RYE COFFEE.

Last night I heard a Wide-Awake
What this was very long
With caps and lamp all by his self,
A singing of a song.
The song it was a pretty one,
And charmed my listening ear;
I only missed the chorus now,
And I will sing it here.
You're not strong enough for me,
Without a grain of sugar,
The bigger can be free.
I saw the cape, and well I know,
I'd seen it off before—
And off I'd seen that Land-Oh Lamp,
Go almost past my door;
But now the cape was old and torn—
The lamp it had no "oil."
Yet sweetly there that Wide-Awake,
Singing all the while,
Cooing—Oh Rye Coffee!
You're not strong enough for me,
Without a grain of sugar,
The bigger can be free.
I would not say that Wide-Awake
Was singing of the wide,
I think that Java does not suit
His taste as well as Rye—
The man who'd give Old Abe his vote,
Would likely spare the Java cup,
And swallow down the Rye!
Cooing—Oh Rye Coffee!
The wider a wake a delight—
I shall remember long how well
He sang of that night!
I wonder if that Wide-Awake,
As he sat singing there,
Intended to repudiate
His taste just as I do?
I wonder if that Wide-Awake
Was posted well as I,
That he was cheating Government
When drinking of the Rye?
Cooing—Oh Rye Coffee!
For Wide-Awakes you'll do—
But sort of patriots who'll give
The government its due.
Confounded by Rye Coffee,
Cooing coffee and all that,
That I will still drink Java, you
May say but your hat!
Confounded by the men who made
The take a dreadful thing,
But I've a better chorus here,
Which please stand up and sing.
Cooing—Oh Rye Coffee!
The matter's a matter of time,
But let us pray for the time
When Cornus shall be free.

FACT, FUN AND FANCY.

—Fancy runs most furiously when a guilty conscience drives it.
A Conductor's Sole Survivor—In a shoe rent he finds his end.
—A man's life is too long when he outlives his character, his health, and his estate.
—The man, whose voice was "still for war," has kept still ever since the war commenced.
—The editor of a paper in Indiana wants to know if the western whiskey was ever seen "coming thro' the eye."
—What will be the final signal for a gambler to give up his tricks? The sound of the last trump!
—A town pump must suffer dreadfully from cold, as it is continually running at the nose.
—Counter-pressure—a dry-goods clerk shaking hands with a pretty lady customer.
—The Auburn (N. Y.) Advertiser announces that every child in that city that has a proper respect for itself, has the measles.
—Wise men are instructed by reason; men of less understanding by experience; the most ignorant by necessity; and the heart by nature.
—An Irish doctor advertises that the deaf may hear of him at a house in Liffy street, where, also his blind patients may see him from ten till three.
—A man advertises for a "competent person to undertake the sale of a new medicine," and adds that "it will be profitable to the undertaker." No doubt of it.
—Mrs. Lacy Cupps, living in B., Illinois, recently gave birth to three fine looking male children. That's having the A-cups with a vengeance, says the Springfield Republican.
—The girls of Northampton have been sending a "kiss" editor a bishop of tany and wormwood. The wretched individual says he don't care—it's sweeter than matrimony, anyhow.
An Unfortunate Convent—One little "garden patch" of ours, says a wag, has been very unprofitable this season, very. The spails ate up the cucumbers, the chickens ate up the snails, the neighbors' cats ate up the chickens, and we are now in search of something that will eat the cats. Can any of our agricultural friends aid us?
Yes, dog your cats.
—A lady at Columbus, Ohio, inquired of the spirit rappers how many children she had?
"Four," rapped the spirit.
The husband, started at the accuracy of the reply, inquired—
"How many children have I?"
"Two!" rapped the medium.
Husband and wife looked at each other with an odd smile for a few moments and then retired non-believers.
There had been a mistake made—somewhere.
