man's door." That object has been acceleplished; we have given to books wings, and they have flown to the attermost parts of our vast continent, carrying society to the secla ded, occupation to the literary, information to all. We now propose still further to reto all. We now propose still further to re-duce prices, and render the access to a litevery tranquet more than twofold accessibles quaito library a volume weekly for the cents a day; we now propose to give a volume in the same period for less than four cents a meets, and to add as a piquant seasoning to the dish a few columns of shorters literary matters, and a summary of the news and character of the fluridate events of the day. We know by experience to speak. That has now bein the matter of reduction, and we feel that there is still verze enough for us to aim at offering to an increasing literary appetite that

The Select Circulating Library, now as ever so great a favourite, will continue to make its weekly visits, and to be issued in a form for binding and preservation, and its prite and form will remain the same But we shall, in the first week of January 1837, issue a harge sheet of the size of the largest sue a hore sheet of the size of the land-newspapers of America, but on very superior paper, also filled with books of the newest and most entertaining, though in their seve-ral departments of Novels, Tales, Voyages, Travels, Sc., select in their character, joined with reading such as usually should fill a weekly newspaper. By this method we hope to accomplish a great good; to entiven and enlighten the family circle, and to give to it, at an expense which shall be no consideration to any, a mass of reading that in book form would alarm the pockets of the prudent, and to do it in a manner that the most sceptical shall acknowledge "the power of con-centration can no farther go." No book which appears in Waldie's Quarto Library will be published in the Omnibus, which will be an entirely distinct periodical.
