Fourth Your of Waldle's Library. BOOKS BY MAIL PROSPECTUS OF TWO NEW YOL-THES FOR 1856.

THREE years have now elapsed since the proprietor of Waldie's Select Circulating Library laid before the public his original prospectus for a valuable library, the great features of which were cheapness, and the facility of a rapid transportation by mail. The most ample success has attended the enterprise, and the effects upon the reading community, it is believed, have been wholecommunity, it is believed, have been whole

The fourth year will commence on the first Tuesday of January, 1836, at which period it will be necessary to determine the additional amount of copies to be printed, subscriptions being taken only from January each year. The entire success of the Library is the best guarantee that can be given of its continuance. It was the first to supply books by mail at a mere per centage of their former cost; it has outlived more than thirty puerile attempts at imitation; and has now an extenattempts at imitation; and has now an extensive list of patrons wno are of the most solid and valuable class of citizens in every part of the Union, as well at in foreign countries.

The object of Waldie's Library, its use

The object of Waldie's Library, its use and purpose, is enjoyment liberal and intellectual. To all who love a mental banquet, without being compelled to depend on places of public resort, this publication furnishes a most valuable desideratum, supplying polite literature of a character to enlarge and improve the mind. The time and attention of the editor, himself a reader from inclination as well as duty, are devoted to the procurement of works of an elevated standard of intellect which may be admitted into every family without hesitation by the mos fastidious, and become a rallying point for all its ment of works of an elevated standard of interest fellect which may be admitted into every family without hesitation by the mos fastifacious, and become a raliving point for all its members, promoting social belies lettres reading and conversation. The variety thus collected from the whole mass of published works, mostly new, embraces Biographs, Novels, Voyages and Travels, Sketches, Tiles, and Select History, personal memoirs of extraordinary individuals, and curious adventure, &c. &c. An amount equal to fifty London duodecimo volumes is thus annually furnished in weekly numbers, at a cost only furnished in that furnished in that furnished in seed in Philadelphicon Saturday.

The care used in preparing the paper—in removing and folding the sheets, &c., can only be estimated by those who have seen the experiment made; and, added to the necessarily increased amount of composition, press work, &c., these supplementary expenses have made an aggregate cost, which would have deterred many from engaging in the enterprize. A gain of two ictual cost of this single number.

We flatter ourselves that, besides its extraordinary size, this number presents a tractions that entitle it to some attention.It contains the whole of Friendship's Offer ing for 1837, the London copy of which cost $4, and has $84 closely printed pages of let-ter press. T was one of the great objects of "Waldie's Literary," "to make good reading encaper, and to bring literature to every man's door." That object has been accomplished; we have given to books wirgs, and they have flown to the uttermost parts of our east continent, carrying society to the seclu-ded, occupation to the literary, information to all. We now propose still further to reduce prices, and reader the access to a literary banquet more than twofold accessibles we gave and shall continue to give in the quarto library a volume weekly for two cents a day; we now propose to give a volume in the same period for tess than four cents a week, and to add as a piquant scasoning to the dish a few columns of shorter literary matters, and a summary of the news and events of the day. We know by experience and calculation that we can go still in the matter of reduction, and we feel that here is still verge enough for us to aim at offering to an increasing literary appetite that mental Lood which it craves.

The Select Circulating Library, now as ever so great a favourite, will continue to make its weekly visits, and to be issued in a form for hinding and preservation, and its price and form will remain the same. But we shall, in the first week of Jaruary 1857, issue a huge sheet of the size of the largest newspapers of America, but on very superor paper, also filled with books of the newst and most entertaining, though in their seve-ral departments of Novels. Tales, Voyages, Travels, &c., select in their character. ed with reading such as usually should fill a weekly newspaper. By this method we hope to accomplish a great good; to enliven and enlighten the family circle, and to give to it, at an expense which shall be no consideration to any, a mass of reading that in book form would alarm the pockets of the prudent, and to do it in a manner that the most sceptical shall acknowledge "the power of con-centration can no farther go." No look which appears in Waldie's Quarto Library will be published in the Omnibus, which will be an entirely distinct periodical.
