

REPROOF.
Whisper it softly,
When nobody's near;
Let those around
Fall harsh on the ear:
She is a blossom
Too tender and frail
To meet the keen blasts
Of the pitiless gale.
Whisper it gently,
'Twill cause thee no pain,
Gentle words rarely
Are spoken in vain:
Tarets and reproaches
The stubborn may more,
But noble the conquest
When aided by love.
Whisper it kindly,
'Twill pay thee to know
Pecipient tear-drops
Down her cheeks flow.
Has she from virtue
Washed her astray,
Guide her feet gently,
Tough is the way.
She has no parent,
None of her kin,
Lead her from error,
Keep her from sin.
Does she lean on thee?
Oh, cherish the trust—
God to the merciful
Ever is just.

Useful Hints.
A New Use for Old Curries.—Old grain or three-ply carpets, however faded or worn, may be turned to good account in the following manner: Level out the carpet, and as you do so wind it in balls. When this is done, have ready some scarlet, blue, or green yarn, which, if the colors of the carpet be very dull, will help to revive them. Next take a long stick, like a yard-stick, and wrap the raveled yarn tightly around it, interspersing it with a little red and green all the way through; when the stick is full, begin to sew it along one edge, so as to secure it, and then cut it open on the other. Now do another and another stickful in the same way, until the carpet is all gone. A piece of strong crash will answer the best as a foundation for the rug we are proposing to make out of all this, and having hemmed it at each edge, begin in the middle with a tuft of bright colors, sewing the rest around on the foundation as closely as possible, row after row, until the crash is completely covered. It may thus be made as large as required, and can be trimmed to make the tufted edge. This will give you a very serviceable doormat or rug, and will wear as long as the old carpet has already done.—Harris' Bazaar.
Harrowing Corn.—A correspondent of the Western Farmer gives the following description of how to harrow his corn:
I commence just before the corn comes up and continue as needed, to keep the soil loose and weeds out of sight, until it is so tall the harrow will break it off if used. There is nothing so needful to secure a good crop of corn, with our short seasons, as frequent stirring of the soil when it is in its first stages of growth, and no tool will do this so cheaply or so thoroughly in the hill as a rightly constructed harrow. I throw back and forth until I have my hand as I desire. If the corn is rowed both ways of the field, the second harrowing will cover the top of the hill the second, and so on. I have not tilled in four years with Dent corn on my white, heavy, cold soil.
How to Save Time Sowing.—It consists merely in melting together tallow and resin, in the proportion of two parts of the former to one part of the latter, and applying the preparation hot, to the seeds of the boots and shovs, as much of it as the leather will absorb. One far, mer declares that this little receipt has been worth more than five years' subscription to the newspaper publishing it.

Wit and Humor.
An Editor answered a challenge, "when I want to die, I can shoot myself."
A woman who marries for a home pays ten times the worth of it.
"How can I expand my chest," a miserly man asked of a physician. "By carrying a large heart in it," was the reply.
The man who has got into the habit of never making any blunders, is altogether too good to live in this world.—Blindings.
After working all night at an Indiana county treasurer's safe, a gang of burglars were rejoiced to find one dollar and ten cents in its rooney recesses.
"Do you understand me, now?" thundered a country pedagogue to anurchin at whose head he threw an instead. "I've got an inkling of what you mean."
A painter, being asked to estimate the cost of painting a certain house, drew forth pencil and paper, and made the following calculation: "A naught is a naught; three into five twice you can't; I'll paint your house for fifty dollars."
A New Bedford man vented his spite by paying a judgment of $28 a limb of the law had obtained against him, in one cent pieces. The lawyer says he never before thought $28 was so much money.
A patient complained to his physician that he was pursued by a ghost the night before, as he was going home from the tavern. "What shape has it?" asked the doctor. "In the shape of a jackass," said the man. "Go home," replied the physician, "and keep sober. You were drunk last night, and frightened by your own shadow."
EXAMINATION.—A clergyman wished to know whether the children of his parishioners understood their Bible, he asked a lad one day whom he found reading the Old Testament, "who was the wickedest man."
"Moses," said the boy.
"Moses?" exclaimed the parson, "how can that be?"
"Why," said the lad, "he broke all the commandments at once."
SIR WILLIAM B., being at a parish meeting, made some proposals which were objected to by a member. Highly enraged, he said: "Sir, do you know that I have been at two universities, and at two colleges at each university?"
"Well, sir," said the farmer, "what of that? I bet a calf that sucked two cows, and the other calf I made was, that the more he sucked the greater calf he grew."
