The present critical state of European affairs will render these publications unusually interesting during the forthcoming year. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily written news-items, crude speculations, and the ponderous tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their well-ostablished literary, scientific and theological character, we urge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

The receipt of Afrence Sheets from the Editish publishers gives additional value to their reprints, inasmuch as they can sow be placed in the hands of subscribers about as soon as the original editions.
