THE SENTINEL.

ROCKVILLE, MD.

FRIDAY, ... OCTOBER 12, 1860.

National Democratic Nominations.

FOR PRESIDENT,

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE,

OF KENTUCKY.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,

Gen. JOSEPH LANE,

OF OREGON.

Democratic Electoral Ticket.

For the State at Large:

E. LOUIS LOWE, of Frederick county;
J. LLOYD MARTIN, of Talbot county.

For the Districts:

ELIAS GRISWOLD, of Dorchester Co.;
J. BROOKE BOYLE, of Carroll Co.;
JOSHUA VANSANT, of Baltimore city;
T. PARKIN SCOTT, of Baltimore city;
JOHN RITCHIE, of Frederick Co.;
JAS. A. FRANKLIN of A. Arundel Co.

"WOLF! WOLF!"

The above is the caption of an article which appeared in the "Journal," of last week, intended, no doubt, to break the force of our article, in the "Sentinel," of the previous week, in regard to the position of HENRY WINTER DAVIS, in the coming presidential contest. We then and there charged him with the settled purpose of betraying his Bell and Everett friends into the support of Abraham Lincoln, and gave, as our authority, the fact, as proclaimed from a Black Republican stand, in New York, by his friend and eulogizer, FRENCH EVANS, the editor of the Baltimore "Patriot," the leading Bell and Everett paper in this State.

In our issue of last week, we qualified the charge somewhat, from the fact that Mr. Davis had not fully endorsed the language of his friend Evans. We now find, however, that we were too fast in making the charge dishonorable, and that we were correct in our first impressions, that Mr. Davis had really deserted his Bell and Everett friends, notwithstanding his more recent effort to shuffle out of it. In proof of our charge, we now quote the subjoined extracts from a letter of WILLIAM PRICE, Esq., one of the electors on the Bell and Everett ticket. Mr. Price is well known, throughout Maryland, as one of the oldest, most able and consistent opponents of the Democracy in the State, and his fealty to his party cannot be questioned.

Now hear what Mr. Price says of Henry Winter Davis, in his letter published in the Baltimore "Clipper," of the 2nd inst.:

To the Editor of the Baltimore Clipper:

SIR:—In the position which I occupy towards the Union party of Maryland, I feel constrained to take some notice of the speech of the Hon. H. Winter Davis, delivered at the New Assembly rooms on the evening of Thursday last. I have read the speech with some care, and regret to find so little in it which I can approve.

The theme which seems to be apparent in the mind of Mr. Davis is the Republican party—its candidate, Abraham Lincoln, and the distinguished men in and out of Congress who belong to that organization. It is unnecessary certainly at this day to give us any information about the Republican party. What we know about it is known to all America. It was conceived and brought into being as a sectional organization. It is the very thing it was intended to be. It was intended to make one section of our country hate another section of our country. It is in truth the only pure, unadulterated, organization which has ever yet appeared in our history. It comes down to the line of the Southern States and there stops, as if all beyond were enemies' territory. Mr. Seward, the High Priest of this Church, in a discourse which he delivered in Boston, in August, is reported to have said, after predicting with great confidence the election of Mr. Lincoln, "that with this victory comes the end of the power of slavery in the United States." The power of slavery is the phrase. The same language was repeated by him at Chicago. I do not quote the Sumners and Lovejoys and Grows and others of the more reckless of the partizans, but I take Governor Seward, who professes to be sincere, and to say nothing more than he means to accomplish. He seeks of the slave power, and the purpose of his party to bring that power to an end.

What that is the slave power? Not slavery in the Territories, certainly. He means the Southern States of this Union, and intends to say that with this victory comes the end of the power of the South. He means to say that the Northern and Western States have now the political power in their own hands, and intend to use it for their own exclusive benefit. He intends to say that burthens are hereafter to be borne by all the States, but that benefits are to be confined exclusively to a portion of the country, and that this state of things is to continue forever.

These are the true principles of that faction promulgated by the man who was set apart by its almost unanimous voice, but who was tricked out at the moment when the fruition of his hopes was apparently within his grasp. It is by no means wonderful that such men should be found among us, for bad men have existed in all ages, but it is strange that here in our own Maryland, belonging as it does to the honored and disfranchised portion of the Union, we should be seen walking the streets in open day, with the same purposes and principles emblazoned on their foreheads, for it seems we have a full ticket of Republican electors, proposing themselves, forsooth, for the acceptance of our people.

But we have men—we have Mr. Davis, the first missionary of this church among us.—He is astute, with wonderful felicity of speech, that he intends to vote for Mr. Bell, and yet every reason he gives in connection with that subject is a reason why Mr. Bell should not be elected. He gives us to understand that he will not vote for Lincoln, and yet, according to the doctrines he promulgates, Mr. Lincoln is the only man whose elevation to power would settle the slavery agitation forever, and give peace to a torn and agitated country.—He refers to Mr. Everett as distinguished, patriotic, conservative and moderate, but he does not forget to rake up out of the forgotten rubbish of New England politics the stale charge of his being an abolitionist.

Now, I do not question the right of any gentleman, either in or out of Congress, to promulgate whatever political opinions he may choose to entertain. But I do deny the right of any man to take a thorough out and out Lincoln speech as a professed supporter of Mr. Bell. I deny his right to come into our camp as an enemy in the guise of a friend.

Again, Mr. Price says:

"I come to the favorite idea with Mr. Davis—to associate the name and opinions of Henry Clay with those of Abraham Lincoln in this very connection. For what purpose? In the territory ceded from Mexico slavery was by the local laws already prohibited, and Mr. Clay's advice and the advice prevailed; that condition should remain unchanged. This is the full extent to which the authority of this great statesman can be invoked by the Republican party.

"But we expect to believe that Henry Clay, if he were above ground, would, under any contingency, for any consideration, accept the place which Mr. Lincoln now occupies, at the head of the Republican organization such as I have described it? Would he vote for Abraham Lincoln's preference to John Bell? What support can be derived from the name of the deceased Patriot, if it does not go to this extent? The question is, shall we vote for Lincoln? Would Mr. Clay have done so? If you cannot say he would, why refer to his name at all? What! Henry Clay to join a combination for the purpose of disfranchising one-half of the nation for the benefit of the other half? I was a follower of Henry Clay for thirty years, and I must doubt the right of any man to throw this sort of calumny upon his grave. There is nothing in the history of his life to give countenance to the assertion, that he could be brought by any state of circumstances to regard any portion of his country with less favor than another.

Will the "Journal" accuse Mr. Price, one of the Bell and Everett ticket, with an attempt to "delude the unsuspecting voters of Maryland?" If so, how can he support a man with such purposes in view? Will not every vote given for Wm. Price, be an endorsement in full of his castigation of Mr. Davis? Most assuredly it will. But not only has Mr. Price thus patriotically sounded the alarm against Mr. Davis' treachery, but there is not a single Bell and Everett paper in the State, except the "Journal," bold enough to endorse the speech of Henry Winter Davis at the Assembly Rooms, on Thursday of last week, as "one of those masterly efforts which he alone can fashion and put together." Even the Baltimore "Clipper" speaks of him as one of the "Southern allies of Seward, Sumner & Co."

We, therefore, reiterate our charge against Mr. Davis, and, in the language of Wm. Price, "deny his right to make a thorough out and out Lincoln speech, as a professed supporter of Mr. Bell, and to come into the camp as an enemy in the guise of a friend."

"There is no such Word as Fail."

The Washington "Constitution," speaking of the result of the election in Pennsylvania, on Tuesday last, says: "A single battle rarely decides the fate of empires. And the preliminary struggle just over in Pennsylvania ought not to be regarded as determining the vote of that State a month hence, still less as determining the general result of the presidential contest in the North or West. We would not conceal the regret or deny the apprehensions occasioned by the defeat of Foster; but we are not on that ground to treat the triumph of Lincoln as a foregone conclusion. The vote of Tuesday reveals some facts the reverse of discouraging; whilst the general effect of Curtin's success will be considerably mitigated wherever the frauds, the falsehoods, the corruption employed in his behalf shall be as well understood as they already are by the Democrats of Philadelphia and its neighborhood.

"Nearly a month yet remains for work. The period is long enough to render possible a reversal of Tuesday's verdict, and the extent to which this shall be done depends altogether upon the spirit, the energy, the judgment with which the active and influential members of the Democratic party address themselves to the discharge of their obvious duty. The true man shows to advantage in the midst of difficulties. And it is devoutly to be hoped that the combined supporters of the Constitution throughout Pennsylvania will repudiate everything like craven counsel, and the fatalism which leads only to despair, and will promptly apply themselves to the yet practicable task of securing the vote of the State in opposition to Lincoln. It were sheer madness to accept the decision already pronounced as irrevocable, or to shuffle on to other States the burden of doing what every good citizen should help to do so long as the opportunity remains. We trust and believe, therefore, that a few days will suffice to bring about the resumption of the local canvass, with a stern resolve to secure the weight of Pennsylvania on the side of the Union in this momentous conflict with the enemies of our country's peace and prosperity.

"Assuredly, there is nothing in these passing tribulations that ought to impair the energy or slacken the exertions of national Democrats in other States. Simultaneously with the election of Curtin, we have the magnificent inauguration of the Union canvass at New York—an event which, whether considering the numbers, the character, the capacity, or the varied shades of opinion and interest that entered into it, may well encourage and strengthen conservative citizens everywhere. New York is intent upon its duty; and the difficulties that long impeded its performance will be forgotten in the enthusiasm which now animates the opponents of Lincoln and his abolition allies. The black-republican prints cannot find in Curtin's election consolation to atone for their certain defeat in New York; and our friends, North and South, should note the fact and profit by it.

"Let us not, then, waste the precious days that remain to us in idle regrets over defeats that may yet be reversed, or in the premature discussion of 'contingencies' that may never occur. With all the misgivings which passing events are calculated to engender in the hearts of the Southern people, they cannot be unmindful of the disposition that exists amongst a large part of the population in the free States to maintain intact the rights of all States under the Constitution. Fanaticism is potent in the North, no doubt, but it does not wield undisputed sway. And the least which the National Democrats of the North are entitled to claim is, that their present honorable endeavors to crush abolitionism shall not be paralyzed by any hasty balancing of adverse possibilities, or by any tame acquiescence in a result which they are doing their utmost to avert. The South will scarcely suffer the malignity of its enemies to obliterate remembrance of the fidelity of its friends."

FUSION IN NEW YORK.—It affords us infinite pleasure to announce the complete success of the fusion movement in New York, and to express our profound sense of the high honor, the self-sacrificing spirit, and the elevated patriotism shown by the Breckinridge and Lane organization in its accomplishment.

THE PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE.—Mr. Welsh, chairman of the democratic State executive committee, has called a meeting of that committee for to-day, to consider business of great importance.

THE TOBACCO WAREHOUSES.—H. H. Miles and Wm. Thompson, of B., a majority of the Commissioners named in the act of the last General Assembly of Maryland, "to provide for disposing of the State's Tobacco Warehouses, and for the building of a new Warehouse or Warehouses on Deep Water," have advertised in the Baltimore papers that they will, on the 17th of October, instant, sell the five Warehouses in the city of Baltimore, at public auction.

ADVERTISEMENTS omitted in to-day's issue, will appear next week.

THE ELECTIONS.

PENNSYLVANIA.—The election in this State, which took place on Tuesday last, has resulted in the election of Curtin, (Rep.) for Governor, by from 15,000 to 20,000 majority, and eighteen or twenty out of the twenty-five congressmen, as well as both branches of the Legislature. The following are the members elect to Congress:

Republicans.—Morris, Verree, Kelly, Davis, Hickman, Killinger, Campbell, Scranton, Grow, Hale, Junkin, (uncertain,) McPherson, Blair, Covode, Morehead, McKnight, Stewart, Patton, (uncertain,) Babbott, and Stevens, (people's candidate.)

Democrats.—Lehman, Cooper, Ancona, Lazear, (uncertain,) Johnson, and McKinty (for the short term) in the 8th district.

OHIO.—The Republican State ticket in this State has been elected by nearly 20,000 majority. A Democratic congressman has been elected in the 1st, another in the 3d, another in the 12th, and probably one in the 9th district, which will be a democratic gain of one.

INDIANA.—Returns from about twenty counties in this State are in, which show large Republican gains, and show that the State has gone republican by from 5,000 to 10,000 majority. Eight republican members of Congress are elected, and the republicans have undoubtedly a majority on joint ballot in the Legislature.

BALTIMORE CITY.—The election in this city, for mayor, which took place on Wednesday last, resulted in the election of BROWN, the reform candidate, over HINDS, the Union Constitutional alias the American candidate, by 8,104 majority.

It is stated that the election passed off in the most perfect quiet and order, the first time for many years. So much for the metropolitan police law.

FLORIDA.—The election in this State for Governor, member of Congress, and Legislature, has resulted in favor of the democrats. The majority for Governor is over 2,000.

DELAWARE.—The Democrats have carried this State by 900 majority over all the opposition combined.

SECOND SOIREE OF PROF. MARINI.—We invite the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Prof. MARINI, to be found in another part of to-day's issue. It will be seen that Prof. M. intends giving his second "Grand Soiree Dansante," in the New Agricultural Hall, of this place, on the 24th instant. Mr. M. is a Professor of Dancing in the Georgetown College, and has been teaching that delightful art in our village and Georgetown during the past summer. His Second Soiree is given at the close of his school for the present season, which will probably be re-opened during the next summer. His pupils, we understand, are to be in attendance, and will display to the assembled guests the result of the Professor's instructions, which, we doubt not, will add to his already highly acquired fame. We would advise all those who are fond of spending a few hours in this exquisite pastime, to attend as we doubt not every effort will be made by the Professor to render this one of the most delightful entertainments that has ever been given here.

THE FIRST CLASS PICTURE CAR.—We understand that the First Class Picture Car, which has been in our village for some weeks, will be closed next week, on account of the absence of the operator. This Car is the finest we have ever seen, being finished in a parlor-like style and with all the advantages of a city Gallery. Mr. BYRAN (the operator) having had a large experience, fully understands his business, and has given entire satisfaction to all who have called on him, his pictures equalling, if not surpassing, city work.

He will return to his car on Monday, October 22d, when he will stay positively but one week. We therefore advise all who wish good, clear, and life-like pictures, to take advantage of the opportunity presented.

PROTRACTED MEETING.—A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, writing from Triadelphia, in this county, under date of the 5th instant, says: "There has been in progress at this place for several weeks a protracted meeting of the Methodist Episcopal Church, under the management of the Rev. S. V. Leech. Up to this time some forty persons have professed conversion, a number of whom are heads of families."

ANOTHER QUESTION FOR DOUGLAS AND JOHNSON.—As Messrs. Douglas and Johnson have both opposed fusion with the supporters of Breckinridge and Lane in Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey, though thereby Lincoln would be defeated, and the country restored to peace and harmony, the South are entitled to know if they approve the fusion of their friends with black-republicans in Oregon, by which a black-republican Senator is to be sent in the place of the Hon. Joseph Lane? This is a vital question to the South, for it is held up to them that Lincoln can do no harm as long as the Senate is Democratic. We, therefore, in behalf of the South, repeat the inquiry: Mr. Douglas and Mr. Johnson, Do you approve of the coalition between your friends and supporters in Oregon and the black-republicans in that State by which it is attempted to elect Baker, the notorious abolitionist, to the Senate of the United States, in the place of the Hon. Joseph Lane?—Constitution.

—When Gov. Seward was asked, on his Western pilgrimage, about New York, he said when he became assured that the republican majority here was likely to fall below sixty thousand he would turn back and go to work in this State. As he has now hastened home and commenced speech-making in western New York, we suppose the conviction has been forced upon him that his party is actually in danger.—Journal of Commerce.

THE ALLEGED SLAVE PLOT.—The excitement in Princess Anne and Norfolk counties, Va., growing out of the late alleged insurrectionary plot, is subsiding. Dick Ryan, the suspected leader, has been arrested, together with eighteen or twenty other slaves, and a white man, is said to be implicated in the manufacture of pikes for the slaves.

—It is stated that new republican clubs have been formed in various parts of the West under the names of "Zouave Wide Awakes," "Rail Splitters' Battalion," "John Brown Avengers," and "Harper's Ferry Raiders."

GRAND MASS MEETING!!!

Marriage.

MARRIED, at Green Spring Run, Hampshire county, Va., on the 27th ultimo, by Rev. Mr. SEGAR, Mr. JAMES BONIFANT, of this county, and Miss L. C. CRAIGEN, of Hampshire county, Va.

Deaths.

DIED, on Sabbath, the 7th instant, at the residence of Major GEORGE PETER, from injuries sustained by a fall from his horse, JAMES HENDERSON PETER, third son of the late JOHN P. C. PETER, of Montgomery county, Maryland.

By this sad calamity, a fond mother has lost an affectionate and dutiful son; brothers and sisters, a loved and loving brother; and a large circle of relatives and friends, a youth to whom they were warmly attached, by his gentle manners and amiable disposition. He was nearly twenty years of age—in excellent health, and bright with hopes of future life.—Lingering twenty-four hours after his fall, unconscious of the grief of friends, he died, at last, without a struggle:—"I opened not my mouth, because thou didst it."

From the Marlboro' Advocate.

DIED, on Tuesday, the 25th ult., near Colesville, Montgomery county, Md., Miss FRANCES, wife of Dr. BENJAMIN HENRY, and eldest daughter of Mrs. JANE E. JONES, in the 23d year of her age.

It is with feelings of the deepest sorrow and regret that we are constrained to make this melancholy announcement, for the subject matter of this notice, whose early demise causes many an aching and bleeding heart, was well known to us to be a most amiable and lovely character, and truly may it be said, that no blom has death, in its unrelenting search to universal domain, selected for its victim a brighter example of every human virtue and perfection than the much lamented dead. We were present at the celebration of her nuptials, when her heart beat high with hope and expectation, and she, no doubt, anticipated a long life of happiness with her now lonely and deeply distressed partner; and it seems but yesterday that she was the much admired, young, beautiful and accomplished bride. Alas! what a change has ensued since then. Now, her body sleeps the sleep of death, at Glenwood, the beautiful cemetery, selected by her, for the repose of her remains, until re-animated by the voice of the Son of God, and transferred to the residence of the Saints in light. O! what shadows we are, and what shadows we pursue! To her mourning relations and remaining friends, whose loss we deeply deplore, and who have our warmest sympathies, it must be a source of the highest, the sweetest consolation to know that her spirit is happy, for, throughout her long and painful illness, which she endured with pious resignation, her great desire was to depart hence; gave the strongest demonstrations of her faith in her Saviour; spoke beautifully and eloquently of the happiness in reserve for her in the spirit land; committed her two little children to the keeping of her agonized mother, and softly and sweetly was her lamp extinguished. CLOVER-SEED GATHERER.

THIS MACHINE gathers the Clover Seed in a better manner, in less time, with less waste and inconvenience, than any other implement used for that purpose.

It is a Machine which, when used by the Farmer, he would not dispense with for double the cost.

NO FARMER should be without one. The cost is comparatively trifling.
