William Paca being sworn on the Holy Evangelis of Almighty God deposes and saith that he married in Mr. Oulany's family in the year fourteen hundred and fifty three and that he was intimately acquainted with Mr. Oulany and all her children that he was well acquainted with the principal characters in the neighbourhood of Wye Island particularly with old Mrs. Blake and her son John Blake and her daughter Mrs. Widenstrant also with Edward Tighman, Hunsley, Robert Lloyd, William Tighman and old Cook Lloyd Mr. Brown and old Adam Gray M<sup>r</sup> Grace and also with the Chees on Herring bay: he further saith that as adm<sup>r</sup> with the will and as Ex<sup>r</sup> of P<sup>r</sup> Lloyd Ches he had possession of all the papers and documents that related to old Phil. Lloyd's Estate. And the said William Paca deposes and saith that he never heard from any person whatever till lately of an Indian girl being brought up on Wye Island or that there ever were on the said Island any negroes descendants of an Indian woman; nor did he ever observe in any of the papers or documents aforesaid the least intimation of it. and he further deposes and saith that the first intimation he ever had of such Indian woman or descendants was after the petition for freedom was filed and that intimation was given him in Annapolis by some person who had heard of the petition. sworn to the 30th May 1794 -

Queries by William Paca to Mr. John Thomas

Did you ever hear from Mr. Thomas, your mother, or any of your Ancestors that Margaret the mother of the negroe who has petitioned for his freedom belonging to Mr. Chew, was a descendant from an Indian woman? Did you ever hear of an Indian girl being brought up in Phil. Lloyd's family or Wye Island, or that there were any descendants on that island of Indian woman? Was not Mr. Thomas intimate at the late Mr. S.
Chews, and often visited there?

When did Mr. Thomas die, of what age was she?

Whether she or Mr. Hepburn was the eldest sister?

I never did hear from my mother, or any of my Ancestors that Margaret was a descendant of an Indian woman; and I never did hear any thing of an Indian girl being brought up in P. Lloyd's family. My mother the late Anne Thomas was intimately acquainted with the late Samuel Chew of Herring bay, and has visited him there. He frequently visited her at West river. Anne Thomas died in May 1773 aged seventy.
She was elder than her sister the late Mary Hepburn.

Given under my hands this 16th Septem<sup>r</sup> 1794 -

Petition for freedom in the General Court

Elizabeth Chew the widow of Samuel Chew late of Queen Anns County and State of Maryland aged sixty years being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelis of Almighty God, deposes and saith that having heard Margaret the mother of Tom the petitioner when displeas<sup>d</sup> with some one of the family, say that she the said Margaret was and not be put upon by no body, for that she the said Margaret was a free woman, free as any body, if she had her rights, this deponent was induced by the above circumstance upwards of twenty years ago to make inquiry of Mrs. Mary Hepburne of Upper Marlborough in Prince Georges County and State of Maryland, which Mary Hepburn was the sister of Samuel Chew of Herring bay in Anne Arundel County and then province of Maryland which Samuel Chew intermarried with Henrietta Maria Lloyd, the only child of Philemon Lloyd of Queen Anns County and province aforesaid
