GEN. LANK.—The gallant hero, Jo. Lane, is at present residing on his farm, enjoying the social relations of family and many warm friends. We regret to learn that he recovers only slowly from the effect of the unfortunate accident which happened to him some time ago. We are informed that the wound pains him considerably at times, yet he is able to be going about.—Orgon Democrat, Nov. 5.

Hous.—Immense numbers of fattened hoge are arriving in Pittaburg daily, the number for a weak past reaching 25,000 or more Some of these were sold to packers and butchers here at figures ranging from $2.95 to $3.25 per hundred, gross. Gan. Lass .- The gallant hero, Jo. Lane,
