Poetical.

Judge Not Too Harshly.
When you meet with one suspected,
Of some secret deed of shame,
And for this he is rejected,
As a thing of evil fame,
Guard this every look and action,
Speak no word of heartless blame;
For the slanderer's vile detraction,
Yet may soil thy goodly name.

When you meet with one pursuing
Way the last have entered in;
Working out his own undoing
With his recklessness and sin,
Think, if placed in his condition,
Would a kind word be in vain?
Or a look of cold suspicion
Win the lack to turn again.

There are spots that bear no flowers,
Not because the soil is bad,
But the Summer's genial showers
Never make their blossoms glad.
Better have an act that is kindly
Treated sometimes with disdain,
Than for judging others blindly
Down the innocent to pain.

The cruel and the little word
That wounded as it fell,
That chilling word of sympathy
We feel, but never tell.
The hard rebuke that chills the breast,
Whose hopes are bounding high,
In an unending word kept,
These things shall never die.

Selected Miscellany.
The Story of a Ring.
In the year 1861, a young man, then living a few miles from this city, was ordered by the State Guard as a soldier. At Spring- field, and on the reorganization of the first of the army, he took service as a volunteer. After he had joined the company in full, he was sent to the front, and participated in the battle of Lone Jack.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

The Message of Gov. Bowie was delivered to the two Houses of the General Assembly on Thursday the 11th inst. It is a document of extraordinary length—too long for our columns—treating of a large number of subjects of public interest. We publish the following com- prehensive synopsis prepared by the Baltimore Star, embracing the main features of the Mes- sage.

Following the customary recognition of the temporal blessings for which our State and people have cause to be thankful, we have an exhibit of the financial condition of the State, which is represented to be "very satisfactory." During the last fiscal year a reduction of the State debt was effected to the extent of $1,000,000. This was accomplished by dis- posing of stock owned by the State in the Baltimore and Chesapeake Canal, which a profit was realized of $1,277,000 above its par value. The actual debt of the State, bearing interest on the 30th day of September, 1871, is put down at $12,136,716 66. The total amount of the State as computed at $7,718,425 24, and the unproductive assets, chiefly bonds, &c., at $2,000,000. This last investment, which having been looked upon for nearly a quarter of a century as almost worthless, the Governor predicts will be made the source of a yearly revenue of half a million of dollars, when it will no longer be classed among the "unproductive" assets of the State. The result of the Governor's report is a confidence in the policy in the management of the canal adopted by the present board of public works. In another part of his message, the Governor refers to the results already accomplished in the completion of the public works, and to the establishment of a branch of the public works department, with further legislation to protect the people from losses through the operation of the same, is recommended.

A small appropriation to insure a supply of pure vaccine matter for the use of the count- ry, as a protection against small-pox, is sug- gested.

Federal affairs are discussed at somewhat greater length than usual, the Executive leg- islation of Congress, the suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus in South Carolina, and Federal interference in various States, under cover of the military provisions of the Reconstruction Act, are severely pointed out. The Governor, and the passage of Joint resolutions by the Senate, and the passage of Joint resolutions by the people of the State upon these subjects, is recommended.

The condition of the State Treasury is discussed in detail, and the report of the Auditor of Public Accounts is reviewed. The Governor recommends that the State Treasury be reorganized, and that the Auditor of Public Accounts be reappointed, and that the State Treasury be reorganized, and that the Auditor of Public Accounts be reappointed, and that the State Treasury be reorganized, and that the Auditor of Public Accounts be reappointed.
