THE SENTINEL.

ROCKVILLE, MD.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1860.

CONGRESS—NO SPEAKER YET.

Yesterday's Baltimore papers, from some cause, did not reach us...

How the Message is Received.

The friends of the President have reason to be gratified at the reception which the Annual Message (given to our readers in an extra last Friday) has met from the country...

On the whole, then, this State paper must be pronounced a sensible document, with more of sober truth, and less of party spirit...

MR. FILLMORE'S LETTER.

The letter of this gentleman to the Union Meeting at New York, is entitled by the "Opposition" press of this State as being worth all the rest of the letters written upon that occasion...

Upon this the Baltimore Republican remarks: Now here is Mr. Fillmore's own admission that he signed the fugitive slave law...

DEATH OF THE U. S. TREASURER.

Hon. Samuel Casey, Treasurer of the United States, died in Kentucky on the 22d ult., after a protracted illness...

THE WEATHER, &c.

During the early part of the present week we experienced unusually cold weather for the season...

THE SPEAKER'S... Washington, Jan. 2.

At the entertainment given by Mr. Sherman to his political friends last evening, it seemed to be understood that they were steadily to adhere to him for the Speakership.

Both Boards of the City Council of Washington passed a joint resolution on the 24th instant...

Both Boards of the City Council of Washington passed a joint resolution on the 24th instant, authorizing a petition to take such steps on the subject of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal...

SENATOR Seward's progress from the standpoint in which he has just voyaged from England, to his home in Western New York, may be written down to have been one continued ovation...

Now all this simply means (says the Washington Star) that the masses of the Republican party recognize in him their approaching presidential candidate...

The Richmond Enquirer is paying tribute to Baltimore. It thinks that abolitionism is but little worse than plagiatorism...

The Port Folio (Judge's) Times publishes an order from Judge Crain, together with the account of the grand jury of Charles county, withdrawing all licenses granted to free colored persons...

A dentist, who has advertised himself for the last eighteen months in Charleston, S. C., as desiring to cure toothaches without pain, was written upon by the local press...

We regard the demonstrations over Mr. Seward's return as going to show the utter impossibility of much longer delaying the final settlement of the American slavery question...

Judge TANEY.—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Gazette speaks of the illness of Judge Taney...

At his advanced age every such attack is attended with serious apprehensions, though he has hitherto revived when hope was almost abandoned...

Abstract Papers.—An Exchange remarks: Is it not strange that the loudest noise about abolitionists will bring these vile abolition sheets to our very doors...

Let us know.—Such says a contemporary, is the simple, plain, common-sense demand of the South...

BLACK REPUBLICAN ASSOCIATION in Baltimore.—We have had placed upon our table the following printed circular:

Sir.—You are respectfully requested to attend a meeting of the Baltimore Republican Association, on Tuesday evening, the 15th inst., at Franklin Hall, 25 North Euter street.

From this it would appear that we have in our midst an organized association at war with the institutions of the State...

Letter from the State Capital.

The seventh session of the Legislature since the formation of the present constitution will convene to-morrow.

Mr. Kilbourne, of Anne Arundel county, who was a very able and useful member of the House in 1858.

The candidates for the chief clerkship are Milton V. Kidd, of Cecil county, a former member of the House...
