

suffered with his crew to remain on board. He was not allowed to exercise control over anything belonging to the schooner or cargo—

On hearing that the schooner was detained at Brockville, under circumstances as above detailed, Colonel Worth, commanding the U. S. steamer Oneida, with a small military force, where he arrived on the evening of the 10th, and immediately addressed a communication to Col. Fraser, requesting to be informed of the schooner's detention. In the absence of Colonel F., the letter was answered by his deputy, only to assure Col. Worth that the schooner would be returned to him on the following morning. No answer having been received at 2 o'clock, P. M., of that day, Col. Worth crossed the river to Brockville in the Oneida, and without coming ashore, sent a message again requesting information as to the cause of the detention of the schooner. The answer returned was, that the schooner which had been taken to Brockville should be immediately returned on board the schooner suffered to depart.

About the same time a body of regular troops arrived from Kingston in the steamer Traveller, by which the guard at Brockville was strengthened, and under the direction of which the gun was restored, and the vessel allowed to resume her course.

MUTUAL CONDUCT OF TWO WATCHMEN.

On Wednesday afternoon, a citizen named on Purfield, upwards of 50 years old, left his residence in Sixteenth street, to which he had been confined by sickness for four months—for walk. Attempting to return home after nightfall, he became exhausted from weakness and fatigue, and sunk down upon a stoop, where he was found by rousersmen John Brady and Nathan J. Scofield, who together humanely conducted him to the watch-house. In the morning, after having partially recovered, he was put in charge of two watchmen named J. Foster and John Goodwin to conduct care to the Police Office. The old man soon came again exhausted, and being unable to walk, his intendant conductors seized him by the arms and dragged him over the pavement to the street, by which violence his body was much injured, and the knee pans of both his legs torn off, the blood flowing freely from his wounds upon the floor where he was brutally thrown.

He was sent by Justice Taylor to Bellevue Hospital, where his wounds were examined and dressed. It is not expected that he will ever recover the use of his legs.

Dr. Becker, of the hospital, thus describes the injury inflicted upon his person, in a certificate furnished to the police.

A lacerated wound on the outside of the right leg, 4 inches long and 2 broad, opening into the joint, which was ascertained by passing a probe into it, and the sinorial fluid flowing from it. A slight wound was also found on the inside of the same knee. A lacerated wound on the side of the left knee opening into the joint; two wounds on the outside of the same knee, and sundry other wounds and bruises of a serious character, in various places.

The two watchmen were by order of the magistrate taken into custody, severely reprimanded, and compelled to find bail in $500 each, to appear for trial at the Sessions.—Courier.

There will shortly be a very formidable squadron of our ships of war in the Gulf of Mexico, greater in the number and calibre of their rigging vessels than, perhaps, has ever been under the command of a single officer, or embarked at a single foreign port in peace. In the first place, the frigate Constitution will be at Vera Cruz. The squadron of Commodore Shubrick consists of the flag ship Medusa, the Ontario, Vandalia, Anson, Erie, Warren, and Natchez, stands off.

When the Constitution joins the squadron, we will be able to frighten the Mexicans as easily as the French did. There must be some gain in keeping such a heavy naval force in the Gulf of Mexico.—Norfolk Beacon.

AN ABDUCTION.

It is stated that a young and beautiful girl, 17 years of age, was on Wednesday last decoyed from her home in New York, by a villainous, married man, who it is supposed has won the affections of his intended victim through false representations of his circumstances and position. The N. Y. Transcript says: The distracted mother of the poor girl procured a warrant for the apprehension of the villainous vagabond, but although the officers succeeded in arresting him, they could procure clings of the young runaway, and by hiding her as yet remains unknown to those who are her interests and comfort most at heart. The matter will undergo a legal investigation, and a civil as well as a criminal trial—we are from stating more at present, as it might have a tendency to injure some persons, indirectly connected with the transaction, who are not properly amenable to censure. When the guilty party shall be brought to justice,—so as to be answer for the iniquity alleged against him—then will we not hesitate to hold him up to the scorn he richly merits.

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.

The services connected with this body were held on Sunday evening by a benediction from Bishop Moore, who addressed his brethren in a most touching manner. The benediction was in the most touching manner. The venerable prelate—venerable in years and in the services rendered the Christian cause—has alluded to the fact that he had been more than a half a century in the Ministry, and that a quarter of one in the charge of this Convention. Indeed the earliest recollections of the solemnities of religion, by many even of the middle aged of his congregation, are connected with the presence of the Bishop in the services of the sanctuary, and it must be gratifying to his friends to perceive that he still retains a degree of vigor of mind and body which is the augury of yet longer and greater service in the cause to which he has devoted his life. His address at the grave of Mr. Wickham would be creditable, in a literary point of view, to the fresh years of his manhood.

Yesterday morning many of the Clergy and their visitors left town, and about nine in the morning, the harbor was quite animated by the departure of the various steamers for Richmond, Petersburg, Fredericksburg, Old Point, Smithsburg, and the intermediate district. The number of visitors present during the services of the Convention could not have been less than 2000. In the Sabbath the pulpits of the Baptist, Methodist, and Presbyterian Churches were filled with the Clergy of the Convention, and there were more persons, perhaps assembled in the different Churches on Sunday than we have known at any other time. The visitors alone would create a marked difference, while many were induced by the fame of the speakers to attend divine service.

Norfolk Beacon, May 21.

The following narrative, copied from the Louisiana Advertiser, strikingly illustrates the truth of the declaration that "the way of the transgressor is hard:" Many of our readers will doubtless recollect the account of a duel, published in nearly all the city papers, about twelve or eighteen months since: fought in the neighbourhood of Houston, in which Mr. Chauncey Goodrich and Mr. Lawrence, were principals. The latter had been assistant editor of the New York Star, and was of highly respectable connections: at the first fire, if we recollect aright, he was killed. The grounds for quarrel originated in Goodrich's having had purloined from his pocket book, a bank note of one thousand dollars; this occurred in an apartment of a boarding house, in Houston, in which slept 5 or 6 young men, including Lawrence. On G.'s making known his loss, he was requested to name the person whom he suspected—and after some hesitancy, he designated L. A challenge was consequent; C. M. Stanley, son of an ex-governor of Carolina, and one of those who occupied the room common to the member already mentioned, acted as second for Lawrence.

Stanley, according to the Galveston Gazette, remained in Houston after the death of Lawrence; was taking ill, represented himself in straightened circumstances, and occasionally borrowed money to defray his expenses! Notwithstanding his apparent poverty, in a short time after he called on a Mr. Dowell, about to leave Houston for this city, and gave him a thousand dollar bank bill to purchase goods for him. Dowell, on his return, having his suspicions excited, waited on Major Holman, who had seen the note in the hands of Goodrich, and from the descriptions given by D., he, Holman, believed that sent by Stanley, to be the same. A. Dr. Smith, who had rendered Stanley assistance, and knew his circumstances, also coincided in opinion as to his guilt.

Stanley, it appears, is at present in prison—not, however, for his supposed crime—but on a positive charge of stealing $500 from a man in Houston, and to whom he afterwards returned the money, consequently the prosecution if followed up, will be less zealously conducted. Every good man will feel regret if such a ruffian escapes "unwhipped of justice"—as, from all the circumstances, it is evident he has been the pri- mary means of sending two highly deserving young men out of life. Goodrich, it is stated, struggled with remorse for the death of Lawrence, became at times partially insane, would start from his slumbers at night, scream out and rave incessantly of the circumstances connected with the duel. He afterwards wandered with a gambler, resorted to liquor, quarrelled with a gambler, who secretly entered his chamber, shot him, and then, fend-like, plunged a Bowie knife through him, so as to pin him to the mattress.

VIRGINIA ELECTIONS.

The result, as far as we have received returns, follow. We have not room to give all the details. From some of the counties we have not received the full returns; but enough to retrace the result almost certain.

CONGRESS.

- Dis. Rep. 1 Joel Hollemann, 2 Francis E. Rives, 3 John W. Jones, 4 Geo. C. Dringooole, 10 Francis Scott, 13 Linn Banks, 15 William Lucas, 16 G. B. Samuel, 17 Robert Craig, 21 Lewis Stearnod.
- Dis. Whig & Cons. 5 John T. Hill, 8 H. A. Wise, 11 John M. Bolts, 12 James Garland, 14 C. F. Merceer.

The six districts remaining to be heard from were represented in the last Congress by the following persons:

- Walter Coles, Rep. John Taliaferro, Whig.
- Archibald Stuart, Rep. Geo. W. Hopkins, Con.
- Andrew Beirne, Rep. Joseph Johnson, Rep.

Democratic gain in the House of Delegates thus far, 15. Democratic net gain in Senate and House of Delegates, 12. A gain of one on joint ballot over the Federalists and Conservatives combined.

Senatorial districts which elect two Senators, and counties which elect four-seven Delegates to be heard from.—Edlt. Post.

From the Bangor Whig, May 17. RUMOURS OF TROUBLE.

We have been favoured with the perusal of a letter dated St. Croix, No. 10, May 14, from a gentleman at that place, who writes that McLaughlin has been at Fish river, which is about 50 miles from No. 10, with 40 men, and ordered off, by letter; Capt. Nye and his men, about 30 in number; they then went down the river, it is supposed for reinforcements. The letter adds, "We immediately sent one express to Fort Fairfield for men, and one to Col. Jarvis, in forming him of the facts, and started a boat load of men, ammunition and provisions for the aid of war! We say Fish river country by the arm of the war! We have sent a force there to secure the timber, take off trespassers, and exercise jurisdiction."

If this letter writer is correct in his statement, the first act of aggression appears to have come from New Brunswick. Fish river is south of the St. John's, and it is understood, he believes, as well as any thing can be understood amid the vagueness of the terms used in all this controversy, that the jurisdiction claimed by Governor Harvey, and conceded for the present by Governor Fairfield, is only over the country north of that river. The Madawaska settlements we understand to be the country north of the St. John's, and the stipulation of Gov. Fairfield, in the agreement negotiated by General Scott, was "not to disturb by arms the province of New Brunswick in the possession of the Madawaska settlements."

But after all this there is probably some mistake in the matter.—N. Y. Com.

UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE OF EDITORS.

An Editor of a newspaper must know every thing in the world and know more than a complete Admirable Christian. He must be at home on every subject. As to politics, that matter of course is at his finger's tip, and knows all the crooks, twists and turnings, must enlighten his readers accordingly. Mathematics he must be a Sir Isaac Newton, whether the latest arithmetic, or cyphering whether the best, the very best, that is ever published. In astronomy he must tell who is the best star gazer, who points out best and most correctly, the great bear and the little bear, the hyades and pleiades. In classics he must be a S epheus and a Porson at least, as well as a Scapula (we suppose the French would call it L'epaule) in dictionaries and lexicons. In horticulture, floriculture and botany in general, he must be a Linnæus, or, to come nearer home a Bigelow, (ahem, aside, we hardly know a dahlia from a dandelion, or a butter cup from a bean pod.) In the drama he must be able to decide who are the greatest tragedians and comedians on the stage. He must be a Tama, a Cook, a Cooper, which is the thews, a Lister; he must know which is the best tragedy or comedy of the day, and must decide whether a new one of either description will succeed or even bear a reputation, or whether the author will gain or lose reputation by the production. In medicine and surgery, he must be a Dupuytren, an Abernethy, a Sir Astley Cooper, a Warren, a Danforth, a Jackson; he must know and decide which are the best means of sending two highly deserving young men out of life. Goodrich, it is stated, struggled with remorse for the death of Lawrence, became at times partially insane, would start from his slumbers at night, scream out and rave incessantly of the circumstances connected with the duel. He afterwards wandered with a gambler, resorted to liquor, quarrelled with a gambler, who secretly entered his chamber, shot him, and then, fend-like, plunged a Bowie knife through him, so as to pin him to the mattress.

tion at once true, conclusive and satisfactory, and from which there is no appeal. We would by no means wish to puff up or flatter the knowledge or judgment of an Editor, but we would merely intimate that he does know a little more of and understand a little better every subject that ever was treated on, from the science of astronomy down to the Thames Tunnel, than any other class of beings that ever existed.—Boston Centinel.

HYMENEAL.

Married, on Thursday 23d inst. by the Rev. Thomas G. Waters, Mr. RICHARD H. JERREY, to Miss ELIZABETH CARE, all of Anne Arundel County.

On Sunday evening last, in this city, by the Rev. Thomas G. Waters, Mr. JOHN HENRY PARISH, to Miss ELLEN HOLLIDAYTOKE, all of this city.

ATTENTION, ANNAPOLIS GRAYS!

YOU are hereby ordered to appear at your usual Parade Ground, State House Hill, on WEDNESDAY, the 5th of June, at 4 o'clock, P. M. in full summer dress, with arms and accoutrements in soldier-like order.

By order, EDWARD THOMPSON, O. S. May 30.

IN CHANCERY.

ORDERED, That the sale made and reported by Gabriel H. Duwall and Sumnerville Pinkney, appointed trustees by the decree passed in the cause of Samuel Kirby, and others, complainants, and Mary Hunter, and others, defendants, be ratified and confirmed, unless cause to the contrary be shown on or before the 25th day of July next, provided a copy of this order be inserted in some newspaper, once in each of three successive weeks before the 24th day of June next.

The report states the amount of sales to be $1755 00.

True copy—Test, RAMSAY WATERS, Reg. Cur. Can. Sw. May 30.

NOTICE.

THE Commissioners for Anne Arundel County will meet at the court house in the city of Annapolis, on TUESDAY, the 11th day of June next, for the purpose of hearing appeals and making transfers, and transacting the ordinary business of the Levy Court.

By order, R. J. COWMAN, Ck. April 25.

A CARD.

DR. T. J. FRANKLIN has located himself on West River, and will attend to calls in all branches of his profession. He may be found at the Farm of his father Thomas Franklin, adjoining that of the Rev. Dr. Johns. May 23.

WOOL! WOOL!

MANUFACTURED IN ALL ITS VARIOUS BRANCHES. THE subscriber informs his friends and a considerable generally, that he has built a new mill in operation a great deal more machinery than he has had heretofore. He will attend at Upper Marlboro' on Wednesday June 26th, at the Store of H. C. & P. E. Scott, for the purpose of receiving Wool, and at Queen Anne on Wednesday July 30, for the same purpose, from sunrise till sunset at each place. Wool will be received at all times at the following places, viz: Mr. Z. W. McKnew, Bladensburg; Messrs. Middleton & Beall, Washington City; and Messrs. Chase & Turner, No. 5, South Eutaw street, Baltimore. All letters addressed to the subscriber, Coleville, Montgomery county, Md. will meet with prompt attention.

THOS. FAWCETT. SAINT-MARY'S COUNTY COURT, March Term, 1839.

ORDERED BY THE COURT, That the creditors of Francis Tubman, a petitioner for the benefit of the Insolvent Laws of this State, be and appear before Saint-Mary's County Court, on the first Monday of August next, to file allegations, if any they have, and to recommend a permanent trustee for their benefit. To be published once a week for three successive months in some paper published in the State of Maryland.

By order, JO. HARRIS, Ck. JO. HARRIS, Ck. True copy, of St. Mary's County Court.

DR. ALBERT G. WELCH.

HAVING concluded his labours at the University of Maryland, informs his friends that he has returned to Annapolis, and resumed the practice of Physic and Surgery, and offers his professional services to his friends and the public. He may always be found at his residence near the Government House.

IN CHANCERY.

5th May, 1839. Joshua Green vs. Williams Fowler and John Leighton.

THE object of the bill filed in this cause is to obtain a decree for the sale of the land hereinafter mentioned, to pay the balance of the purchase money due thereon. The bill states, that the complainant, on or about the 27th day of March 1837, sold to the defendants, Williams Fowler and John Leighton, a parcel of land lying on the east side of the Susquehanna river, in Cecil county, containing about twelve and a half acres more or less, for the sum of two thousand dollars, five hundred dollars of which was to be paid in cash, five hundred dollars six months after date, and the residue in eight months from date. That the cash payment was made, but the other payments have not been made, but the same are due and owing, although the time at which the same should have been paid has elapsed. That complainant has no means of obtaining the money due as aforesaid, but by resorting to his lien upon said land. The bill also states, that the said defendants, Williams Fowler and John Leighton, reside out of the State of Maryland.

It is therefore Ordered, That the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper once in each of three successive weeks before the 17th day of June next, give notice to the said nonresident defendants of the substance and object of the bill, that they may be warned to appear in this Court in person, or by a Solicitor, on or before the 8th day of October next, to shew cause, if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

True copy—Test, RAMSAY WATERS, Reg. Cur. Can. Sw. May 16.

SAINT-MARY'S COUNTY COURT.

March Term, 1839. ORDERED BY THE COURT, That the creditors of Robert R. Medley, a petitioner for the benefit of the Insolvent Laws of this State, be and appear before Saint-Mary's County Court, on the first Monday of August next, to file allegations, if any they have, and to recommend a permanent trustee for their benefit. To be published once a week for three successive months in some paper published in the State of Maryland.

By order, JO. HARRIS, Ck. JO. HARRIS, Ck. True copy, of St. Mary's County Court. May 23.

AN ORDINANCE to provide present means for the payment of the Certificates of Debt heretofore issued by this City.

[Passed May 15th, 1839.] SECTION 1. Be it established and ordained by the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Common Council of the city of Annapolis, and by the authority of the same; That the Mayor be, and he is hereby authorized and required, to borrow upon the credit of this city, such sum not exceeding three thousand dollars, as may be necessary to redeem the Certificates of Debt issued upon the authority of this Corporation as are now pressing for payment, and that he may deliver to those who may present to him, bearing interest at six per centum per annum, payable half yearly on the first days of January and July in each year, until the principal shall be paid.

2. And be it established and ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the principal of the evidences of debt to be issued as aforesaid, shall be payable on or before the first day of January in the year eighteen hundred and forty one.

3. And be it established and ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the money to be raised under the provisions of this ordinance, shall, as fast as received, be applied exclusively to the redemption of the unpaid Certificates of the City.

JOHN MILLER, Mayor. May 23.

200 ACRES.

and if desired, a sufficient number of Slaves for the cultivation of the land. The Farm has on it a Quarter, Tobacco House, Corn House and Stable, all in good repair. The Farm has a sufficiency of wood land to furnish fuel for the occupant, and timber for repairs of the fencing and houses. There is also a good Meadow. The arable land is in a high state of cultivation. The Negroes are well disposed and capable servants. The terms, which will be accommodating, will be made known on application to SOMERVILLE PINKNEY, Annapolis. January 21.

PRINTING

Neatly executed at the OFFICE.

EMMA.

any comment, he acceded to her wish.

now to the day at which our story I have said that Mr. Lorton's first prospecting the arrival of some person, and his daughter, and Edward's were coming to take their last look had won all their hearts. A rip rolled them from the silence into loud fallen, and Mr. L. and his children, after a few brief words, down to Edward's chamber. He had a skeleton of his former self, home, and apparently beyond the II. The family, as well as Mr. round, gazing upon him with moist.

Emma silently approached the bed, and gazing one moment at the stenance of him she loved, love o her feelings, and, rushing forward, in bony hand, and exclaimed in accent to his very heart,—"Edward, I live for your own Emma." The old his eyes at the well-beloved distinctly uttering, "Dear—dearest and them again in a swoon. Sects of this rashness, Sarah hurried room, and taking her to her own two affectionate hearts unburt own sorrows. When they had calmed, Emma said, "The Doctors of live!"

"added Sarah, you fear to try a simple, harmless which I have brought with me, and if which I know!" —"For Heaven's sake give it me quick re is life there is hope." then, according to the directions," placing a box in her hands, and cation embrace their parts. weeks rolled on, but Edward was the physician who had attended that promise of hopes, and took to credit of the recovery. He little II his medicines were thrown away received by the attentive Sarah, and us secretly, but steadily and surely it cure, which the highest medical pronounced impossible. Time wore hree months from the visit of Mr. to the death bed of Edward Lor. pursuing his daily avocation in at gentleman's sons. None were sd at his recovery than Emma, and o knew her real feelings, and felt striority, conceived it his duty to a-much as possible. Emma noticed s, and attributing it to the right s, only loved him the more for his mag-as Edward was about leaving the W. called him into the library, and word of preface, but fixing his eyes a him, he said, "Edward Lorton, do I blushed, and stammered, but could s, and Mr. W. added, "Have you e. of your love?" By my hopes of happiness, never!" it carried conviction with them. was satisfied, and taking Edward's aid, "You are worthy of her—take blessing be upon you."

he from that time the marriage was and Edward upon the eve of that union, approached his sister Sarah, ted as bridesmaid, and tendering her watch and chain, begged her accep-em, not only as a mark of his love, gratitude for her unremitting atten-g his sickness, and he added that it alone he was indebted for his pro- singly refused them on that score, "I was only the nurse—Emma was an." exclaimed Edward in amazement, she prescribed, and I administered replied his still laughing sister. c, Emma," said he, turning to his ide, "what does she mean?" replied the charming bride,—"Come, tell you," and with that she took him toire in one corner of the room, and p of paper, she wrote these words: e your life to Evans' Camomils and ill, which I purchased at 100 Chat- and which have been secretly ad- to you by your sister Sarah. Thank, he Providence which directed him eir virtues known, and if any thing e, why pay me hereafter." ed her to his heart, and with a si- g upon the preserver of his life, they the expectant company.

IAN'S PORTRAIT OF FRANKLIN.

wing admirable sketch of the Am- opher, is from a new work by Lord tled—"Statesmen in the time of George III." It has not yet been published in this country. One of the most remarkable men certainly of our times as a politician, or of any age as a philosopher, was Franklin, who also stands alone in combining together these two characters, the greatest that man can sustain, and in the friendly solicitations of a number of the Voters of Anne Arundel County, the subscriber is induced to offer his services as a Candidate for SHERIFF of said County, and will endeavour so to discharge his duties; if honoured with their confidence, is to give satisfaction. JOHN S. SELBY.

CURE FOR NEURALGIA. With an extraction of the direction of his bog sty. Divining the cause, he caught up his gun and went to reconnoitre. On the way to the enclosure he discovered that the gun was unloaded. Nevertheless he continued, and falling in with a large panther, struck it over the nose with so much force, that the stock of his gun separated from with emotion, if she might see Edward once before he died—he was so kind, so good. Mr. W. alone divined the feelings that prompted this request, and estimating as he did Edward's worth, he felt proud that his daughter, with wealth, rank and station at her command, had chosen true merit as the price of her affection.

Dr. Wm. Evans, Long-cured under the treatment of Dr. Wm. Evans, 100 Chatham street, New York. Mr. Benjamin S. Jarvis, 12 Centre street, Newark, N. J. afflicted for four years with severe pains in all his joints, which were year with severe pains in all his joints, which were preserved a steady whiteness; loss of appetite, dizziness in his head, the bowels commonly very constive, the urine high coloured, and often profuse sweating, attended by sleep. The above symptoms were also at

Dr. Mrs. Anne F. Kenny, No. 115 Lewis street, between Madison and Houston sts., afflicted for ten years with the following distressing symptoms: Acid eructations, daily offensive odour in the head, loss of appetite, palpitation of her heart, giddiness and dizziness of