the wild schemes of personal aggrandize ent, however plausibly concealed under the ise of public improvement, which are presed on their consideration. In the hope of either nning power or winning fame, we think they ill betray a great wast of principle. The po-try of a state should be that of a discreet indi-tion—a liberal outlay upon all objects within legitimate sphere of business-and which omise at least an ultimate interest upon the pital expended. No one would commend, in individual, an expenditure which should not ly return him interest, but which should con tute a lien and cause a perpetual tax upon ha sterity. Feeling none of the fever of party conscientiously declare our belief that mil ns have been already expended by the state New York, or the responsibility of payment aned from considerations unworthy the enhitened patriot, which will not, in the present e pay an interest; but on the contrary will erate as one annual drain upon our treasury; d that if this system is followed up-call ther the wild speculation of enthusiasts, or the ad and reckless ambition of party-or the cool lculation of statesmen—the state will soon be the condition of a foolish farmer, who to grav the weak and selfish views of his children s incurred a greater debt than he can payd who must toil hard to pay the interest on e mortgage that covers his farm. Economy is commendable in a state as it is in an indivial; and though at the present time it may be shionable with neither, and may subject to dicule its advocates, it is nevertheless one of e most sterling republican virtues, essential is the parent of plenty, of contentment and of appiness. It is always most safe to err on the ere may be corrected, but it can seldom be e side of extravagance. Ferry legislator, bere he incurs a new debt, should bear in mind at the state is already pledged for forty mil-talists. Our statute books, for the last few years. ring forcibly to mind Æsop's fable of the dog charge of the butcher's tray, who unable to efend it from the avidity of other curs, said: "Well, then, I may as well have my share of he meat," and fell to accordingly, crying, "here goes! there it goes."

ons of dollars, and that the mortgage for its nyment are mostly in the hands of foreign ea.

The rapid accumulation of debt within the ast few years cannot but strike the reader with stonishment; and if it is considered that the tate of New York is already pledged, to the mount of twenty or thirty milions, beyond her resent debt to complete internal improvements Iready unauthorized; and that some of these mprovements are not likely, for a time to come, fever to pay for repairs, attendance and the inerest on the capital loaned-we say, when hese matters are duly considered, it will require o argument of ours to show that we are hasening to a dangerous crisis. Such reckless exravagance in an individual would be branded, y common consent as the height of folly, and s highly demoralizing to society.

The debts of the states have been created for he following objects, viz:

872,640,000 30,201,551 For canals. 49,871,094 For turnpike and McAdam roads, 6,618,951 8,474.634 For miscellaneous objects,

ON LOW SPIRITS:

Low spirits is a certain state of the mind, accompanied by indigestich, wherein the greatest evils are apprehended upon the elightest grounds; and the worst consequences imagined. Ancieht medical writters supposed this disease to be confined to those particular regions of the abdomen technically called hypochondria, which are situated on the right or left side of that cavity, whence comes the name hypochondriasiss.

Symptoms. The common torporeal symptoms are, flatulency in the stomach or bowels, acrid cructations, costiveness, spasmodic pains and often an utter inability of fixing the attention upon any subject of importance, or engaging in any thing that demands vigour or courage. Also languidness—the mind bectmes in ritable, thoughtful, desponding, melancholy and dejected, accompanied by a total derangement of the nervous system. The mental feelings and peculiar train of ideas that haunt the imagination and overwhelm the judgment, exhibit an infinite diversity. The wiseet and best of men are as open to this affliction as the weakers.

best of men are as open to this affliction as the weakest.

Causes. A sedentary life of any kind, especially severe study, protracted to a late hour in the night, and rarely relieved by social intercourse or exercise, a dissolute habit, great excess in eating and drinking, immoderate use of mercury, violent purgatives, the suppression of some habitual discharge, (as the obstruction of the stheffses) or long continued eruption; relaxation or debility of one or more important organs within the abdomen is a frequent cause.

Treatment. The principal objects of treatment are,
to remove indigestion, strengthen the body, and enliven
the spirits, which may be promoted by exercise, early hours, regular melals, pleasant conversation—the bowels (if costive) should to carefully regulated by the occasional use of a mild sperient. We know nothing better adapted to obtain this end, than Dr. Wm. Evans' Aperient Pills—being mild and certain in their operation. The bowels being once cleaned, his inestimable Camomile Pills, (which are tonic, anodyne, and antispasmodic) are an infallible remedy, and without dispute have proved a great blessing to the numerous public.

THE BARON VON HUTCHELER

These Fills are composed of Herbs, which exert a specific action upon the heart, give an impulse or strength to the arterial system; the blood is quickened and equalized in its circulation through all the vessels, whether of the skin, the parts situated internally, or the extremities; and as all the secretions of the body are crawn from the blood, there is a consequent in crease of every secretion, and a quickened action of the absorbent and exhalent, or discharging vessels. Ammorbid action which may have taken place is corrected, and obstructions are removed, the blood is purified, and the body resumes a healthful state.

These Fills, after much anajous toil and research, having been brought by the Proprietor to the present state of perfection, supersede the use of the innumerable other medicines; and are so well adapted to the frame, that the use of them, by maintaining the body in the due performance of its functions, and proserving the vital stream in a pure and healthy state, causes it to fast many years longer than it otherwise would, and the mind to become so composed and tranquil, that old sage when it arrices, will appear a blessing, and not (as sween it arrices, will appear a blessing, and not (as too many who have neglected their constitutions, or Nad them injured by medicines administered by ignorance) a source of misery and abbavences.
