The venerable Dr. Chapin presided, and expectation appears to have been in tiptoe, from the fact that it had been rumoured that Doctor Rolph would be present. Such was the expectation of the committee appointed to call future meetings, who assured the assembly that he was on his way as fast as horses could bring him. But the excitement which was before him, found relief in thunders of applause, when the chairman at the conclusion of some remarks, urging prudence and discretion, and the strict observance of treaty obligations, announced that Mr. Mackenzie, and others of his associates, were at his own house. The Commercial Advertiser says: Never saw we such a scene—never heard we such a shout of exultation! Such enthusiasm is honourable to the feelings of our citizens. It was not Mackenzie who called forth such electrical feeling. A few months ago, he might have come among us, and excited little interest. He comes now as the champion and Martyr of Liberty. A price is set upon his life by the agents of transatlantic power. That circumstance alone is enough to call out all the feelings of an American assembly. "Fellow citizens," continued the old veteran, "this life is in our power, he has thrown himself upon our protection—will you protect him?" "We will! we will! Bring him out!" "Gentlemen, he is too fatigued, too sick to come here to-night. But to-morrow night he shall address you; (cheers.) I am an old man, but at the hazard of my life will protect those who throw themselves upon my hospitality. If any mean scoundrel, for the sake of the reward of $4,000, is offered for him, should undertake to get him, they must first walk over me. I am rather old to fight, but I have got a good Bowie knife—(here he showed one of very respectable dimensions, which was greeted with three cheers.) Now, my trust act with prudence and discretion; I want six strong, brave young men, as good sons as God has got among us, to go to my house to-night, for fear of any attempt on the part of the loyalists." "A hundred!" "No, I want only six—who'll go?" "I—I—I," was heard all over the house. A dozen sprang upon the stage. The address of the "Sons of Liberty" of Montreal, was read, and received with great enthusiasm; when after giving three cheers for Mr. McKenzie—three for Papineau—three for Rolph and others—the meeting formed a procession, and marched to music through the streets, to the residence of Dr. Chapin, and gave three cheers for McKenzie and his worthy host. Our slips from Oswego add little to previous information. Advice received there from Toronto, dated the 12th inst. state that "the McKays and some others are lib rated on bail"—the city a barrack, and all business at a stand. There was a rumour also there that Dr. Rolph and other patriotic leaders were in prison; but we do not credit it. The more probable report is that Dr. R. was at Lewiston, if not at Buffalo. There was a large meeting of the young men of the village of Oswego, on the 8th inst. in reference to the Canadian affairs—Thomas G. Young in the chair. The meeting pledged themselves "to the aid and assistance of the Patriotic Canadians in every legal and constitutional manner," and appointed a committee to receive subscriptions for purposes not inconsistent with our situation as a government, or our duties as its citizens. Their proceedings were ordered to be forwarded to Messrs. Papineau, Bidwell and McKenzie. A great and enthusiastic meeting of the citizens of Ogdensburg, was held at the Town Hall, on the 9th inst. Hon. B. S. Doty, president, six vice presidents, and a secretary. The meeting was convened in consequence of the publication of the resolutions adopted by certain American residents of Montreal, and with the view, as stated in the notice, "to take into consideration the propriety of expressing to our fellow patriots in Canada, what are our opinions and feelings on the subject." Resolutions, denying that the Montreal proceedings conveyed truly the sentiments of the people of the U. States, and expressing the warmest sympathy for the cause of the Patriots, were reported by a committee of fourteen citizens, of both political parties, and of which the Hon. Preston King was chairman, and were adopted by acclamation. From the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, Dec. 15. RUMOURS OF WAR. It is said that a patriot, formerly a citizen of this place, has been hung in the province. Several of his relatives left for the other side this morning, to obtain information. It is rumoured that one of our citizens has subscribed $500 to buy munitions of war for Mackenzie's troops, who are encamped at Hog Hollow, in a very strong position, but not fully equipped. It is said that another gentleman has left open a room containing forty stand of arms—he don't give them, but will not complain if they are stolen. It is rumoured that a British officer is in town, for the purpose of taking Mackenzie; also that there is a coat of tar and feathers prepared for the former. They say that some Tories are going to the meeting to-night to make a disturbance. They had better keep away or be very quiet. It is rumoured that the best maxim to enforce at the present time is—"don't be rash." From the Buffalo Journal, Extra, Monday, 5 P. M. Extract from a letter to the editors, dated Queenston, Dec. 10, 1837. Messrs. Stagg & Cadwallader: Dear Sirs—To night, per steamboat Transit, the Hon. M. S. Bidwell arrived here from Toronto, having been ordered by the Governor to leave the Province. He brings positive news of the engagement at Toronto. The loss of lives on both sides was only six, 4 patriots and 2 royalists. This morning Mr. McNab left Toronto with 400 royalists, to march to London, there to meet the patriot troops of the London district, who mustered very largely, destroyed the jail and court house, and liberated the prisoners, from whence they were marched to Hamilton, there to rescue John G. Parker, who is arrested for high treason. He was discovered by his letters being intercepted—which were directed to some patriot leader in Lower Canada. Many warrants are out. Mr. Micking, of Chippewa, was arrested at Toronto, and is in prison. Mr. Mackenzie has not been heard of, nor none of his men arrested. This is all I can say to you at present of the movements on this side of the water. Yours, &c. JOHN COTTER. EXQUISITE TASTE. The New Orleans Boas complains of the frequenters of the St. Charles taking off their coats and sitting in close proximity to the stage, in their shirt sleeves. AN ACTIVE CAREER. An active career is not a path of roses. The moment you attempt distinction you will be abused, calumniated, reviled. You will be shocked at the wrath you excite, and sigh for your obscurity, and consider, as Fra kin has it, that "you have paid too dear for your whistle." But in return for individual enemies, what a noble recompense have made the public itself your friend; perhaps even posterity your familiar. Mr. Sivertsen, a young Icelander, has been educated in the schools of medicine at Paris, under the auspices of the King. He shortly returns home, and will it is believed, endeavour to promote a still warmer feeling between that cold country and France. Taking Snuff a proof of respectability.—A bandanna filled with good rappee, found upon a couple of pick-pockets, made the London police man declare it was in his view an evidence the article belonged to a "respectable person." Macadamizing is given up in London. Oxford street, under this process is to be paved with stone (why not with wood?) as much more economical.—N. Y. Star. Mr. Chitty, the celebrated author of English law books, consigns the task of making the index to his works to one or more of the students in his office. "I had occasion," said a friend of Mr. Chitty, "to look into your new work this morning to the subject of 'bail.' Upon finding the title, I was thus referred: see Mr. Justice Best, page 270." Upon finding Mr. Justice Best, page 270, I was thus referred: 'see great mind, page 310;' and upon finding 'great mind, page 340;' I came at last to the end of my search, and read thus: 'The bill being guilty of a contempt of court, Mr. Justice Best said he had a great mind to commit him.' AN APT ILLUSTRATION. A person asking how it happened that many beautiful ladies look up with indifferent hands, after many fine offers, was thus aptly answered by a mountain maiden: "A young friend of hers requested her to go into a cane brake and get him the handsomest reed. She must get it at once going through, without turning. She went, and coming out, brought him quite a mean reed. When he asked her if that was the handsomest she saw, 'Oh no,' she replied, 'I saw many finer as I went along, but I kept on in hopes of one much better, until I got nearly through, and then I was obliged to take up with any one I could get—and a crooked one at last.'" A gentleman who had a snuff box that played "Drops of Brandy," and "The glasses sparkle on the board," went to dine with a friend a few miles out of town, one Sunday, taking his box in his pocket. He accompanied the family to the parish church, and by some accidental pressure he about the middle of the service, touched the spring of the box, which struck up "Drops of Brandy," most merrily. Every eye and every ear was directed to the spot, to the great dismay of the gentleman, who endeavoured to spot the box, but in doing so he only caused it to change the tune, on which he hastened out of the church, the box rattling away while he marched along the aisle.
