NORFOLK, Aug. 27.
At a large and respectable meeting of the citizens of Norfolk, held at the Court House on the evening of the 18th inst. to take into consideration the respective Free Persons of Colour, Alexander W. Leq. was called to the Chair, and James C. C. was appointed Secretary.

The object of the meeting was explained by the Officers, who submitted the following Resolutions and motions, which were unanimously adopted.

The United States exhibit, at this time, the most ordinary spectacle ever witnessed by man. While state of profound repose—while faithfully and loyally performing every duty resulting from their political relations—while anxiously and benevolently engaged in those various pursuits, on which their existence depends, and which constitute the basis of their wealth and prosperity, respecting the rights carefully abstaining from all officious interferences the domestic concerns and institutions of their neighbours, the Foe of the Southern States of this country, proverbial for their love of order, veneration for the laws of the land—distinguished for their devotion to their country, and the sacrifices of blood treasure they have at every period of their history cheerfully made, to sustain the honor, and the interest of the Republic—these People, who these strong claims upon the respect, esteem, and of the wise and good are, all at once, with the slightest provocation, real or imaginary, array the bar of Public Opinion, by a desperate and of atrocious Fanatics, whose fanatical and a notorious machinations against their peace purses, threaten, unless speedily counteracted, ceaselessly frustrated by their vigilance and rebels and Pirates—very term of obloquy and the most offensive and insulting—very epithets most foul and degrading, is lavished upon us. Our stations are vilified, calumnied, and held up to contumacious, and abhorrence of mankind. right to our property, guaranteed to us by our Constitution and laws—property held by our fathers and purchased with the accumulated blood, sweat and industry of ages, is wantonly assailed by a band—and our slaves by the most awful dumstomy appears, by every consideration away the mind or operate on the heart of man, and instigated to assert their freedom, and to our country with blood. All these things, that not be forgotten are publicly done by the Agents, in the face of Sister-Communities, professing only the liveliest solicitude and the deepest our happiness and well-being, but the very feelings of fraternal regard. Sister-Communities are bound to us by a thousand ties of common and a common language—by the glorious of a common ancestry, whose mingled blood battle-field from Maine to Georgia, purchased our liberties—the most invaluable heritage ever mitted by father to son.

The people of the Southern States will never to discuss either with the Incendiaries, the non-holding States, the Government of the United on any other foreign power, the validity of their their slaves. To debate a question, preposi-doubt of its truth; and we shall never—no any time, or under any circumstances admit this subject there exists even the shade of a doubt. When asked by what right we retain of our population in bondage, we shall, like of Scotland, on a similar occasion, point to our own. We shall never render any other their habitations, and the devastation of the fire and sword, but they never will tamely they never will consent, in an instant, and to reduce themselves, their wives and their dren, from comfort, and affluence, to bankruptcy, grief and wretchedness.

Warned of the projects of our enemies, who anxious to uproot the very foundations of our der, and to leave us at the mercy of an increas-brotalized slave population, our danger is peril which environs the midnight sleeper, is soon as he is aroused, and applied of the of the adder, and you disarm it of its power. Now that our eyes are open, whether of the North be sincere or not, in their assurances of not countenancing the infernal of the Fanatics, we are safe; for we possess power of the one to visit us, as much as we physical power of the other.

The evils we have to ward are plain and able, and the remedies are obvious, and completely under our control. We have to the circulation throughout the South, of the condemnation pamphlets and journals of the Slavery Society. The doctrines advocated this self-constituted body, are barbapropagated among our slaves; and they can be propagated through the Post Office, or hired emissaries. Should the Post Office its aid, in any part of the South, the placement of this infernal purpose, the to it themselves, and to those who be dearer than life, to seize and search the to prevent any suspicious person from employed in such office. When the awhole nation is endangered, and the law not, or cannot provide for their security, de-separate remedies must be resorted to and adopted.

The Post Office can always be put under the supervision of men, in whom the commuhas confidence. From this source, then, nothing is to be apprehended. The Abolitionists must then endeavour to effect their objects, by the agency of emissaries.

Two classes of men alone, can be employed for this purpose. White persons and free coloured persons. The former cannot reasonably expect to elude the vigilance of the community.
We cannot believe that any of our own citizens will ever be induced to engage in so parricidal enterprise—the agents must be strangers in our land—and the circumstances that a white man with whom the people in the neighbourhood are utterly unacquainted is seen in frequent communication by day or night—in free association with slaves and free negroes, will of itself excite suspicion and lead to his detection, and his detection will inevitably be attended with speedy and exemplary punishment. There are few, we will imagine, who will consent to engage in so hazardous a service. In general the White Slavery Societies will be compelled to enlist under their banner the free people of colour.
These persons will be the more dangerous because they can mingle more freely and without distrust among our slaves—because of the influence they will obtain by their education, the knowledge they have accumulated—and their understanding right to move from county to county, and to city. Against them therefore we must make the bill of the law—and call on the constituted authorities to enforce rigidly its provisions.

By a law of 1805, it was enacted that if a slave thereafter emancipated should remain within the commonwealth, more than twelve months after his or her right to freedom was discovered, he or she should forfeit all such rights. An exception was, however, made in favour of those slaves, who were allowed a period of twelve months, after attaining the age of twenty years. A large portion of the free colored people in this State is believed to be employed within the operation of this law. The legislature clearly foresaw, that among other benefits which would result from the permanent settlement of this class of persons among us, their enjoyment of rights and privileges which slaves must necessarily be deprived of, would cause dissatisfaction among the latter and render them more discontented with their condition; it was also clearly foreseen, that from intermingling freely with slaves, without awar-ing suspicion, they might essentially aid in going into effect the bloody designs of incendiaries. The time has now arrived when our legislature demands the strict enforcement of the strict provisions of this act. If it should be neglected, by any, that the measure is harsh, we are only to advert, in our justification, first to having accepted their freedom on the condition of removing from the State; on no terms could it have been granted; and secondly, that we have hitherto extended an indignity to them, indicative of our strong sympathy in their behalf—and of our disposition to assist, as far as was practicable, their comfort and happiness. And if now we are compelled to take a different course, the blame should be cast on those, on whom alone it deserves to fall, the blood-thirsty hypocrites of the Anti-Slavery rank.

Resolved, Therefore, in conformity with these views, that a committee of four persons be appointed in each of the wards of the Borough, whose duty it shall be to furnish to the Attorney General, and of the Circuit Court of the County of the said Borough, all the information they can procure, respecting the number names of the free persons of colour, and of those going at large, within the limits of their respective wards—that the said free persons and holders of said slaves may be prosecuted as the law directs.

Resolved, That the citizens of the Borough constantly on this occasion, do hereby instruct their delegates to the next General Assembly, to use the utmost exertions to procure the adoption of able Resolutions by that body, respectfully calling on the Legislatures of the non-slaveholding States, to provide by law for the punishment, by adequate penalties, of such of their citizens, respectively, as are guilty of publishing incendiary writings and doctrines, tending to incite insurrection among the slaves of the South; and frankly apprising the said States, that they should fail to meet the just expectations of the Southern people, in this respect, we shall, according to the universally recognized principle of national law, view them as sanctioning and consequently responsible for, the nefarious conduct of their said citizens, and in defence of which is sacred and dear to the heart of man, we shall not hesitate to hold them as we hold the rest of the world, as friends in peace, and enemies in war.

In motion of Mr. T. Allen, it was Resolved, That we recommend to the good people of Virginia, to foster the trade, commerce and prosperity of the towns of the commonwealth, and to encourage the increase of our white population, in order that we may sustain ourselves, if need be, by our own resources and our own arms.

And then, on motion, the Meeting adjourned.

BEAUTIFUL CURIOSITY.
There has been left in our office, for the inspection of the curious, a small enamel miniature of the most exquisite finish, which was painted up with a hood by a negro slave, on the of Mr. Villard, Westmoreland, Co., Virginia. Our high curiosity was raised when we were confidently assured by the owner that good pieces had pronounced it an undoubted original

THE CULTIVATOR
A monthly publication of 16 quarto pages, and comprises about 200 pages in a volume, published at Albany, by the New York State Agricultural Society. It is exclusively devoted to Agriculture and the Improvement of Youth. The publishing committee are J. Buel, J. P. Beckman, and J. D. Wasson. The object of the publication is to disseminate useful information, among the agricultural community, in the cheapest practicable form; and the success of the undertaking, and the character of the paper, are indicated by the fact, that although it has been published but ten months, its subscribers exceed eleven thousand, and comprise residents of twenty-one of the United States.

The second volume was commenced in March. The pages are so enlarged, that each number contains as much matter as eighteen pages of the first volume. It contains many engravings and cuts, executed by good artists, illustrative of implements, animals and operations of husbandry. Price FIFTY CENTS per annum. The postage will not exceed 15 cents the year to any part of the Union.

The first volume will continue to be furnished at 50 cents a single copy.

MR. AND MRS. HAMILTON'S Reading School for Young Ladies, Corner of Saratoga and Courtland Streets, BALTIMORE.
Will be re-opened on the first day of September next.

MR. AND MRS. H. have provided their Seminary with every apparatus necessary to illustrate their instruction. Their Philosophical Apparatus is equal to any that can be found in private seminaries in this country, and their Chemical is sufficiently extensive to illustrate any subject treated upon in the text books of the school. Their Cabinet of Minerals, though small, contains upwards of 700 specimens. Their Seminary is also furnished with an Armillary Sphere, Cary's, Wilson's, and Gardner's Globes, several Pianos and a Harp; the instruments they possess are the best they could procure in this country, or in England.

The Library contains upwards of 2000 volumes, connected with the studies pursued in the school, to which the young ladies have access.

In all the departments the most competent teachers are engaged, whose instructions are given under the immediate eye of the principals.

The course of instruction is carried on in a regular system of academic studies, embracing all the scientific and ornamental branches.

Parents and Guardians who wish more particular information can obtain a prospectus of the Seminary, by sending, (post paid), to the Principals.

to the highest bidder, on FRIDAY the 4th day of September next, if fair, if not, on the next fair day thereafter at the hour of twelve o'clock, all the real estate of which the said Thomas Snowden jr. was seized and possessed at the time of the execution of said deed of trust; lying and being in Anne Arundel and Prince George's Counties, consisting of those tracts or parcels of land called Rutland's Purchase, Woodland Hill and Sap-pington's Sweep, and containing 1100 ACRES,
More or less. There is a first rate new Brick Dwelling House upon the premises, and al-necessary and convenient out houses. The estate is in all respects highly valuable and desirable, being well adapted to both farming and planting purposes. There is a considerable quantity of first rate meadow land belonging to the estate. The purchaser will not be entitled to the grain crop now growing on the ground; to secure and remove which, free ingress and egress to the persons entitled to the same will be reserved.

TERMS OF SALE: The purchaser will be required to pay $3000 within thirty days from the day of sale, and on making such payment he shall be entitled to the possession of the property. The residue of the purchase money to be paid in three equal annual instalments. The purchaser will be required to give bonds with satisfactory security to the Trustees, for payment of the several instalments with interest thereon from the day of sale.
On the payment of the whole purchase money, with interest, the Trustees will execute a conveyance to the purchaser.

The sale will be certainly effected without fall to the highest bidder, on compliance with the terms.

The difficulties in regard to the title which were suggested at the time the property was offered for sale on the 15th instant, have been removed, and the Trustees believe they will be able to convey a clear and indisputable title.
