October strews the woodland o'er With meny a brilliant color: The world is brighter than be Why should our bearts be duller? Sorrow and the scarlet long Sad thoughts and sunny weather Ab, me ! this glory and this grief

Agree not well together. This is the parling season! this: And lovers now, with many a kise Their long ferewell are sighing. Why is the earth so gayly drest? This pomp that autumn beareth, A funeral seems, where every guest A bridal garment, weareth.

Each one of us, perchance, may here, On some blue morn bereafter, Return to view the gaudy year, But now with boyish laughter. We shall then be wrinkled men, Our brows with silver laden; But thou this glen may'st seek again, But never more a maiden!

Nature, perhaps, foresees that spring Will touch her teeming boso And that a few more months may bring The bee, the bird, the blossom Or would less brightly wither-The virgin that adorns them so, Will never more come hither.
