THE SACRED CLASSICS, OR, CABINET LIBRARY OF DIVINITY.

With an original introductory Essay to each Author.

THE REV. HENRY STEBBING, M. A. No other country is so rich in English Sacred Literature. Her greatest Poets and Philosophers have shared with her Divines, in setting forth and establishing truths of Revelation while her Divines have distinguished alike by the copiousness and the depth of their learning.

It is intended to comprise in this collection the best works of all the most celebrated writers, whose labours have been devoted to the elucidation and practical enforcement of principles of revealed truth, whether in application to the immortal interests of individuals, or to the order and well-being of society.

To the productions of each author, or to each separate production, as the case may seem to require, will be prefixed an Introductory Essay, pointing out their characteristic excellencies; and, in some instances, comprehending a biographical sketch of the Author, with remarks on the state of religion in his times.

It is the desire of the Proprietors, in taking THE CABINET LIBRARY OF DIVINITY to present the collection to the public at such a price, that he who purchases at present the cheapest of ephemeral publications, may, for the same money, possess himself of works which cannot fail to afford him guidance and support in the highest exercises of his time, and under every vicissitude of life.

NOVEL MODE OF CLUBBING. WALDIE'S LIBRARY, PORT FOLIO AND MUSEUM.

As the publications now issued from the office of the Select Circulating Library are of a highly popular cast, and of a character to be appreciated by the educated portions of the community, and to circulate every where, by concert with the proprietor of the Museum, that work, the Port Folio and Library, are offered to those who take the three on the following conditions, viz.

The Museum, Port Folio and Library, if paid for in advance and addressed to the same individual whether in town or country, will be supplied for $12, thus enabling every individual to benefit by the clubbing system, without the necessity of applying to others. Those who have made a payment for the current year to either of the works, of whatever amount, will be privileged to avail themselves of this arrangement, by paying the balance—thus

- 1. Those who have paid or now pay $5 for the Library, shall receive the Museum and Port Folio, the price of which separate is $9, on the payment of $7. 2. Those who have paid or now pay $6 for the Museum, shall receive the Library and Port Folio, the price of which is separately $8, on the payment of $6. 3. Those who have paid or now pay for the Port Folio, shall receive the Library and Museum on paying such a sum as will be equal to $12 on the whole. 4. The Circulating Library and Museum, will be sent to the same address on the payment of $10.

REMARKS.—The three works thus issued together, comprise a greater amount of the current literature of the age, than is issued in a periodical form from any other office in the United States, and will, the proprietor believes, with the addition of a good newspaper, supply to families all the advantages which could be furnished in a most extensive reading room in one of our Atlantic cities. In the Library the newest and best books are regularly published; in the Museum and Port Folio it has been found by experience that every thing we could wish to copy from the entire British literary periodicals, omitting mostly the political articles, can be rapidly issued. These publications embrace so much that is desirable to be known, and are so generally perused in the best circles in America, that to be without either is to drop a link in the literary chain. They are all under the control of one mind, and therefore the reader will very rarely indeed be compelled to pay for the same matter twice, as they are independent of each other, complete in themselves, and free in general from any repetitions of the same articles.

These views the proprietor respectfully throws out for the consideration of the friends of sound and wholesome literature.

MARYLAND COLONIZATION JOURNAL.

PROSPECTUS.—The Board of Managers of the State Colonization Society and the Board of Managers of the State have resolved to publish a quarterly journal for the purpose of diffusing information concerning the principles and progress of Maryland plan of Colonization. The journal will also contain occasional notices of the operations of the friends of Colonization in other parts of the Union. It will be published at least once a quarter, and some of the papers published, may become subscriptions by paying fifty cents per annum in advance for the support of the paper. Donations for the support of the paper will be thankfully received. The friends of Colonization throughout the state will be greatly favoured by transmitting for the journal, any intelligence which may promote its advantages.

All communications are to be directed to the Maryland Colonization Journal, Baltimore. The Editor proposes to adapt his paper to the wants of those by whom he is immediately surrounded, and among whom he must naturally find a majority of his patrons: he knows how to be intelligent and inquiring. The literary department, shall, therefore, be as usual, and the most approved of classic and foreign periodicals resorted to for select letters notices. He knows them to be patriotic, and that they feel a deep interest in the welfare of our common country. To publish this sentiment to the extent of his ability, his columns shall afford whatever intelligence of a political character may be calculated to interest them. No man, with the faculty of thought, is at this crisis neutral in reference to the party distinctions now prevailing in this country, and the Editor does not wish to disguise his political sentiments—they are in opposition to the measures of the present Administration. But having neither the temper nor the motive of a partisan, his comments upon party movements shall be characterized by fairness of argument, not violence or abuse, and as it never has been his practice, so shall never become his habit to deal in personal invective or party virulence. He will cheerfully lend the aid of his columns to communications from all parties—reserving to himself the privilege of rejecting such as are objectionable for personal allusion or indecorous language. In addition to the advantages of appropriate political and literary selections, he wishes also to tempt into exercise whatever of native talent may surround him, and with such able may not presumptuously hope to render his paper useful and interesting. He asks the patronage of his friends longer than his efforts merit and repay it, as he wishes not to see that favour to personal feeling, which would be denied to his editorial labours.

The BULLETIN will be published on Thursdays in each week. Terms of subscription $3 per annum.

PROSPECTUS.

THE BULLETIN. It is undertaken to supply this acknowledged desideratum to the populous and intelligent district in which the subscriber has his place to reside, his hope of ultimate success is not its origin in sanguineness of expectation, but proceeds from the eminent advantages of its location. Published in the metropolis of a large and wealthy country, surrounded by the State and National capitals, facilities of an early communication of whatever may interest its patrons, particularly afforded to the Editor; and though he may not hope to present to his friends much foreign information through the medium of his columns, not derivable from other journals, it is still certain that intelligence of a local nature, interesting to all, and important to many, and otherwise unattainable, will by this means be communicated. It will also offer to those whose means are inadequate to the expense of the larger journals, at least a synoptical view of all the important information they contain; and he trusts that those of literary taste may sometimes find in its columns, articles not unworthy of the employment of their leisure. As the object of every publication which is to find success in popular patronage can be extended before public patronage can be expected, the Editor would here mark the outline of his design, with the full knowledge that he will constitute an ordeal, by which, to determine both its merit and the fidelity of its execution.

The Editor proposes to adapt his paper to the wants of those by whom he is immediately surrounded, and among whom he must naturally find a majority of his patrons: he knows how to be intelligent and inquiring. The literary department, shall, therefore, be as usual, and the most approved of classic and foreign periodicals resorted to for select letters notices.
