Fourth Year of Waldie's Library. BOOKS BY MAIL PROSPECTUS OF TWO NEW VOL-UMES FOR 1836.

THREE years have now clapsed since the In Labrary laid before the public his original prospectus for a valuable library, the great features of which were cheapness, and the facility of a rapid trausportation by mail. The most ample success has attended the enterprise, and the effects upon the reading community, it is believed, have been whole-and spingalversion on the most normal rapid transportation. This paper will contain a great variety of original and selected matter, news, literary and scientific articles, notices of new books, and spingalversions on the most normal rapid transport. community, it is believed, have been whole-

The entire success of the Library but in the xarious qualities which make a is the last curvantee that can be given of its lower and desirable. is the best guarantee that can be given of it continuance. It was the first to supply books oy mail at a mere per centuge of their former cost, it has outlived more than thirty puerife attempts at initation; and has now an exten sive list of patrons who are of the most solid and valuable class of citizens in every part of the Union, as well as in foreign countries. The object of Waldie's Library, its use and purpose, is enjoyment liberal and intel lectual. To all who love a mental banquet, without being compelled to depend on places of public resort, this publication furnishes a most valuable desideratum supplying polite literature of a character to enlarge and improve the mind. The time and attention of the editor, himself a reader from inclination as well as duty, are devoted to the procure-ment of works of an elevated standard of in-tellect which may be admitted into every dious, and become a rallying point for all its members, promoting social belies lettres reading and conversation. The Library as now conducted dissemi-nates books to all parts of the country in from five to six weeks after their issue in London. Five dollars per annum expended in this way will supply good reading for a whole circle or family; for a cent and a half a day, post age included, a duodecimo book is sent every week, making in the course of the year more than three volumes of Rees's Cyclopedia. One volume of the Library, containing from fifteen | to twenty entire works, can be bound at an expense little exceeding that of binding either separately, and constitutes a concentraten collection forming a never failing resource of pane deinstant amusement and instruction, and which must of continen always be worth the price that has been paid for it. The most ample testimony has been spontaneously afforded that this work has contributed to the pleasure of thousands, who, but for the resource it afforded, must have been left with minds unoccupied, or thrown into unprofitable and uncongenial society. been left with minds unoccupied, or thrown into unprofitable and uncongental society. T was one of the great objects of "Walnie's Literary," "to make good reading encaper, and to bring literature to etery man's door." That object has been accomplished; we have given to be oke wirgs, and they have flown to the uttermost parts of our vast continent, carrying society to the seclu ded, occupation to the literary, information to ail. We now propose still further to reduce prices, and render the access to a lite-rary banquet more than twofold accessible; we gave and shall continue to give in the ton to their ordinary supply of miscellaneous matter, an English annual, the largest yet received for the coming season; and they yet received for the coming season; and they quarto library a volume weekly for two cents the dish a few columns of shorter literary matters, and a summary of the news and events of the day. We know by experience and calculation that we can go still further in the matter of reduction, and we feel that there is still verge enough for us to aim at offering to an increasing literary appetite that mental food which it craves.

The Select Circulating Library, now as ever so great a favourite, will continue to make its weekly visits, and to be issued in a form for binding and preservation, and its price and form will remain the same. But we shall, in the first week of January 1837, issue a huge sheet of the size of the largest newspapers of America, but on very superior paper, also filled with books of the newest and most entertaining, though in their several departments of Novels. Tales, Voyages, Travels, &c., select in their character, joined with reading such as usually should fill a weekly newspaper. By this method we hope to accomplish a great good; to enliven and enlighten the family circle, and to give to it, at an expense which shall be no consideration to any, a mass of reading that in book form would alarm the pockets of the prudent, and to do it in a manner that the most scep-tical shall acknowledge "the power of con-centration can no farther go." No book centration can no farther go." No book which oppears in Waldie's Quarto Library will be published in the Omnibus, which will be an entirely distinct periodical.
