> This season, they have yet done very little damage. It is fine sport to clip off their beads with a rifle-and there are various ways of tak. ing them. One is to prepare the "bed" with a net, and near it have an abatis hut. Having previously taken two pigeons for "decoys" tie one of them with a thread, any convenient length from fifty to a hundred yards, and the other must be tied on a tilting stick, which mar be made to rise and fall at pleasure, having first blinafolded or pasted its eyes.

When a flock is seen approaching, the first pigeon is sent off. It soon gains the length of the cord, and after several unsuccessful attempts to escape, it circles around, hangs awhile in the air, and gradually descends or is drawn down by he sportsman. Then the other with its feet tied on the stick, is gently drawn up and down, so as to make it flutter, when the flock alight upon the bed and commence eating, the net beng sprung upon them, they are secured.

Some bait them with wheat or corn without decoys. Some catch them in large wooden By tolling them in through a small aperture, they do not find their way out again.

ALARMING FLOUR COMBINATION.

The Buffalo Journal of the 1st says, there is every reason to believe that notwithstanding the immense yield of the grain crops this season, the dealers in flour are busily at work to fores. tall and buy up the market. The extent of ra-milication of this secret combination is incredible, and their resources ample. The above paper says.

"We could name, we believe, a single bank for instance, eastward of us, which within a few days, has engaged to make discounts to the a-mount of at least $140,000 to firce individuals, for the purchase of wheat; and the agents of which individuals have already passed through this city and gone west to purchase wheat of the new crop. We could also name an associa-tion of individuals in another part of our state, who already own one back in Michigan and another in the valley of the Scioto, Ohio, if not indeed other banks, whose agents are in the field making purchases; to say nothing of the dozens of other large nalling establishments who have their agents scattered in all directions, and public meeting, were whose means are obtained from a large number of banks, which are completely at their control, ng and thunder; which, are of the most ample kind. TOMATOES.

A celebrated writer observes, that "the common tomato, made into a gravy, by stewing ore, the fire, and used as a sauce for meat, has been known to furcken the action of the liver and of the bowels, better than any medicine he ever made use of." He states further, that—When ng after another, from afflicted with an action of the bowels, head-nith the darkness of ache, a bad taste of the mouth, straitmes of the nd for aught known chest, and a dull and painful heaviness of the region of the liver, the whole of these symptoms are removed by Tomato sauce, and the mind, in the course of some few hours, is put in perfect
