The Jew

The Israelite as well as the Negro Has Had Some Experience in Being Persecuted.

And Yet The Jew has The Art of Money-Making.

BY OUR SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

History does not fail to furnish a parallel to the treatment which the Negro is now undergoing. The modern history of the Jews is very much like that of the colored people of this country. Previous to about one hundred years ago the Jews were cut off by legislation from their fellow citizens, excluded from all trades except that of peddling old clothes, confined to special quarters in cities, not allowed to enter certain towns, limited in their numbers in other towns, not allowed to employ Christian servants, or to become members of trades-unions.

Germany under Frederick the Great did not allow poor Jews to marry and the rich were not allowed to own land in fee or to possess more than forty houses. Their business was confined to trade and goods. It was only in 1812 that all Jews in Prussia were declared citizens and only in 1871 that political equality was given to the Jews throughout Germany. Now the Jews are engaged in all the occupations which other citizens pursue in that country. The success of the Hebrew race in business and the professions has aroused [recently] organized opposition to them, even to the extent of mob violence. When it is borne in mind that the Jews form but one per cent of the German population the prejudice is all the more uncalled for.

In Austria the treatment of the Jews was equally as bad as in Germany. In 1783, Joseph II. abolished the Leibzoll which was an odious tax imposed upon a Jew as often as he crossed the boundary of a city or petty state, even if he went in and out twenty times a day. He also abolished night notices and passport regulations, and gave the Jews permission to learn trades, art, science, and under certain restrictions agriculture. During the greater part of the present century they have been subject to special restraints. To remove from province to province they required the permission of the central government and in many parts they were not allowed to rent or purchase lands beyond their own dwellings. In 1862 they were given larger freedom.

The Jews are more numerous in Russia and are more harshly treated than in any country in the world. They are confined to a few overpopulated provinces, are loaded with special taxes, and are excluded from many vocations.

Down to recent times, England in some form or other legislated against the Jew. There was a law in England until 1846 which prescribed a special dress for Jews. Till 1828, only twelve Jewish brokers were permitted to carry on business in the city of London. No Jew could open a shop until 1832, because that permission was only granted to freemen.

Though discriminated against in France they were not ill-treated as in other countries. It has remained for the present time to show to what length the French people can go in their dealings with this people. The Dreyfus affair, which has shaken and is now shaking the very foundations of the French Republic, owes much of its bitterness to the fact that Dreyfus is a Jew. Just as this country has earned for itself an unsavory reputation on account of its treatment of the Negro so has the fair name of France been sullied by her conduct in the Dreyfus complications. Race prejudice in Paris has asserted itself even to the point of anarchy. Omitting all mention of the harsh treatment inflicted upon the Jews in ancient and medieval times, the prejudice manifested towards the Jew in modern times has been as severe as that of which the Negro has been the victim.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS.

The most excellent entertainment given by the Alumni Association of B. C. H. S., in the Music Hall, recently, was in every way a brilliant success, and reflected the highest credit upon the association and the race in general. It marked an epoch, in race progress, by the best of all proofs,—demonstration. The large audience of nearly two thousand was representative and appreciative, with a total absence of anything to induce adverse criticism.

Had it been otherwise, we as a race, would have forfeited our chances to the future use of the Music Hall, since this was our first appearance in this beautiful auditorium after considerable difficulty in obtaining it. The manager of the hall was so delighted with both the audience and the program that he informed Mr. John C. Anderson, the president, that his association could have the use of the Music Hall, whenever they desired it.

This demonstrates another important and hopeful fact relative to race development,—that there is a recognition of a differentiating progress between the two classes of our race—the religious, the cultured and refined on one hand, the irreligious, the illiterate and rowdy class, on the other. With a full recognition of this fact by the better class of the opposite race, will vanish much, if not all the opposition incident to the progress of the better class of our people.

Mr. John C. Anderson deserves the highest praise both for his orchestra and his association.

Nothing could be more relevant to our general interest and the welfare of our children, than to encourage our own teachers in their most important work.

Afro-American First Families

Dr. David Gregg, December 11, in the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, of Brooklyn, said: "Would you deny the Afro-American a place in this course of sermons on 'The Makers of the American Republic?' You cannot do that, for he was here before the Republic was and he took his humble part in the American Revolution and he has been an influence ever since, directly and indirectly shaping our National life. His pedigree is among the most ancient. He is not an alien now, no more an African than the average American is a European. He was here before the Pilgrim fathers were. He was here before the Puritans were, before the Scotch and their descendants were, before the Huguenots were. The Virginians only, the first of all the colonies, preceded him here. The Virginia colony came in 1607; the Afro-Americans came in 1619, only twelve years later. They were landed at Jamestown, Va., by a Dutch slave ship the year before the Mayflower touched Plymouth Rock. You see from this that our Afro-American citizens belong to the first families of Virginia. In America that usually pass for aristocracy. Would you rudely brush against the first families of Virginia and displace them from the ranks of 'the makers of the American Republic?' It can not be done. The Afro American is an American citizen, and he has precisely the same constitutional rights that you have; he has the same civil standing. And numerically he this day bulks more than one-eighth of the entire population of the Republic."

"Let us in no form, by nullification, or by intimidation, rob our black citizens of their right. Let us not repeat the folly of the past. If we do, God will repeat the execution of the law of righteous retribution. He will do over again what He did before and He will do it more than He did before. As a nation we must act justly with the weaker races that have come under our flag."

"We are not lacking in substance, but in intelligent direction."

CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT.

"We are not Lacking in Substance, But in Intelligent Direction."

The address of Mr. Harry T. Pratt at Music Hall, a few evenings ago, was not only a finished gem of literary production, but what is far better, it is intensely practical and suggestive. Below we give an extract, regretting only our inability to give it as delivered. Very likely next week, we shall give another portion of this admirable address. Mr. Pratt has the right idea. But right ideas must be persistently, in season and out of season, set forth. There ought to be at least some among us who are disposed to wage a ceaseless agitation along this line, until something very definite and tangible is accomplished.

"This is pre-eminently an age of stupendous material progress, and the forces of nature yield to the impact of co-operative human energy. Everywhere the tendency to work en masse is apparent, producing combinations in capital, labor, associations for benevolent and philanthropic purposes.

"Here is our great lesson—the necessity of striving jointly for the attainment of desired ends.

"We must begin to make clothes as well as wear them; produce food as well as eat it; sell as well as buy; build houses as well as live in them; in short, we must become producers as well as consumers. The 80,000 colored people in Baltimore all dress and eat; they live in houses with upholstery, ornaments and utensils. Reckoning the individual cost of living at $50 a year, a very reasonable sum, there is an annual expenditure of $4,000,000. Suppose, by a process of education and co-operation it could be arranged that at least a moiety of this sum be handled by our own tradesmen and artisans, and through them enter the different avenues of life among us, would we not be able to raise the average standard of living in a few years on account of the annual increment?"

"If our young men and women are to apply the training now given them more extensively, ourselves must produce the conditions in which their talents can be employed. If that growing and persistent class under the ban of the Scriptural injunction is to be redeemed and specialized into intelligent units, we must provide and instruct them in the use of modern appliances that they may obtain a greater margin for living from a greater efficiency in production. If we wish to change the present and erroneous method of computing our progress, we must reduce the comparative criminal disproportion.

"We are not lacking in substance, but in intelligent direction. Whatever may have been necessary thirty years ago will not suffice the present, for this is a new day involving new duties. There must be more attention paid to general progress and advancement with a view of discriminating between the accidental and the essential. We have never sufficiently appreciated the value and force of co-operative effort, and while it cannot be said entirely that our faith has adhered too strictly to the Franklinian religion of 'every man for himself,' it cannot be denied that our method has too generally been that of 'every man by himself.'"

ALL OF US.

The Negroes of this city had a big time during the holidays. All of us. We had banquets, boquets, concerts, receptions, festivities extraordinary a la Parisian and so forth, with furs and feathers, ribbons, food and wine galore. When it comes to lavishness the Negroes of Lexington, all of us, are more up to date than any set of Negroes in this part of this "land of the free and home of the brave." We spent enough money for fun and good time during the holidays to build a railroad 150 miles long. But what does it matter, the white folks have enough miles of railroad for us, all of us, to ride on with Jim Crow and accommodation thrown in.—Standard, Lexington, Ky.

Combination, Co-operation and Some Difficulties In The Way.

That there are grave difficulties in the way of successful combination and co-operation, on the part of the race, with respect to business enterprises, can not be questioned. But because such is the case, practical acquiescence in the do nothing policy is far more to our discredit, than even an ineffectual attempt to accomplish. The man who, in spite of the wreck of past failures, dares to try again, is rather the brave and manly man than he who distinguishes himself as a calamity howler every time black men are moved to try again. There is no failure in life except the failure to try again. That it is possible, in a city of large colored population, for the representative and best equipped men of color to remain sadly apathetic and indifferent with respect to opening up business avenues for their sons and daughters emphasizes so much the more the extremity of the situation.

The difficulties which confront us are easily understood by the thoughtful among us, but alas! the men are few or none who while realizing the gravity of the situation are yet persuaded that within them are undeveloped resources sufficient to overcome what seems well nigh impossible.

Want of confidence in each other and over confidence in ourselves, as individuals, constitute formidable hindrances to the success of racial business enterprises. Paradoxical as this may seem, it is, nevertheless, most true. The very best proof of the first statement is indicated in our being almost, if not altogether, a cipher in the commercial world. Not a really first-class grocery store operated by the race in this city, and yet there are eighty thousand colored consumers! And what is true of the grocery business is practically true in any other business association. A most difficult task it would be to prove the contrary of this proposition with such facts confronting us. On the other hand, as individuals, there are colored men by the hundreds who have persuaded themselves that each one of them has sufficient capability and experience to operate any business, and even to discharge the duties of any office in connection with this municipality. Men may ridicule, but these are stern difficulties, nevertheless. It is high time that we were setting ourselves to the task of changing the very unpleasant conditions which are our reproach and shame.

The most successful enterprises, as viewed purely from a business aspect are the True Reformers Association, and the African Methodist Episcopal Church. In bringing these institutions to present success there is more evidence of autocracy than of democracy, however unpleasant this may sound. In the days of Hilderbrand the Pope, as strange as it was, civilization could have more easily dispensed with the Emperor than with the Pope. The emergency demanded a man with an iron nerve who knowing the right would dare make men walk therein. The late Wm. W. Brown, the founder of the True Reformers was a veritable "boss" in the best sense of that word. The success and expansion of that magnificent organization, in its infancy, demonstrated that such a man, and

Mr. Brown was the man of the hour. His word was law. He had advisers, but, nevertheless, he was the power, and he used that tremendous power and authority for the highest good of the Order he had providentially brought into being. Much of the business success of the great African Methodist Episcopal Church is to be accounted for in the same way. The Bishops of that body have been rulers not simply in name, but in fact. And after making all due allowances for mistakes and blunders, with such tremendous power, all things considered, the seeming autocracy and iron rule of these Bishops have ministered to a development of business capacity and powers to the very great credit of the race.

It is all well enough to talk about ideal democracy, the people ruling, and such stuff, but such an ideal has never been realized upon this earth. How can an untrained mass of people, of any race, devise and direct well-conceived plans for their own amelioration? A few capable, honest, and broad-minded men characterized with the same feeling which permeated those to whom we have alluded can do much towards redeeming the race from its present submerged condition of business nonentity. They would lead by the inherent strength of their own disciplined natures, and acquired business capacity, and the people would find it most difficult, even if they so desired, to resist the irresistible tidal wave of racial advance and commercial prosperity which must surely follow intelligent and consecrated guidance.

The American Baptist of Louisville, Ky., with the last issue, entered upon its 21st. year of journalistic existence. We congratulate Editor Stewart in having come so far. The American Baptist is ably edited by a man of practical good sense. Long may it live!

The Christmas number of the Indianapolis Freeman was rich, beautiful, attractive and filled with an extraordinary amount of varied and good reading matter, a credit to Afro-American intellect from which it was evolved.

There is something peculiarly interesting and attractive about the Dallas (Texas) Express and we always peruse its columns with profit and enjoyment. In its rough and ready, trite and direct way of putting things, we are instinctively reminded of Turnerism, or the peculiar originality of the brave African Methodist Bishop Turner. Editor King knows "Negro-ology" and evidently, he is too practical a man to employ, editorially, Afro-American "spellbinders" refinement, choice diction, and elegance of expression.

That Daily Newspaper. Col. Pledger made a bold plea for a daily newspaper to be published at Washington D. C., and wanted fifty thousand dollars to make it reality. We wish such an enterprise could be located and supported at the Capitol. It would take more than $50,000 to start it. First, a building should be owned, and a first-class press bought with all the necessary appurtenances. So when a lot, building, press, etc., are paid for there wouldn't be a dollar left of the $50,000 taking it for granted that everything will be up to date. But aside from that, the time is not ripe for such a paper. The Negroes, as a mass, are not a reading people, and our experience is, that scores and scores of those who do read will not pay for their papers, and as long as they are content to be consumers, and will make no efforts to be producers the same will obtain. Time, the great revelator of all things, will settle to our eternal glory what now seems our doom.—The Pioneer Press, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Hot Stuff. Notwithstanding the fact that the Express gives more news about Negroes and their doings in one issue, than all the white newspapers in the state do in a month, still there are plenty of cheap, limber-leg, loquacious, half-educated darkies here and elsewhere, who prefer to read white papers, which would not employ a colored printer to save his life from h—l.—Dallas (Texas) Express.

THE last act of Barney Barnato's life was to make the fortune of a young ship's officer. The Diamond King of South Africa, who had been the ruin and blessing of so many lives, probably did not contemplate this result of his suicide when he leaped from the saloon deck of the royal mail steamer Scot on the way from Cape Town to Southampton. Out of 1,500 persons on board the ship but one was willing to court destruction for the chance of saving Barney Barnato, whom he barely knew. This was W. T. Clifford, fourth officer of the Scot, one of the bravest men and most powerful swimmers in the British merchant marine. His heroic effort proved futile, but it pays to be a hero for all that, since young Clifford has just won for his bride Miss Gertrude Rodney, a beautiful South African heiress, who witnessed her lover's gallant action and used it to win over an obstinate father.

Mrs. Barnato, moreover, has settled a handsome annuity on Clifford, and his Bank account is swelled to $100,000 by several testimonials of $50 each, the gifts of Johannesburg citizens and two steamship companies. South Africa has been greatly interested in the outcome of Clifford's death, and the happy culmination of it, which is to take place in Fort Elizabeth, Cape Colony, and it will be an occasion for a town demonstration and general rejoicing among admirers of the brave young Clifford.

The latest government census in India showed 6,016,769 girls between five and nine years of age, who were already married, of whom 170,000 had become widows.

RICHEST WESTERN WOMAN
Mrs. Susanna Bragsford Emery, the richest woman in Utah, and perhaps of the entire west, is in New York. Her sudden acquisition of a very large income proves her to be a remarkable woman. About five years ago her husband, A. C. Emery, died, leaving his widow a lot of supposedly worthless mining property with which to make a living. Being in great financial difficulties, she went to work, developed the property, and today Mrs. Emery receives over $6,000 a month in dividends. Her mine is known as "Silver King." The property adjoins the Great Ontario, the richest silver proposition in the world.

An income of $75,000 a year ought to satisfy any woman. But this does not represent the amount of Mrs. Emery's "spending money" by any means. Last year she became interested in the Grand Central, a gold prospect in the great Tintic, or Eureka mining district. In one year this has paid the rich widow something like $10,000, and she has recently refused to sell her interest in the mine for $100,000.

To Remove Lines of Age.
When the fine lines begin to show under the eyes procure a small package of fullers' earth and mix it with an equal quantity of wheat flour. Take a little of this and mix it into a paste with clear water. Spread it beneath the eyes and let it remain an hour, then moisten it and gently wipe it off. For wrinkles on other parts of the face make a paste of white wax and oil of sweet almonds, and apply it as hot as can be borne, using a small pine stick for the purpose, that it may be applied to the line and nowhere else.

The "Will-o'-the-Wisp."
The "will-o'-the-wisp" usually appears in marshy places or in graveyards. It is believed to be due to the spontaneous combustion of phosphuretted hydrogen from decomposing organic matter, and it issues from the soil as a long flame, while on water it inflames at the surface with the production of long wreaths of phosphoric anhydride. It can be reproduced artificially by throwing calcium phosphide into water or burying it in moist soil.

A scientific Frenchman, Dr. A. Bleunard, reports some remarkable observations of the will-o'-the-wisp at Croisic, a seaport of France, during last August and September, the lights having been visible every evening over a considerable area of water. The bubbles of gas were very large in August, during the season of thunderstorms, but became smaller and smaller as the temperature fell, until the phenomenon ceased about the 20th of September. The bubbles were mostly confined to two basins that contained no mud, but were receptacles of much fish refuse. As such organic matter as the brain of a sheep failed to produce phosphuretted hydrogen when decaying under water, the conclusion is reached that the waters of the port of Croisic must contain some rare ferments, hitherto unknown and existing only under special conditions, which decompose organic substances rich in phosphorus in a manner to set free phosphuretted hydrogen.

NERVOUS DEPRESSION.

[A TALK WITH MRS. PINKHAM.]
A woman with the blues is a very uncomfortable person. She is illogical, unhappy and frequently hysterical. The condition of the mind known as "the blues," nearly always, with women, results from diseased organs of generation.

It is a source of wonder that in this age of advanced medical science, any person should still believe that mere force of will and determination will overcome depressed spirits and nervousness in women. These troubles are indications of disease.

Every woman who doesn't understand her condition should write to Lydia E. Pinkham for her advice. Her advice is thorough common sense, and is the counsel of a learned woman of great experience. Read the story of Mrs. F. S. BENNETT, Westphalia, Kansas, as told in the following letter:

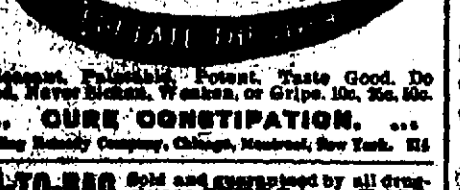

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered for over two years with falling, enlargement and ulceration of the womb, and this spring, being in such a weakened condition, caused me to flow for nearly six months. Some time ago, urged by friends, I wrote to you for advice. After using the treatment which you advised for a short time, that terrible flow stopped.

"I am now gaining strength and flesh, and have better health than I have had for the past ten years. I wish to say to all distressed, suffering women, do not suffer longer, when there is one so kind and willing to aid you."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's remedy for woman's ills. More than a million women have been benefited by it.

Every farmer's wife knows how necessary it is that the milk buckets, pans, churns, and other implements of the dairy be perfectly clean and free from taint. A common yellow soap that smells of rosin should never be used for washing these. Such soaps are made of materials that you would not use for any purpose. Besides, they are sticky and the soap will get into the cracks and corners and stay there. Ivory Soap is pure, it is well made, and only sweet, clean materials are used. Then it rinses readily.

A Fair Understanding.
A few years ago, a young man from just across the Connecticut, who was attending the village academy, became sadly infected with the notion that all the maidens were in love with him. While in this state of mind it fell to his lot one evening to see Miss H. safely to her father's domicile. On arriving at the door, the lady invited him to enter. He did so. After a few moments' conversation he arose to leave, and as Miss H. was showing him to the door, she innocently enough remarked that she would be pleased to see him again. Here was an occasion for the exercise of Jonathan's courage and moral principle. Expanding himself to his tallest height, with a graceful but determined inclination of the head, he replied:
"I should be happy, miss, to call as a friend, but not as a feller!"

THE OLD INDIAN HERB MEDICINE MAN, 616 N. EUTAW STREET, BALTO, MD.

Mr. Edwin Arthur, 1606 Jefferson street, says the old Indian Herb Medicine Man 616 N. Eutaw St., cured me of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sciatica, Rheumatism, Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Diarrhea and Bloody Flux, Blind and itching Piles, and pains and aches from the top of my head to the end of my toes, when the Doctors said there was no cure for me, unless I was cut to pieces or operated on, but the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 N. Eutaw street, saved me from such an abominable fate, also my wife was in a fearful condition, with pains and aches in her back, shoulders, arms, and neck. She was not able to move in the bed or out of bed. She had a fearful Cough, Dyspepsia, Indigestion and a fearful Liver trouble, and badly Constipated Bowels, also the Doctors said it was impossible for her to live ten days. She took five dollars worth of the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man's Herb Teas, which made her as well or healthier than she has ever been all her life. Also my grown son who was fearfully diseased with Consumption of the Throat, and Lungs, he had all kinds of aches and pains, and cancer of the stomach, his liver was in a terrible condition, his bowels would not move from 28 to 30 days, and when his bowels would move it was like death to him, for he suffered with such fearful pain, he became perfectly blind, he could not taste, hear or smell, in fact he was a total wreck in every way. He was what any sensible or smart person would call a dead person, for eight years he did not know what a feeling of life was, his skin was sallow and very yellow, and with all this fearful trouble he had dropsy in his feet, legs, thighs, bowels and stomach and Rheumatism, and would throw up everything that he ate for twenty-five to thirty days. God only knows how he ever lived. I had thirty-two doctors, and every one said there was no cure for him. But the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 N. Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., cured him in every way with his Herb teas. He only took twenty-four bottles; he also went to six of the best hospitals of America and the Hospital Doctors said there was no cure for him.

My advice is for all the sick and afflicted in any manner to go to the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man, 616 N. Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., and get cured. I have lived in Baltimore for thirty years and is well known by thousands of the very best people in Baltimore, and one of the most noted Church members and never use any deception in any manner.

Yours Respectfully,
Mr. Edwin Arthur, Mrs. Maggie Arthur, Master Chas. Arthur, 1606 E. Jefferson street.

Harry M. Utz, 1722 N. Colling-ton av., had an experience with the doctors that he will not forget easily. The treatment he received did him ten times more harm than good. He finally heard of the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man, and decided to try him. He suffered with eczema and running sores in his face, and in addition had bowel trouble. He says that after taking five bottles of the Old Indian Medicine Man's Herb Teas he was cured and he can cheerfully recommend Old Indian Her Man's Medicines to anyone.

SUCH PAINS NO MORTAL TONGUE CAN TELL.

Mr. James J. Dougherty, 530 West Franklin street, says: The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., cured me of Bright's disease of the kidneys. I was so bad that I would swell up as big as a flour barrel and such pains no mortal tongue can tell or express. Everything that I ate turned or disagreed with my stomach and made me very sick. My stomach was always sick and sour. My tongue was terribly coated and such a fearful taste! Oh! such a horrible taste! My head was always aching me in the worst way, and such fearful wind colics and sour belchings! My bowels were badly constipated, often for two or three weeks at a time. My liver was in a terrible condition. I had no appetite. I had no strength. I tried the most renowned and noted, or eminent physicians in America, as well as the finest and most noted hospitals in the United States, and they said there was no cure for me. My last physician told me that it was impossible for me to live 15 days longer. But I did not want to die. I had heard so much about the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., and, as a last resort, I tried his herb teas, and the first tablespoonful gave me great relief, and every tablespoonful gave me still greater relief until I had taken 16 bottles and I was cured and made me a well man in every way. I have been well for three years and upward. Any one doubting this statement can call or write to me and I will tell them a great deal more than this statement tells you.

CURED ME OF TONSILLITIS:

Mr. John F. Killen, Company I, First Maryland Volunteers, says: The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., cured me of tonsillitis, which I had for years, when the most advanced medical skill failed to do me any good.

JOHN F. KILLIEN.

Painful diseases are bad enough, but when a man is slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental forebodings are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no letup to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible, and under such strains men are scarcely responsible for what they do. For years I have rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of sexual weakness until it was a question whether I had not better take a dose of poison and thus end all my trouble. But providential inspiration came to my aid in the shape of a combination of medicines made of herbs, barks, roots, plants, seeds, etc., by the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md. His medicines not only completely restored the general health, but enlarged my weak, emaciated parts to natural size and vigor, and I now declare that any man who will take the trouble to stop in and see the Old Medicine Man will be amply repaid. His advice is free and his Herb Medicine, which is one of the greatest on God's earth, is within full reach of everybody. He is not a philanthropist, nor does he pose as an enthusiast, but there are thousands of men suffering the tortures of weakened manhood would be glad at once if they would only get the medicine that cured me, which is made only by the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man, the greatest healer in God's earth, 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md.

It will only cost you $1 a bottle and it will last you two weeks.

GENITAL WORMS.

Mr. C. Rutter, 1119 North Calhoun street, Baltimore, Md., says: The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., cured me of a terrible case of seat or canal worms. These worms I would pass by the thousand at a time, and if put in a bunch would be the size of a quart measure. They would itch and causing me to scratch and scratch until my rectum became as raw as a piece of beef and as sore as a carbuncle. I took all kinds of doctors' medicines, but of no avail. They would stop and then come back again every four or five days, but the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man, 616 North Eutaw street, cured me in every particular. I have no worms, no itching and no soreness. I enjoy good health now.

LIVER AND BOWEL TROUBLE.

Mr. George W. Bean, 1812 Gough street, says: The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., cured me of sciatica rheumatism, indigestion, dyspepsia, liver and bowel trouble, vertigo, lumbago, a fearful weak back and kidney and a terrible dizziness in the head. I was so dizzy at all times that I had to be catching at something at all times to keep from falling in the street. No man ever suffered so much with the back and kidneys and stomach as I did. I tried dozens of doctors and none of them could even give me relief, but made me worse and worse. I gave them all up and tried all kinds of patent medicines, salves and liniments that I saw advertised in newspapers and they all did no good, but I got a thousand times worse. I was reading the advertisements in the Baltimore Evening World and read the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man's advertisement, so that every day I went to the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man, 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., and he commenced on me with his herb teas. The first bottle I took it made me feel like a new man. So I took 12 bottles of the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man's Herb Teas and got cured in every particular. I feel so good I hardly know what to do with myself.

DIABETES OF THE KIDNEYS.

Mr. William J. Long, plumber, gasfitter and roof-timer, 302 Light street, says: The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw street, Baltimore, Md., cured me of diabetes of the kidneys and weakness of the back. My back was so weak that when I stooped down or bent over I had to pull myself up by a stick or chair, or when I did straighten up it was like death to me. With fearful pains and aches it would take the breath from me. I would pass two and three gallons of urine a day. Everything I ate or drank turned to sugar and water. I had no strength. I had no appetite. I was weaker than a new-born babe. I tried numbers of doctors and a great number of patent medicines that I saw advertised. But everything I took seemed to make me worse. The doctors said I was a hopeless case and there was no cure for me, for it was impossible for me to live but a short time, so I gave up all hope. But my friends kept telling me about the wonderful cures the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man was making that they knew of and persuaded me to try his herb teas. So I gave him a trial, and I will say before God and man he cured me in every way. I thank him for saving my life and making me a well man in every particular. Any one can come and see me at my place of business and I will tell them more than can be published in any paper.

THE SICK AND AFFLICTED

SHOULD READ AND CONSIDER THE TESTIMONIALS COMING FROM MEN ONCE NEARLY DEAD.

Here is what some of them say about their remarkable cures:

Mrs. Alfred Thorne, 349 west 21st street, says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw street, cured me of dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and badly constipated bowels, blood and Bright's disease of the kidneys and such fearful aching pains from the top of my head to the end of my toes, that no human tongue can express. My throat was so sore that my bronchial tubes were so stuffed up I could scarcely breathe before I reached the top of the stairs. My lungs were awfully weak. I had no appetite, and my stomach was always sick and sour at all times. My head was always dizzy and flighty, and forever aching and paining me. My heart was always in pain and fluttering and trembling, and it seemed to beat a million times a minute. The doctors told me I had heart trouble and said there was no cure for me, but when I went to the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man he looked at me and said he would cure me for ten dollars or he would not charge me anything, so he gave me some of his herb teas to start with, and I took his teas till I was entirely cured. Now I want everybody to know that I am as healthy as any woman in Maryland, and have no trouble in any way."

Mr. F. A. Roeder, 408 New St, Baltimore, says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man cured my son of blood-poisoning in the face, when all doctors failed to even give him any relief. But they all made him worse. But the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw St., cured him in every way. He works at Hntzler Bros.' dry goods stores, N. Howard street, Balto.

Mr. Charles W. Clifford, Mount Winans, Md., says: "The Old Indian Herb Medicine Man at 616 North Eutaw St., Balt., Md., cured me of typhoid fever, after suffering with that complaint for over five months, when all doctors failed to cure me, and said there was no cure for me. I only took $2 worth of the Old Indian Herb Medicine Man's Herb Teas, and they made me a healthy man in every way."
