I Do Not Like to Hear Him.

I do not like to hear him pray,
Who loans at twenty-fire per cent.,
For that I think the borrower may
Be pressed to pay for food and rent.
And in that book we all should heed,
Which says the lender shall be blest, And sure as I have eyes to read, It does not say, "take interest."

I do not like to hear him pray For grace to spend aright the day.
Who knows his neighbor has no flour:
I'd rather see him go to mill
And buy his luckless brother bread,

And see his children cut their fill, and laugh beneath the humble shed. I do not like to hear him pray,
"Let blessings on the widow be!"
Who never seeks her home to say,
"If want o'ertakes you, come to me."
I hate the prayer so loud and long,
That's uttered for the "orphan's weal,"
By him who sees him crushed by wrong,
And only with his urs doth feel.

I do not like to hear him pray, With face as long as any rail,
Who never means his debts to pay
Because he can't by sent to jail;
For caution asks the written bond,
But friendship trusts the word alone,
And he's a knave where'er he's found,
Who never comes his debts to own.

I do not like to hear her pray, With jeweled ears and silken dress, Whose washer-woman toils all day, And then is nakedlto "work for less." Suth pions shavers I despise;
With folded hands and air demure,
They lift to heaven their "angel" eyes,
Then steal the carnings of the poor!

I do not like the soulless prayers;
If wrong I hope to be forgiven;
Nonner!'s wing then opward bears—
They're lost a million miles from Heaven
I do not like long prayers to hear,
And, studied, from the lips depart;
Out father bends a ready ear—
Liet words be few—he hears the heart!
