HONEST CONFESSION.
The Columbia Register, a Whig paper, in noticing the election of Mr. Bowman to the Legislature, makes the following acknowledgment:—"We are not disposed," says the Register, "to mislead our friends at a distance as to the Whig strength in this county; we are willing to admit that we should not have carried our candidate for the Legislature, had we not received assistance from the liberal and candid of the Van Buren party. The dictatorial course and consequent unpopularity of Feltz Bell, contributed in a great measure to our success."

OFFICE HOLDERS CAUCUS.
The Whigs held literally an office holders caucus, last night. Mr. Webster, an office holder, presided and spoke, and Messrs. Bell of Tennessee, Graves and Underwood of Kentucky, and Hoffman and Curtis of New York, every one of them office holders from other States, harangued a Boston audience upon our State election.

We should all be pleased to hear and greet these distinguished gentlemen at a fitting occasion, but was it decorous in them to come here in a mere local election and seek to inflame the majority in this proceeding city, against a small minority, who will not be seen in their houses, from a whig mob, if the election is carried by as great a majority as in the panic of 1834.

Mr. Bell spoke an hour and a half on the old topics against General Jackson. Mr. Graves spoke an hour upon humbug and prescription, the latter seeming to be a specialty of Governor Everett and the whigs, who prescribe every doctrine in this State. Mr. Underwood was particularly severe on Mr. Webster and the old federalists, in speaking of the glorious victories achieved in the late war by Yankee sailors, which Mr. U. forgot it was a U. here—moral and irreligious" to rejoice at Mr. Hoffman quoted Othello, and Goldsmith's Greece, and was too much exhausted with victory to speak. He laid the head of repentant New York in the lap of federal Massachusetts! Mr. Curtis said he had a whig heart. The crowd was immense, nearly all parties being drawn by curiosity. Not one of our citizens said a word except Mr. Webster. The strangers were listened to with respect.

DUEL.
We have heard that an affair of this character, which has been for some time in agitation between Mr. Dingmole of Congress, and Mr. Dugger of Brunswick county, Va., was decided a few days since about six miles from Gaston, N. C. Mr. Dugger received the ball of his antagonist in his side, about three inches beneath the armpit. He is said to have been alive the next morning after the meeting which, it seems, took place in the afternoon.—Petersburg Intell.

BURNING OF THE PRAIRIES.
The Illinois Register of the 8th October says, "on Saturday night for the first time this fall, the horizon in various directions was tinged with light, occasioned by the burning of the prairies at a distance. Similar appearances have been visible every night since." These are attributed to the burning by the occupants of land around their timber and fences, to secure them from the great conflagration which will follow in November.

A PLAIN ON FIRE.
The country about Bonan Africa, was lately set on fire by the Kabyles, partly to fertilize the soil and partly to provide themselves with a stock of coal and dry wood. A letter from Bonn of the 1st of September describes the conflagration. The French army was obliged to remove its position to prevent the destruction of its stores and ammunition. Then followed a scene which is thus described:—"Fortunately, at about 6 o'clock the sirocco ceased, and a strong north west wind sprung up, by which the conflagration was driven back to the hills. Without this providential interposition, all efforts to arrest the fiery torrent would have been in vain, and this calamity alone, by destroying a great part of the material for this expedition against Constantine, would probably have rendered that expedition impossible for the present year. The conflagration now rolling towards the mountains, threatened the huts of the Kabyles. With our telescopes we could see those barbarians, in their ragged robes and brown leather aprons, fleeing over the heights. The men were laden with their worldly wealth, the women with their younger children. It was towards midnight that the spectacle of the fiery mountains became most magnificent. Immense columns of fire, driven along by the north wind, rose higher and higher towards the summit of the hills. The gloomy Atlas appeared to be stormed by a whole army of fiery giants. The wild beasts fled from crag to crag, and the howling of the panic-struck jackals and hyenas could be distinctly heard in the town. Several hundred of white-headed vultures, driven from their eyries, flew screaming over the flames, while the appearance of the scattered Kabyles, sometimes toward the summit of a hill, and sometimes nearer to the plain, where the fury of the conflagration had wasted itself, added to the picturesque effect of the scene. The women, with their long dishevelled hair, their blue-stained faces, and their long fluttering garments, standing out in bold relief from the murky glare of the mountain, appeared more in regard and

...spectful to my eye, than they had ever
...done before.
...Towards one o'clock the fire reached the
...cork trees on the top of the hills, and instantly
...the whole western ridge of the Atlas seemed
...converted into a chain of volcanoes, now bur-
...sting up to the sky thick masses of yellow grey
...smoke, and in the next vomiting huge columns
...of fire. In a few hours the mountain became
...dark again, for the fire, obeying the impulse of
...the wind, was descending into the plains beyond
...the reach of our view. At present towards the
...west, we behold nothing but masses of black
...volcanic, where a few days ago the landscape was
...covered with a parched vegetation. Never did
...the Atlas appear to me to wear so gloomy an
...aspect."

A NEW AND CHEAPER PERIODICAL.
Attention is requested from our readers to the following prospectus of a new, and even a cheaper book periodical, which will be issued from this office in the first week of next January. It will not be in so convenient a form for binding as the present, with which it will in no way interfere, but it will make books cheap beyond all precedent. It will contain the works of the day, which are not sought after, but are comparatively dear, and which cannot penetrate the interior in any mode half so rapidly as by mail, in which columns of books are prohibited. A fifty cent American reprint will be furnished on file for from four to six cents a Marryat novel for twelve cents, and others in proportion.
As but very few copies will be printed but what are actually subscribed for, those who wish the Omnibus, must make their remittances of once.
Books at Newspaper Postage.
WALDIE'S LITERARY OMNIBUS.
NOVEL AND IMPORTANT LITERARY ENTERPRISE!
NOVELS, TALES, BIOGRAPHY, VOYAGES, TRAVELS, REVIEWS, AND THE NEWS OF THE DAY

I was one of the great objects of "Waldie's Literary," "to make good reading cheaper, and to bring literature to every man's door." That object has been accomplished; we have given to books wings, and they have flown to the uttermost parts of our vast continent, carrying society to the sear and occupation to the literary, information to all. We now propose still further to reduce prices, and render the access to a literary banquet more than twofold accessible; we give and shall continue to give in the quarto library a volume weekly for two cents a day; we now propose to give a volume in the same period for less than four cents a week, and to add as a piquant seasoning to the dish a few columns of shorter literary matters, and a summary of the news and events of the day. We know by experience and calculation that we can go still further in the matter of reduction, and we feel that there is still verge enough for us to aim at offering to an increasing literary appetite that mental food which it craves.
The Select Circulating Library, now as ever so great a favourite, will continue to make its weekly visits, and to be issued in a form for binding and preservation, and its price and form will remain the same. But we shall, in the first week of January 1837, issue a huge sheet of the size of the largest newspapers of America, but on more superior paper, also filled with books of the newest and most entertaining, though in their several departments of Novels, Tales, Voyages, Travels, &c., select in their characters, joined with reading such as usually should fill a weekly newspaper. By this method we hope to accomplish a great good; to enlighten and enlighten the family circle, and to give to it, at an expense which shall be no consideration to any, a mass of reading that in book form would alarm the pockets of the prudent, and to do it in a manner that the most scrupulous shall acknowledge "the power of concentration can no farther go." No book which appears in Waldie's Quarto Library will be published in the Omnibus, which will be an entirely distinct periodical.

TERMS.
WALDIE'S LITERARY OMNIBUS will be issued every Friday morning, printed on paper of a quality superior to any other weekly sheet, and of the largest size. It will contain:
1st. Books, the newest and the best that can be procured, equal every work to a London duodecimo volume, embracing Novels, Travels, Memoirs, &c., and only chargeable with newspaper postage.
2d. Literary Reviews, Tales, Sketches, notices of books, and information from "the world of letters," of every description.
3d. The news of the week concentrated to a small compass, but in a sufficient amount to embrace a knowledge of the principal events, political and miscellaneous, of Europe and America.
The price will be two dollars to clubs of five subscribers where the paper is forwarded to one address. To clubs of two individuals, five dollars; single mail subscribers, three dollars. The discount on uncurrent money will be charged to the remitter; the low price and superior paper absolutely prohibit paying a discount.
On no condition will a copy ever be sent until the payment is received in advance.
As the arrangements for the prosecution of this great literary undertaking are all made, and the proprietor has redeemed all his pledges to a generous public for many years, no fear of the non fulfilment of the contract can be felt. The Omnibus will be regularly issued, and will contain in a year reading matter equal in amount to two volumes of Rees's Cyclopaedia, for the small sum mentioned above.
Address, post paid,
ADAM WALDIE,
46 Carpenter St. Philadelphia.

Editors throughout the Union, and Canada, will confer a favour by giving the above one or more conspicuous insertions, and accepting the work for a year as compensation.
