Franklin Place, PHILADELPHIA.

RESPECTFULLY announces to the Printers of the United States, that he has commenced the manufacture of WOOD LETTERS.

Wood Letters of every description, from four to thirty-four lines, &c. or upwards, made to order on the shortest notice. Ornamental Letters, of entirely new and most splendid patterns, for Heads of Newspapers, Title Lines, &c. from two lines to Primer to any size larger.

His type will be made of materials of the best assortment, well seasoned and prepared by machinery, invented for the purpose, which ensures the most exact adjustment. Specimens will be published as early as possible.

Engravings on Wood, Executed with neatness and promptitude. Heads for Newspapers, Fac-similes, Ornamental and Plain Rules, &c. &c. cut with the greatest accuracy in type metal or wood. Old cast metal cuts, ornaments, &c. engraved over, and made equal to new for their original cost.

A liberal discount for cash. Six months credit on the most approved security. Orders from the country promptly attended to. All letters must be post paid.

Editors of papers in the country who will give the above advertisement a few insertions, and forward a paper containing the same to the advertiser, will be paid therein in any of the above mentioned materials.

APRIL 30.

MARYLAND COLONIZATION JOURNAL.

PROSPECTUS.—The Board of Managers of the State Colonization Society and the Board of Managers of the State Fund have resolved to publish a quarterly journal for the purpose of diffusing information concerning the principles and progress of the Maryland plan of Colonization. The Journal will also contain occasional notices of the operations of the friends of Colonization in other parts of the Union. It will be published at least once a quarter, and sometimes oftener. Persons wishing to receive it regularly as published, may become subscribers by paying fifty cents per annum in advance for the support of the paper and the expenses of its publication. The friends of Colonization throughout the state will confer great favour by transmitting for the Journal any intelligence which may promote the cause it advocates.

All communications are to be directed to the Maryland Colonization Journal, Office of the Maryland State Colonization Society, Baltimore.

FOR CHESTERTOWN AND CENTREVILLE.

The Steam Boat MARYLAND, will leave Baltimore, on every Monday morning, at 10 o'clock, for Centreville and Chestertown, starting from the lower end of Dugan's wharf, and return the same day. She will continue this arrangement for the season. N. B.—All baggage at the owner's risk.

LEML G. TAYLOR.

Ann-arundel County, St.

Application to the subscriber, one of the Judges of the orphans court of Anne Arundel county, and state of Maryland, in petition in writing of Edward Brookes, of Anne Arundel county, stating that he is not in actual confinement, and praying for the benefit of the act of the General Assembly of Maryland, entitled, An act for the relief of sundry insolvent debtors, passed at the December session 1835, and the several supplements thereto, on the terms therein mentioned; a schedule of his property, and a list of his creditors, on oath so far as he can ascertain the same, being annexed to his petition, and the said Edward Brookes having satisfied me by competent testimony that he has resided two years within the state of Maryland immediately preceding the time of his application, and the said Edward Brookes having taken the oath by the said act prescribed for the delivering up his property, as given sufficient security for his personal appearance at the County Court of Anne Arundel county, to answer such interrogatories and allegations as may be made against him, and having appointed a trustee, who has given bond as such, and received from said Edward Brookes a conveyance and possession of all his property, real, personal and mixed, I do hereby order and adjudge, that the said Edward Brookes be discharged from imprisonment, and that he give notice to his creditors by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Anne Arundel county, once a week for three months before the 4th Monday in October next, to give notice to the said County Court, at the Court House of said county, at ten o'clock of the forenoon of that day, for the purpose of recommending a trustee for their benefit, and to shew cause, if any they have, why the said Edward Brookes should not have the benefit of the said act and supplements, as provided therein.

GIDEON WHITE.

PRINTING Neatly executed at this OFFICE.

LITTLE'S MUSEUM OF FOREIGN LITERATURE, SCIENCE AND ART.

PRICE.—Six Dollars a year, in advance.—seven dollars and a half, if not in advance.

POSTAGE.—Five sheets, under 100 miles 75 cents over 100 miles, 1 1/2 cents.

This work will be sent to any Post Office in the United States, carefully wrapped up, upon receipt of five dollars in part payment. A few complete sets are for sale.

ENLARGED SERIES OF THE MUSEUM.

MR LITTLE has much pleasure in announcing to the patrons of the Museum, that he has made arrangements for the future publication of the work in a style much superior to the present—and nearly approaching what he has always desired that it should appear in. The circulation of the work is now so large, as to make it important to the proprietor that he should be able to give his whole attention to this. This has hitherto been prevented by the care and labour attendant upon a multifarious and widely extended business. With the view of completing more quickly the publication of Lodge's Portraits and Members of Illustrious and Noble Characters, (a splendid work now in hand)—of effecting a settlement of accounts extending over the world of the United States—and of making arrangements in all parts of the country for the vigorous prosecution of the publication of the Museum, he has made a contract with Mr. Adam Waldie of this city to print the work, attend to its distribution, and manage all the financial concerns appertaining to it after the present year.

MR. WALDIE is a practical printer, not surpassed in taste by any other in the country; and as he is advantageously and generally known as the publisher of the Select Circulating Library, it is supposed that he will have the power greatly to promote the sale of the Museum. He is contracted to send it promptly, and this will be corrected to the greatest fault which has heretofore attended its management. The charges in the execution of the work will be as follows:

1. It will be uniform and promptly published.
2. Will be uniformly and handsomely printed.
3. On better paper.
4. Will be considerably enlarged.

As the sale of the work has increased, Mr. Little has always been desirous of devoting the enlarged profits to its improvement—and although he does not wish the appearance of the next volume to be considered as entirely carrying out his plan, he trusts that the same will be continuing, upon comparing it with any other work, that it is richly worth the price asked for it.

We shall not have satisfied our own wish, in respect to this work, until it shall be far enlarged—and improved as to make it clear to every purchaser that he will herein receive all that is desirable to an American reader from all the Foreign Periodicals. That we can do so in a single work, by making it contain four or five times as much matter as an ordinary periodical, we have no doubt.—A great part of most of the Reviews and Magazines is composed of inferior articles, and we confidently appeal to those readers of the Museum who have been in the habit of looking over the British Journals, whether we have not already, in a very great degree, succeeded in copying all that was worth preservation.

As the work will now be considerably enlarged, we shall be able more fully to accomplish this object.

In order that he may, by frequent journeys from home, be the earlier able to finish all our business, and devote himself exclusively to the Museum, Mr. Little has made arrangements with the Editor of Waldie's Library to edit this work after December, 1834. However deficient the proprietor may be in other qualifications, he has always felt so zealous an affection for the Museum that he would not be willing to commit it, even for a moment, to the care of another, were he not confident that the facilities, the experience, and the ability of the new Editor, will render it more worthy of the patronage of the public than it has heretofore been. No change takes place in the Proprietorship.

Philadelphia, April 9.

LITTLE'S MUSEUM OF FOREIGN LITERATURE, SCIENCE AND ART.

PRICE.—Six Dollars a year, in advance.—seven dollars and a half, if not in advance.

POSTAGE.—Five sheets, under 100 miles 75 cents over 100 miles, 1 1/2 cents.

This work will be sent to any Post Office in the United States, carefully wrapped up, upon receipt of five dollars in part payment. A few complete sets are for sale.

ENLARGED SERIES OF THE MUSEUM.

MR LITTLE has much pleasure in announcing to the patrons of the Museum, that he has made arrangements for the future publication of the work in a style much superior to the present—and nearly approaching what he has always desired that it should appear in. The circulation of the work is now so large, as to make it important to the proprietor that he should be able to give his whole attention to this. This has hitherto been prevented by the care and labour attendant upon a multifarious and widely extended business. With the view of completing more quickly the publication of Lodge's Portraits and Members of Illustrious and Noble Characters, (a splendid work now in hand)—of effecting a settlement of accounts extending over the world of the United States—and of making arrangements in all parts of the country for the vigorous prosecution of the publication of the Museum, he has made a contract with Mr. Adam Waldie of this city to print the work, attend to its distribution, and manage all the financial concerns appertaining to it after the present year.

MR. WALDIE is a practical printer, not surpassed in taste by any other in the country; and as he is advantageously and generally known as the publisher of the Select Circulating Library, it is supposed that he will have the power greatly to promote the sale of the Museum. He is contracted to send it promptly, and this will be corrected to the greatest fault which has heretofore attended its management. The charges in the execution of the work will be as follows:

1. It will be uniform and promptly published.
2. Will be uniformly and handsomely printed.
3. On better paper.
4. Will be considerably enlarged.

As the sale of the work has increased, Mr. Little has always been desirous of devoting the enlarged profits to its improvement—and although he does not wish the appearance of the next volume to be considered as entirely carrying out his plan, he trusts that the same will be continuing, upon comparing it with any other work, that it is richly worth the price asked for it.

We shall not have satisfied our own wish, in respect to this work, until it shall be far enlarged—and improved as to make it clear to every purchaser that he will herein receive all that is desirable to an American reader from all the Foreign Periodicals. That we can do so in a single work, by making it contain four or five times as much matter as an ordinary periodical, we have no doubt.—A great part of most of the Reviews and Magazines is composed of inferior articles, and we confidently appeal to those readers of the Museum who have been in the habit of looking over the British Journals, whether we have not already, in a very great degree, succeeded in copying all that was worth preservation.

As the work will now be considerably enlarged, we shall be able more fully to accomplish this object.

In order that he may, by frequent journeys from home, be the earlier able to finish all our business, and devote himself exclusively to the Museum, Mr. Little has made arrangements with the Editor of Waldie's Library to edit this work after December, 1834. However deficient the proprietor may be in other qualifications, he has always felt so zealous an affection for the Museum that he would not be willing to commit it, even for a moment, to the care of another, were he not confident that the facilities, the experience, and the ability of the new Editor, will render it more worthy of the patronage of the public than it has heretofore been. No change takes place in the Proprietorship.

Philadelphia, April 9.

IN CHANCERY, Charles Davall, July 9th, 1835.

Nathan Waters, Nathan J. Waters, Margaret Ratcliff, John Waters Ratcliff and Mary Ann Ratcliff.

THE object of the bill filed in this cause is to obtain a decree to set aside and declare void the deeds hereinafter mentioned, and to compel the defendants to deliver up to the complainant the possession of the lands purchased by him, and for an account of the rents, issues and profits thereof.

The bill states, that on the 30th day of December, 1829, the complainant attended a sale of certain lands and tenements, the property and estate of a certain Nathan Waters of Prince George's county, which sale had been advertised by the sheriff of said county, and at which sale the complainant became the purchaser of said lands and tenements, for the sum of thirteen hundred and fifty dollars. That said sale was made of the lands and tenements of said county, which sale had been advertised by the sheriff of said county, and at which sale the complainant became the purchaser of said lands and tenements, for the sum of thirteen hundred and fifty dollars.

That the complainant attended a sale of certain lands and tenements, the property and estate of a certain Nathan Waters of Prince George's county, which sale had been advertised by the sheriff of said county, and at which sale the complainant became the purchaser of said lands and tenements, for the sum of thirteen hundred and fifty dollars.

That the complainant attended a sale of certain lands and tenements, the property and estate of a certain Nathan Waters of Prince George's county, which sale had been advertised by the sheriff of said county, and at which sale the complainant became the purchaser of said lands and tenements, for the sum of thirteen hundred and fifty dollars.

That the complainant attended a sale of certain lands and tenements, the property and estate of a certain Nathan Waters of Prince George's county, which sale had been advertised by the sheriff of said county, and at which sale the complainant became the purchaser of said lands and tenements, for the sum of thirteen hundred and fifty dollars.

That the complainant attended a sale of certain lands and tenements, the property and estate of a certain Nathan Waters of Prince George's county, which sale had been advertised by the sheriff of said county, and at which sale the complainant became the purchaser of said lands and tenements, for the sum of thirteen hundred and fifty dollars.

That the complainant attended a sale of certain lands and tenements, the property and estate of a certain Nathan Waters of Prince George's county, which sale had been advertised by the sheriff of said county, and at which sale the complainant became the purchaser of said lands and tenements, for the sum of thirteen hundred and fifty dollars.

POETRY.

SONG.—By T. C. Claesza.

You may talk about songs while the kettle is singing— But your streamlets and naiads I vote them a bore. Old Molly the sugar and lemon is bringing.

On a hill is my home; and with feelings romantic, I view the cruiser, full of stuff to my mind; For on this side or that of the glorious Atlantic, Spring water is sure on its way to be found.

Oh! 'tis all very well in the exultation of summer To wander and ponder beside a bright stream, And to quaff some new milk with a small drop of rum, or Perhaps to take tea that is "mothered in cream." But when winter comes on—like an engine hydraulic, The magic of whiskey can raise up a spring; And when mingling ingredients that banish the cholic, Believe me, dear Fann, that "the meeting" to sing.

MISCELLANEOUS.

My Love.—By the author of "The Soldier's Farewell."

My Love.—By the author of "The Soldier's Farewell."

"That liberty I'll take first" was the cool reply, as a pistol flashed, and a bullet whistled past my father.

Cesar was no sluggard. Properly the fire was returned, and forcing his horse forward with the spur, in a second he was sword-in-hand alongside his assailant, ready to cut him down.

"Hold!" cried a voice, with a groan. "Your sword is needless, friend. The pistol did its duty. That shot 'rode my arm, and I surrender. But, good God! where have you been? What Caesar Blake?"

"The same—Connolly! Is it possible?" and the riders mutually recognized each other.

"What a cursed chance!" exclaimed the wounded horseman. "Who could have expected that you should at this late hour be wandering among the mountains. That scarlet cloak deceived me, and I took you for a patrol."

"And what brings you here, Connolly? No treason, I trust?"

"Why, my dear Caesar, the truth may fairly out. I am sped for many a long day; and as the French say, hors de combat. Humbert is advancing on Castellar, and I was despatched from headquarters to visit you, and raise the cavalry people."

"Av—yes. No folly with friends, I know your heart is with us, and I have a splendid offer from the General. Why man, you shall be a second" to himself!

"Connolly, is this a time for fooling?" said the major.

"Fooling!" replied the disabled rider. "Heaven knows that I am in a sorry humour for that to-night. Why, my arms are shattered and lie as useless by my side as the scabbard of your sabre. No, faith, I know you are with us; for Donavan apprised General Hutchinson, that you were to hold a principal command. This you may depend on, for it comes through a secret agent, that acquaints us with all the that drunken hogs are twaddling about, and the channel is sure."

"Connolly, you are sadly misinformed. I am this moment on my way to join the king's troops, and old George has not a more devoted follower."

"Humph! After all he used you scurvily enough if that blanket and chimney business be as it was generally represented," said the stranger with a sneer.

"No matter, I swore allegiance to old squatters. That oath with me is sacred. Not but that I wish the good old gentleman had better military connexions."

"You would not, however, betray me, Blake?"

"No more than sell my soul to the foul fiend." "I thought so," said the stranger.

"I am," replied the soldier, a loyal subject, but no spy to divulge the secret which a feather-headed friend communicated, with out taking the trouble of asking whether I was with or against him."

"Al! Caesar, I am completely bothered."

"Be advised, my dear fellow, by me," returned the soldier, "hasten to the lodge. Say you have been riding in the dark; that your horse came down, and your arm was broken, and you want it attended to. Remain quietly until the storm passes over, and you will not only save your limb, but most probably your neck into the bargain."

The wounded man was silent for a minute.

"You are right, friend Caesar. I am useless now, and would only be an encumbrance. There are old women enough on both sides without me, and I should be an ass to stretch a rope, without the sorry satisfaction of striking a blow or two before I grace the gibbets. But time presses you and me. Ride—go before twelve hours, the French will enter Castellar."

"Nonsense!" replied the soldier.

"Nay, honest Caesar, it is true. And now God speed you! I shall follow your advice, and avail myself of your kindness. A time may come but no matter."

"Shall be interrupted?" asked the royalist.

"Lafly enough," replied the wounded horseman. "If you are stopped, inquire if the moon is near the fall. But ask the question in French. I must be off, for I can hardly keep the saddle. Confound you Caesar! how close you shoot, where none beside yours! If and the owl can know a man from a haystack. And yet I levelled at you pretty correctly."

"To close to be agreeable," replied the royalist; "I heard the whistle of the bullet."

"Well, that same is a comfort," said the wounded traveller. "There is a friendly but not very distant, where I shall get my arm bandaged. And now, God speed thee! worthy descendant of a lucky Roman. Farewell!" And turning his horse, the unfortunate cavalier rode off in an opposite direction to that taken by his opponent.

The plot throughout is extremely well managed, and the great personal resemblance between the two cousins, often brings the amiable son of Caesar into scrapes like the following: We drove over Westminster Bridge, passed the Elephant and Castle, whisked through Canterbury-green, and reached the Grayhound exactly seven minutes within four, by the clock at the Horse Guards.

Connell O'Donnell's groom was waiting to show us the ground, as he said that the gentlemen had slipped into the fields to avoid observation. I cursed the colonial's caution, while Jack was in raptures with his prudence. He, Jack had often heard of him—a steady, straightforward friend; no humbug—he thought he would have seen him; if so, he was tried