AMERICAN PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL & MISCELLANY.

IT is a remarkable fact, that while the contrue, have, within a few years, most astonishingly muttiplied, there does not exist on the American continent a single periodical whose object is to advocate its truths, repel the attacks made noun it or appears the authorities. verts to the belief that Phrenology is the attacks made upon it, or answer the enquiries which even candid persons are dis-

the important bearings which phrenologists know their science to have on medicine, and divinity, and law, there is no publication through which, as the appropriate channel, those bearings may be pointed out. It is true that some newspapers, and also one or two works of a less ephemeral character, do occasionally admit articles in favour of phrenology; but these do not meet the present nemology: nology: but hase do not meet the present de-cessity. A periodical which is avowedly obreological—me, whose pages shall con-stitute a permanent depository of facts, and which shall be open for the expression of opinions and the record of principles connected with those facts, is now needed; and a strong feeling of this necessity, together with a belief that such a work is extensively dewanded, and will meet with encouragement and support, his induced the publisher to present the prospectus of "The American Phrenological Journal and Miscellung."

The object of this work will be to preserve from oblivion the most interesting of the very numerous facts, confirmatory and illustrative of the truth of phrenology; to show the true bearings of this science on Education, (physical, intellectual, and moral;) on the Medical Treatment of the Insame; on Jurisprudence; on Theology, and on Anne-Arundel County, Set. place in the Convention, all the dimenties which have been encountered, and which inay yet be apprehended, in the prosecution of the silk culture, as a great branch of American industry, were fully considered; and the result was an universal conviction that, now, in the words of the resolution, 'Silk may be grown in the United States, not only for domestic purposes, but as a valuable article of commercial export. The suitableness of our soil and climate to the growth and health of the worm, and the trees which supply its food; the capabilities, the habits, and the genius of our people for conducting the business through its whole process, and the price of American labour as impared the price of American labour as compared with that of silk-producing countles, all were fully canvassed, and the most sceptical became satisfied. The fact is, that our un-restrained freedom in the entertainment and discussion of various and discordant doctrines, religious and political, has imparted to us, as to our English ancestry, an omniverous appetite for knowledge, and a capacity to learn in a few years what cannot be acquired in ages, where all is dull conformity and routine of thought and of action! Thus has it happened in manufactures as in other things; American ingenuity, unrestrained by prejudice or law, has triumphed over difficu ties apparently insurmountable!
