of all civilized nations will support and extinguish this traffic. I perceive, with entire approbation, that you have directed your attention to the regulation of municipal corporations in England, and Wales, which you have passed for my name to the Bill which you have passed for this purpose. I cordially concur in this important measure, which is calculated to allay discontent, to promote peace and union, and to procure for those communities the advantages of responsible government. I greatly rejoice that the internal condition of Ireland has been such as to have permitted you to substitute for the necessary severity of a law which has been suffered to expire, enactment of a milder character. No part of my duty is more grateful to my feelings than the mitigation of a penal statute in any case in which it can be effected consistently with the maintenance of order and tranquility. Gentlemen of the House of Commons: I thank you for the readiness with which you have voted the supplies. You have provided not only for the expense of the year, and for the interest upon the large sum awarded to the owners of slaves in the colonial possession, but also for several unperpected and peculiar claims upon the justice and liberality of the nation. It is most gratifying to observe that not only have these demands been met without additional taxation, but that you have made some further progress in relieving the burthens of my people. I am enabled to congratulate you, that the services on which the loan for the compensation to the proprietors of slaves has been obtained, afford considerable evidence of the flourishing state of public credit, and that general confidence which is the result of a determination to fulfil the national engagements, a transaction invaluable to the public faith. My Lords and Gentlemen: I know that I may securely rely upon your love and patriotism, and I feel confident that in returning your respective counsels, and in retaining those functions which you discharge with so much advantage to the community, you will recommend to all citizens of your countrymen obedience to the law, attachment to the constitution, and a spirit of temperate assiduity, which, under Divine Providence, are the sure means of preserving the tranquility and increasing the prosperity which this country now enjoys. The length of the paved streets in England and Wales is 20,000 miles; that of the roads which are paved is 100,000 miles. The extent of the turnpike roads is about 30,000 miles. The dean and chapter of Durham have deposited church property to the amount of £43,513 15s. 6d. appropriated to the establishment of the university of Durham. The Dublin Pilot contains the particulars of the "O'Connell fund" for the year 1851; the total amount which is £13,154. The tribute money raised during the last five years is £280,000—no bad day for a nation. Mr. O'Connell has written a published a long and business letter to the duke of Wellington, and presented another to Sir Robert Peel. FRANCE. The bill to restrict the freedom of the Press, passed the Chamber of Peers on the 8th Sept. by a majority of 101 to 29. Orders have been sent to all parts of France not to carry into effect the restrictions of the law, required by the votes of the Chamber of Peers, and all farouls have been withdrawn. The measures assigned for this proceeding are in that the result of the deliberations of the northern powers at Koln is quite uncertain, and that it is necessary to be prepared for an aggressive policy; the other, that the present state of Spain renders it imprudent to demand the neutrality of France. CHAMBER OF PEERS—Sitting of Sept. 5. The order of the day was the general discussion of the restrictive project of the law on the press. The Marquis de Dreux Breze read a long speech against the adoption of the project, in which he severely animadverted on the system pursued by the ministry. In the course of his observations, in alluding to the anniversary of the revolution of July, he called it the anniversary of anarchy, an expression that drew forth a series of indignation from the ministers' bench, and of that parts of the chamber, and caused the president to rise, who said, "I am obliged to ask for an explanation of the expression, that you have just made use of, to appear to affirm that for the last five years anarchy has reigned in France." The Marquis de Dreux Breze—I am far from pretending that we have been in a state of anarchy during the last five years; on the contrary, I acknowledge that we have made and are still making, considerable progress every day; but still I say, that the anniversary of the revolution is the anniversary of anarchy, for that various parts of the chamber. The Minister of Public Instruction—The revolution of July was effected for the maintenance of order. The Marquis de Dreux Breze—I have given you the explanation that my conscience dictated to me. The Minister of Public Instruction—But your explanation does not satisfy us. The Marquis de Dreux Breze—But it's not being satisfactory to you is not a reason that I should seek for another which would not be avowed by my conscience. Count Falkland—Assembled we have all here the right to express our opinions, but an opinion may be expressed in a somewhat less affirmative manner toward the most glorious revolution that France has ever witnessed. The Marquis de Dreux Breze—It belongs neither to my character nor to my habits to insult any one, but I am always ready to give satisfaction to any one who may think himself offended. The noble marquis was called to order. A batch of 30 new peers was created by the king of France immediately after the law of the press, they appear to have been selected from among all parties. Other intended attempts upon the king's life continued to be spoken of. The Paris papers announce that the law for imposing restrictions on the press received the king's assent on Tuesday, the same day that it was agreed to by the chamber of peers; and the official papers of the following day contained the royal ordinance for carrying the law into execution. The emperor of Austria had actually set out for the grand review at Koln. The emperor and the king of Prussia had also proceeded to the appointed place, in company.

PROSPECTUS OF A NEW PUBLICATION TO BE CALLED THE CATHOLIC PERIODICAL LIBRARY. Which is designed to be a reprint of all the best Catholic Works in the English Language, in weekly numbers, at 8 cents each. THE dearth and scarcity of the best Catholic works must long have been a source of regret to every intelligent and observing Catholic in America. So limited has been the sale, and so great the expense of printing these books, that but few individuals in the country have been sufficiently enterprising to undertake their publication; and their price, in consequence, has been more than proportionably high. In fact, so dear have Catholic books in general been, that it has been entirely impossible for the poorer members of the Catholic community, who stand most in need of instruction, and for whom the books have in general been compiled, to obtain copies, even of those works which are nearly essential to the practice of their religion. The subscriber has long since observed this fact with the utmost regret, and may certainly say, that up to this time, he has not done anything to reduce the prices of the most necessary Catholic works. Our religious books are still, however, extremely dear, and the Subscriber, depending on the support of a liberal and enlightened Catholic community, has determined to issue a Periodical publication, which, by its cheapness, will place all the best Catholic works within the reach of the poor, individually and from the neatness and elegance of its execution will be found worthy of a place in the libraries of the rich. Such a publication as that which the subscriber proposes to issue, has long been called for by the exigencies of the Catholic community; and the rapidly increasing number of the members of our Holy Church seems fully to justify him in the expectation that it will meet with sufficient encouragement to enable him to conduct it successfully. He, therefore, notwithstanding the expense and risk attending it, and confiding entirely in the liberality and generosity of his fellow Catholics of the United States and the Canadas has resolved to put to press forthwith, and he therefore throws himself on his Catholic brethren, and calls on them for their support and patronage. In this undertaking he is principally encouraged by the hope that it will meet with the cordial approbation of the clergy in general, and that he will be aided by the powerful assistance of that learned and devoted body of men. The undertaking is one which is eminently calculated to disseminate the principles of our holy religion widely throughout the community, and to assist the clergy in the discharge of their sacred duties by affording, at an uncomparably low rate, all the necessary knowledge and instruction. The subscriber, therefore, earnestly requests that the Bishops and Clergy in general will exert their powerful influence in order to increase the popularity of the work and to obtain a sufficient number of subscribers to enable him to carry it on with success. By these means they will augment the spiritual comforts of their charges, and contribute, in a great measure, to dispel the prejudices by which our brethren of the other denominations are unfortunately blinded. TERMS: The Catholic Periodical Library will be published in Weekly numbers, of fifty pages each, duodecimo size, on fine royal paper and beautiful new type, stitched in handsome wrappers, and will embrace the whole of the most celebrated Controversial and Devotional works, together with a large fund of ecclesiastical history. The first number will be issued on Saturday, November 7th.—Terms of subscription 24 Per Annum, or Eight Cents per Number, payable in advance. Liberal commissions will be allowed to Agents. Any six persons, who may live at a distance, remitting a twenty dollar note, may have six copies of the work sent them for one year. N. B. Postmasters throughout the country are requested to act as agents. The following is a list of a few of the works which will be issued in this publication, and which will follow each other in rapid succession. Moore's Travels of an Irish Gentleman in search of a religion; Busset's History of the Variations of the Protestant Churches; The Faith of Catholics, by Kirk and Berrington; Hayward's True Church of Christ shown; Hayward's Charity and Truths; Mumford's Question; or Ages of Faith; Mumford's Description of Questions; Mumford's Catholicism; Lingard's History of the Anglo-Saxon Church; Perpetuity of the Faith; Dr. M'Church's Evidences of the Catholic Church; Hale's Evidences of the Catholic Church; Manners of Christians; Lannegan's Historical History of Ireland; Bishop O'Leary's Writings; Manning's Works of Christ; Tracts; St. Bonaventure's Life of St. Francis; The Challenger's Meditations; Butler's Festivals; Catholic Church; Butler's Festivals and Fast; Butler's Lives of Saints; Dr. Lingard's History of Wards; Errata. The above is a collection of Standard Catholic Works which could not be purchased for less than seventy dollars; and it would be almost impossible to obtain many of the works almost at any price whatever. The included in it at any price, and this cheap collection can now be obtained in the uncommonly low price of about Twenty Dollars. All new Catholic Works as soon as received in the Periodical Library will be provided for; and able translators will be provided for all the European publications of peculiar excellence. JOHN DOYLE, Bookseller, N. Y. Editors of Papers in the country by giving the above a few insertions, and sending the papers containing it to the publisher, will entitle themselves to a copy of the work for one year.

ANNAPOLIS GREYS. MEET at your Parade Ground on SATURDAY EVENING NEXT, at 8 o'clock, with Arms and Accoutrements in complete order. By order, LOUIS G. GASSAWAY, O. S. October 22. ATTENTION—FARMERS!! Lime for Manure, and Building. ORDERS will be received for any quantity of Lime, for Manure, at twelve and a half cents per Bushel, also for Lime for Building, at twenty-eight cents per Bushel, including cask. Oct. 22. PROSPECTUS Of the Congressional Globe. THE success of the experiment we have made to furnish a succinct history of the proceedings of Congress, from day to day, with sketches of the Debates, induces the undersigned to persevere in their plan to extend and perfect it. They have resolved that the Congressional Globe shall not only embody the parliamentary annals of the country, but shall also furnish an Appendix, which will contain the finished speeches of the prominent speakers, on the most important subjects, written out by the members themselves, from the notes and printed sketches of the reporters. The Congressional Globe, with an Index, will be published weekly, upon double royal paper, in octavo form, as heretofore, at One Dollar for the session. It may be subscribed for separately. The Appendix of finished speeches will, also, be published for One Dollar. It is probable that the next session of Congress will continue nearly seven months; it so, the work will contain between four and five hundred pages, and will be the cheapest publication perhaps in the world. The next session of Congress will probably be for many years, and will certainly be replete with interest, and its course will have great influence in fixing the destiny of the Republic for years to come. Immediately preceding, as it does, the next Presidential election, and containing the leading minds of all the contending parties in the country, deep and abiding interest will attend the debate. The whole drama will be faithfully exhibited in the Congressional Globe and the Appendix. We have already provided for our reporting corps, efficient ability and skill in one branch of Congress, and we expect to obtain an adequate reinforcement of capable persons in the other, by the time it meets, to fulfil our own wishes for the expectations of the members. No paper or cost on our part will be spared to accomplish it. As the work will be continued regularly, and be made permanent, authentic, and therefore highly useful, all who take an interest in the political affairs of the country will do well to begin their subscription with the next session. TERMS: CONGRESSIONAL GLOBE.—1 copy during the Session, 10 copies during the Session, 11 copies during the Session, 12 copies during the Session. The Congressional Globe will be sent to those papers that copy this Prospectus, if our attention shall be directed to it by a mark with a pen. Our Exchange List is so large that we would not observe it, probably, unless this be done. Payment may be made by mail, postage paid, at our risk. The notes of any speculating Bank will be received. No attention will be paid to any order, unless the money accompany it, or unless some responsible person, known to us to be so, shall agree to pay it before the Session expires. BLAIR & RIVES.
