Mr. Editor:—American enterprise will win its flag to no nation on earth after the year 1836. Every State in the Union is now projecting the most stupendous schemes for un- dertaking and reduplicating its resources, to the extent of which hardly and adventurous citizens yield a ready and intelligent aid—Pennsylvania and Maryland, Philadelphia and Baltimore, in the van; and the foremost station would surely be Baltimore's, if her respectable and orderly population would master the spirit of soul and ignorant licentiousness, which excludes from her precincts the enriching investments of foreign capitalists, and clenches the hand of business stretched out by the sister departments of the State in the spirit of beneficent patronage.

At last week, the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means of the Maryland Legislature, recommended the vast addition of near ten millions of capital to the existing commercial facilities of Baltimore; the liberal and intelligent county members of the committee were willing to bestow the power of bestowing this bounteous accommodation, by plighting the faith of the whole State for the repayment of a foreign loan. How do they induce European resources to invest their lives within her borders? By reviling the patroness, and exhorting open contumacy to her people by sending out into the very communities whom this committee advise should go abroad soliciting the confidence of transatlantic wealth, the most unflattering evidence of the character of the contemplated debtors as respects ability and confidence—What else can be inferred from the open publication of such sentiments as the annexed, quoted from "Baltimore," whose article appeared in the Baltimore Gazette of Saturday last, and which I ask you to republish. Mr. Merrick, the Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, will no doubt receive fresh advice scarcely necessary, that when the Legislature of Maryland is in session, they should be sleepless, vigilant of all their dearest rights and privileges. Before that tribunal, justice, simple justice to Baltimore, is one of those rights often sought for, but never, never found.

From long observation of the acts and doings of the General Assembly of Maryland, I am strongly inclined to the belief, that they have favored this scheme of indolence, not so much from a love of Justice, but rather because it affords a pretext, to get the Auction duties into their treasury, where they will keep them in spite of every consideration, until the day (not far distant I hope) when the purifying spirit of Reform shall sweep the clouds of corrupt and dispense the medals of injustice."

ENTERPRISE. A calculation showing the practical operations contemplated by the Committee on Ways and Means to complete the Internal Improvements and promote the Agriculture, Commerce and Manufactures of the State of Maryland—

Firstly—They propose that ten millions of State six per cent. stocks or bonds be issued and disposed of, redeemable after fifty years, and believe that they will sell for an advance or bonus of twenty-five dollars on each one hundred dollars, and therefore bring into the Treasury of this State the sum of $12,500,000

Secondly—They propose that subscriptions be made to works of Internal Improvement, and paid for out of said fund as follows:— 1. To the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company, $3,000,000

2. To the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road Company, 3,000,000

3. To the Eastern Shore Rail Road Company, 1,000,000

4. To the Maryland Canal, 500,000

5. To the Annapolis Canal, 500,000

Together, $8,000,000

6. To pay the interest on said subscriptions during the first three years thereon, say an average of two years on the whole, it being payable in three equal parts annually, or 12 per cent. and being $60,000

Forming in all the sum of $9,960,000

And leaving a balance to be raised by other means, of $2,540,000

played through the Loan Office to the amount of $3,540,000

Thirdly—They propose to lend all the balance just above mentioned, through the agency of two Loan Offices, one on each shore—and at 6 per cent. interest, except on such portion thereof as shall be expended in the draining of lands, or applying marl or other mineral manures; in the rearing of plantations of the mulberry tree and producing silk—and they estimate such part at one million of dollars.

Fourthly—They infer from known facts in like cases and the preceding propositions, 1st. That the dividends which may be declared on the contemplated subscriptions to works of internal improvement, will meet all of the interest that can accrue on the amounts so subscribed—after the end of the first three years provided for as above notice.

2dly. That the interest which will be realized at the Loan Offices, on one half of the sum of two millions proposed to be borrowed for the exclusive use of the farmers and planters of Maryland, will provide for the interest on the State loan to be repaid on the same day.

3dly. They are aware that on the other hand, part, to wit, on the sum of one million of dollars, that would doubtless be paid in the draining of lands, &c. &c. the State would have to pay two per cent. per annum interest more than would be received thereon at the Loan Offices, and that this difference would be in fact, as it is desired that it might be a premium, wisely and profitably given for the improvement of agriculture and promotion of manufactures.

5thly. Upon the foregoing facts the committee arrive at the following conclusions:— 1st. The loans or advances that will be received on the sale of ten millions of State stocks or bonds, would be, as above stated, $2,500,000—more which $960,000, or two years interest on the sum of $8,000,000 invested in works of Internal Improvement, being deducted, there would be left, and may be loaned through the Loan Offices for the term of 30 years, an excess amounting to $1,540,000

2d. At the end of twelve years—computed from the opening of said offices—by compounding the interest on said sum or excess, it would produce the sum of 3,580,000

3d. At the end of twenty-four years, so compounding, this would become 6,160,000

4th. At the end of thirty-six years, the same course being continued, it would produce 12,320,000

5th. And at the end of the fourth term or expiration of the forty-eight years, it would produce 24,640,000

6th. If from this accumulated fund the whole debt incurred by the State as well as the two millions borrowed in order to lend the same to Farmers and Planters, the eight millions borrowed to be invested in works of internal improvement—would be paid off and be 10,000,000

7th. There would still thereafter remain in the Loan Offices a surplus of $14,640,000

8th. If from the aforesaid surplus there shall be deducted the sum which two per cent per annum would cost on one million of dollars lent to those who drain their lands &c. &c. and which for fifty years would be 100 per cent in all, or $1,000,000

Also, the interest on this interest for the average of the whole term or times of payment, or 25 years at 6 per cent per annum—150 per cent or 1,500,000

9th. They may be regarded as a premium conferred on those who drain their lands &c. &c. and amounting together to the sum of $2,500,000

10. And would leave a remainder or balance in the Loan Offices—subject to the expenses of their administration, &c. &c. say $12,140,000

11th. Besides which, the State would then have, exclusive of their present investments, eight millions of capital stock in shares of the Canal and Rail Road Companies aforementioned, that would be worth far more than they cost; and also two millions of dollars of claims, being original sums borrowed for and lent to farmers and planters of this State.

12th. If the government of Maryland should then think it to sell said shares and pay off the debt now proposed to be incurred, in order to subscribe to them—the proceeds of such sale would undoubtedly yield ten millions of dollars, that would discharge said debt, and leave in the Loan Offices of this State, subject only to the aggregate expenses incurred in their original management, the grand sum of $22,140,000

APPREHENDED LOSS OF THE ARMY UNDER GENERAL GAINES. We received from our attentive correspondent of the Charleston Mercury the annexed pleasant intelligence, which leaves little to hope that the Army under General Gaines can have escaped from the overwhelming power of the Indians by whom it had been surrounded. It is evident that the forces of the Indians are much underrated by our officers, and if this view than idle notion continues to prevail, the whole army sent against them will be cut up in detail, and nothing available from the expeditions but defeat and mortification. We trust the fears of the letter writer have induced unnecessary alarm, but the statements are certainly very unpleasant respecting the position of Gen. Gaines.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT. CHARLESTON, March 8—4 P. M. FROM FLORIDA. Battle with the Indians. The schr. S. S. Mills, Capt. Southwick, arrived here yesterday morning from St. Augustine, furnishing us with the Herald of the 2d inst.

It will be seen that Gen. Gaines had encountered the Indians in considerable force near the Outhlaocochee. The particulars of the engagement, is given in the following letters from our correspondent, dated, ST. AUGUSTINE, March 5.

Dear Sir—I have purposely refrained from stating anything on any account of the Seminole war, in regard to the various contradictory statements and rumors, and the movements of the enemy, and a few days since, did not deserve the simple fact, however, that St. Augustine, &c. &c. have been for such a length of time kept in a constant state of alarm, and each morning dreading an attack, is evidence of a fact never before displayed by Indians—consequently they always exhibit—but that a body of fifteen hundred, or two thousand men, should be so much terrified, and such dispositions of their force as like the massacre of Major Dade—up talked. We knew that they must be concentrating on some point, and so the general has prevailed. You are aware that General Gaines approached within four or five miles of Fort Drane—looked eight days provisions, and returned to the Outhlaocochee, for the purpose of discovering whether any Indians were on the spot. On arriving at the stream his passage was disputed by a body of savages, amounting to six hundred, a fight ensued—a fight which crossed the river, and was a desperate and continued two days, neither party gaining any material advantage.

The third day Gen. Gaines retired, and threw his baggage on the river, which he advanced to the stream with a hundred men, reconnoitered the stream, and then retreated with a hope of deceiving his enemy, and deceiving them into an ambush. At dark on the same day, the entire body of Indians, now largely reinforced by the arrival of scattering squads, crossed the river and had the bravery to attack him in his trenches. The stratagem was thus successful, the cannon opened upon them, and played with such effect, that it is presumed three hundred Indians and Negroes were killed. I say presumed, as it is not known whether that number was destroyed in the single engagement, or in the entire encounter. When the cannon opened, the savages began a "terrible howling," and no wonder, for I can tell that all the trace chains belonging to the wagons were used instead of balls, and literally moved them down like grass beneath the scythes. Two of our officers were wounded in that engagement—one of whom, it is understood, has since died. Gaines has since sent in to Clinch for provisions; but afterwards countenanced the order, as the Indians would capture the wagons. He is understood to be surrounded. His provisions must be gone—and unless a reinforcement be sent by Scott, as fast as that of his gallant army, are needed.

I was in Camp—between this and Hanson's—when Prince, the express came in; the Indians having attacked him in the military style, within eleven miles of this, and ordered him to "fight about," with a shower of fifteen or twenty bullets. The top of his cap was literally shot away, and several balls passed through his coat. A detachment of from Leon, Colonel H-witt's Battalion was on this morning ordered out to skin the country, and cut up the war-lots like a gourd."

Dear Sir—The express, Monroe, came in today from Proctor, with deep sighs; but nothing further is heard from Gen. Gaines. One hundred and forty men from the country adjacent to the Outhlaocochee, had gone to join him—and, to what amount I do not know, had been driven down at the same time. The officer supposed to be dead, or mortally wounded, is Lieut. Izard.

I was wrong in saying that Gaines had approached Fort Drane—it was Camp King. Early in the morning I heard about dark to secure a piece called "H-witt's" and also to assist the detachment from H-witt's Battalion. The troops from Drane have returned home.

THE INDIAN WAR. Genl. Gain's Battle with the Indians confirmed. The Washington Globe of Tuesday says, that by official information received at the Adjutant General's Office from Major General Scott, intelligence was received that the force which marched from Tampa Bay, under Major General Gaines, while reconnoitering near the Wintlaocochee, near General Clinch's battle ground, was met by a considerable number of hostile Indians, on the 29th of February, and a slight skirmish took place, which resulted in the loss of two Louisiana volunteers killed, and ten regulars and volunteers wounded. Lieutenant Izard, of the United States Dragoons, was among the wounded.

While making preparations to cross the Wintlaocochee, on the 29th instant, a spirited attack was made on General Gaines' camp by the Indians, who were repulsed with very considerable loss. The General states that the officers concur with him in opinion that the enemy's force amounted to not less than 1500. Of General Gaines' command (supposed to consist of ten or eleven hundred men) there was on the 29th, one sergeant of the regular army killed, and one officer (Lieut. Duncan, 2d artillery) and ten privates wounded. Of the volunteers, there were one officer, and twenty privates wounded.
