

THE SENTINEL.

The President's Order, or his Correspondence—Baltimore, March 11.—The permanent constitution of the "Confederate States," having been finally adopted, the restrictions of secession had been removed, and your correspondents are enabled to give you an outline of its new features, as follows:

No persons of foreign birth, not a citizen of the Confederate States, shall be allowed to vote for any officer, civil or political; State or federal.

"Under the circumstances, South Carolina is to be entitled to two representatives in Congress—One Alabama six, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana six and Texas six. Each State to be entitled to two Senators."

"The State Legislatures may impeach a judicial or federal officer, treasonable acts for said State, by a two-thirds vote."

"Both Houses of Congress may grant seats on the floor of either House to the principal officers of each executive department, with the privilege of discussing measures pertaining to his department."

"The representation of three-fifths of the slave population is contained as in the old constitution."

"Slavery is not allowed through the institution of dues, to favor any branch of industry."

"Foreign slave trade is prohibited."

"Congress is prohibited from making appropriations by a vote of two-thirds of both Houses, except such appropriations as shall be asked for by the head of some department or by the President."

"No extra compensation will be allowed any contractor or service rendered."

"Every law or resolution having the force of law passed by Congress, shall relate to the subject, and which shall be expressed by its title."

"The President, Vice-President, shall be elected for a term of six years."

"The principal officers of the department and diplomatic service shall receive, at the pleasure of the President, other than contractors shall be remunerated when their services are unnecessary, or for other good cause and reasons. Remuneration shall be reported to the Senate, if practicable. No compensation remunerated to the State, to be submitted to the Senate by a vote of two-thirds of both Houses of Congress."

"When five states shall ratify this constitution, it shall be established for all States. Until that time, the provisional constitution shall be continued in force, notwithstanding being less than a year."

VISITORS' CONVENTION.—The Convention adjourned last, voted by a vote of 107 to 100, to the thinks of the State to the Hon. John J. Crittenden for the patriotic efforts to bring about a just and peaceful adjustment of our national affairs.

Mr. Sumner addressed the convention upon presenting and advocating the provisions of adjustment adopted by the Senate.

Mr. Baldwin from the Committee on Naval Relations presented a minority report endorsing the Peace Conference propositions recommending a Border State Committee to be held at Frankfort, Ky., opposing secession and in favor of removing all causes of present complaints. He urged the presentation of national affairs to the acts of professionals.

Mr. Whitham from the committee on Naval Relations also presented another minority report, opposing secession, preparing a Border State Convention to be held at Frankfort, and favoring the Peace Conference propositions as fair and honorable adjustment.

Northerners are far from satisfied—a petition is being circulated in Boston asking Congress to consent to the secession of the cotton states, dividing up the country.

The form and arrangement which they desire for their interest, provided they do not declare freedom of navigation on the Mississippi river, and consider all right to a district of territory of six miles square, bordering on the Mississippi and opposite to the city of New Orleans, as a portion of the United States, and the property of the United States now belonging to the United States, and in consideration of which all forts, arsenals, and other property of the United States, lying within the boundaries of the above named states, shall be made over and surrendered to the country.

The petitioners think this will prevent civil war, and restore confidence in the business community, while a compact of these states would bring no benefits to the country.

The Southern Confederacy.—The permanent constitution for the Confederate States of America was signed in Montgomery, on Monday, March 11. It is a profound document, but a model of Congress states that, among its provisions is a clause making the presidential term six years; and the appointments under the same, called "advisors," to hold their offices for cause, and be liable, at any time, to be removed for cause, as in the case of the slave state of Georgia.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops in the Southern States, and conduct the operations against the Union.

Twigs is spoken of as general-in-chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy.

Sixty-four, aged 49 years.—General-in-Chief of the army of the Southern Confederacy appointed Brigadier General of the Army of the Confederate States, and has been ordered to proceed to Pensacola, and take command of all the troops