COMPANION TO WALDIE'S LI-BRARY.

The cheapest reprint from English Periodicals ever offered to the public.

DEFORE the Select Circulating Libra-Dry had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting-that many occurrences in the lite rary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. Fo establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Journal of Beller Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage extended to the Library induced the proprietor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended experience has snown the desiderata which the "Companion" is their religion.

While reading for the The subscriber has long since observed this The subscriber has long since observed this ther desiderata which the "Computation" intended to supply. While reading for the "Library" a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the editor, of an ly say, that up to this time, he has at least shirt, new shoes and stockings, and funed hat, mulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Magaziniana, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarterlies. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would energe on too much on the columns of the "Library" designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret. To concentrate, therefore, the publication of the neatness and elegance of its execution the magnetic field with the reach of the poorest individual; and from the neatness and elegance of its execution of the neatness and elegance of its execution the subject of regret. them by is constantly a subject of regret.

The proprietor of the "Select Circulating Library," fully aware from experience of the advantages to the public of the rapid diffusion of cheap and select literature, has been induced to add the important feature to the work, and of course leaves it optional with the present subscribers and others to ake it or not.

It is confidently believed, that, with the tention on the part of the Editor, who has already at hand the material for such a work, sion all the really valuable matter of the English literary and amusing publications may be comprised in this form at a rate of sub-cription and postage, so trifling as scarcely to be felt.
