Correspondence of the Baltinere Patriot. ELERIDGE LANDING, July 11th, 1839.

Yesterday evening this neighbourhood was the recollection of the oldest inhabitants. Early in the evening, there was strong indications of a violent storm approaching. The clouds, which were highly charged with electricity, seemed to gather in the northwest, over the Patapseo Valley, and about six o'clock, it commenced with a heavy shower of rain of 65 mi nutes, intermixed with small hail. It then commenced bailing incessually, and continued for about half an hour-the average sizes were about 31 inches in circumference, with many of them full 5 inches. From accounts received, it seems that its width was not half a mile.— The damage to the harvest is great, large fields of grain as level with the earth as though rolled, and the Corn is nothing but ribbon, which being young will probably recover.

MOST MELANCHOLY.

By letter and verbal information we learn that a most inclancholy occurrence took place near Port Deposite on Friday last, about 2 o'clock, resulting in the death of two young men in the very flower of manhood. The circum stances were as follows:- Four incividuals, Dr. A. C. TATE, CORNELIUS J. SMITH, Jr., HENRY ARCHER and Joseph Quarte left Havre de Grace in a schooner for Port Deposite, a distance of about five miles. While on the way, at the head of Watson's Island, the wind lulled leaving the vessel in a perfect calm. Mr. Smith at this stage, left the schooner and in the effort to get into the small boat in tow of the scheoner, fell into the water; under the apprehension that he was drowning, Dr. Pate leared overboard to his rescue, and, meancho-ly to relate, both sank, to rise no mre. Mr. Archer, when he saw the danger of his friends, also sprang into the water, in the vain endeavour to save them, and narrowly scaped shar-ing their fate, as it was only by an almost superhuman effort that he disengaged himself from the death-grasp of the unfortunate Smith. Mr. Archer, in his turn, world more than probably have been drowned, but for the presence of mind of Mr. Quarle, who threw a plank to him which aided him in his escape. So soon conformity with the instructions sent to the A as the sad catastrophe was known, the citizens turned out to drag the friver for the bodies, but they were not successful until Saturday about communicate. But I think the knotty point is 12 o'clock, when both were recovered. The in a fair train of arrangement. young men who have thus so suddenly been called out of existence were highly respected where they were known, and the occurrence DESECRATION OF THE MONUMENT has cast an unusual gloom over the village of their residence. SAGO BREAD.

The London papers laud, as an important discovery, the introduction of Sago in the manufacture of bread. It was first introduced in Edinburgh, where it seems it met with a most favourable reception, both on account of its good qualities and its cheapness, and afterwards London.

THE DEBT OF THE NATION.

The National Debt we believe, has been wholly paid off; but a new debt has since been created by some of the states, of a greater a mount than the National debt over was. cording to the late Comptroller Flagg's tables, eighteen of the states have authorized a publi stock, most of which has already been and principally for canals, rail-roads and other internal improvements, of about one hundred and seventy millions of dollars, which is as much a mortgage upon our furms, as was the national debt. The interest upon this amount which is market price of sago is about 21s per cwt. in ten or twelve millions annually must be pai bond, the duty is only 1s per cwt. and it is to punctually, and the principal must be paid ultimately. And it is well to enquire who own this one hundred and seventy millions of stock To whom are we paying ten millions of dollars annually as interest? Not, we are sorry to say to members of our national family, but to fe reigners who are at least aliens to our country. if not secretly hostile to its institutions and pros perity. Most of the one hundred and seventy millions of American stocks, have been sold in Europe, to pay mercantile balances, or to provide the means of making improvements, many of which, instead of repaying the outlay, are likely for a long time to continue to be a drain upon the treasuries of the states which have made or are making them. It verily appears to us, that some of the states, and our own state a 207,463 mong the rest, have become deeply infected with the spirit of wild speculation, which so lately
