Fourth Congressional District.

On Thursday of last week the long-talked-of draft was commenced, under the supervision of Capt. James Smith, provost marshal; Mr. John J. Thomas, commissioner, and Surgeon Charles Baer, at the office of the board, in Frederick. Major Geo. Lowe, who is partially blind, was employed to draw out the names, having been blindfolded for the purpose. The drawing was conducted publicly, and had the effect of attracting quite a throng of spectators anxious to witness the novel operation. Allegany county was first taken up, but as only eighty-seven men were needed to fill its quota, the drawing for that locality was soon completed. Washington county was taken up on Saturday, and was still undergoing the process up to the time of going to press. Frederick county's turn will come next, probably about the middle of the week.—Frederick Examiner.
