Home and Friends. Oh There o's power to make each bour Assweet as Heaven deligned it ; Normed we them to bring to bome, Though few there to that find it. And lose what nature found us : For'life hath here no friends so dear As home and friends around us.

We aft destroy the present joy-For future hopes and praise them, While flowers as sweet bloom at our feet, May'd but stoop to raise them. For things afar still sweeter are,

When youth's bright spell hath bound us But soon we're taught the earth hath naugh Like bome and friends around us.

The friends that speed in time of need, When hope's lest reed is shaken, De show as still that, come what will, We are not quite forsaken.

Though all were night, if but the light m friendship's altar erowned us, Twould prove the blies of earth was this Our home and friends around us.

Useful Hints.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF FRYING .- All housekeep ers know that to fry well, their fat should be hot. But they do not attend to it half as scrupulously as they would if they understoo the true philosophy of it. Boiling, bubbling hot fat can not penetrate anything, and cooks to perfection ; tepid fat penetrates everwhere and does not cook at all, but actually prevents cooking. Any housekeeper who reads this, and chooses to profit by it, need never put any greasy, fried, halfcooked and indigestible food

The whole secret consists in having the fat boiling before the things are put in. There is one other condition which follows naturally from the first one, but which is almost invariably lost sight of even by good cooks, and that is that fat should entirely cover the article to be fried. The reason of this is, that the part not abonce covered by the fat remains cold, cools off the fat near it, and then absorbs the tepid fat the same as if it had never been hot. Frying pans should be deep, well filled. and heated to the boiling point, and then it is easy to turn out fried food nicely crisp, brown and dry on the outside, and perfectly soft. moist and well cooked within. It is a peculiarity of the outside crust of things fried in boiling fat that the fat itself drive off from it as readily as water : hence, well fried articles are neither greaty in appearance nor very greasy in reality. Frying ought to be as boil-

Cuaise Hass .- The following is an old Virginia receipt for curing hams, said to be first-

"For each hundred pounds of ham, ten pounds salt, two ounces saltpetre, two pounds sugar, and one ounce red popper, and from four to four and a half gallons of water, just enough to cover the lams after being in a water-light vessel (or enough sait to make a brine to float a fresh egg high enough, or out of the water.) From five to six weeks in brine.

Back and William William William with linear to float a fresh egg high enough, or out of the water.) From five to six weeks in brine.

Back and William will income that the five long to the lamb water. hang up, smoke, and then put in papers and bagged with the hock turned down, and hung till wanted.

TARRED PAPER UPON TERES .- It is not necessary to use tacks to fasten the tarred paper around the trunks of tiers to keep off rabbits The lower edge of the paper should be an inch or so below the surface of the soil, and the upper part fastened by a string. Tacks, huwerer, would do no appreciable harm. In the cases in which we have known of the use of the paper it has been left on all the year. that it might serve as a protection against borers in summer as well as against rabbits in

To KILL WHITE GRESS .- Ground which is inferted with white grubs or cut-worms should be turned over now. If it is possible to coax to the field a flock of poultry, they will take every worm that their sharp eyes will discorer, and follow the plow very engerly for them. Crows and skunks will more readily find these worms when the ground is turned up and PARM Accounts .- Now is the favorable opcontunity for farmers to commence keeping connut be a progressive farmer, for he cannot know whether he progresses or not. Let the farm be divided into fields be charged with the value of what it contains just now, and almais is gained for future charges and credits. Deal with each field as if you sold and bought

My friend, E. G. Howerts, Agentor Wolton, Whann & Co., Beltimore, Md.: All the constance I was induced to try a small quantity of a fertilizer prepaid. By the stone Company, in the Spring of 1800, and was so well activing with its effects on corn and isolators, that I used it on my wheat in the Foll following, and also induced several of my neighbors to use several tons. I put no other manner on for plotators, and there bod a better crop—I put the same ground, (which was thin) in wherefast Foll, with no additionof minute, except a molt spitialling of the same instance, and the result, so for, it that it is the best wheat I have seen this Spring, now leading, and other wheat is to twelve inclose
