The unanimous renomination of the Hon.

John Ritchie for Congress, in the Sixth District of this State, is a deserved tribute to an homest, faithful, and well-tried Democrat. Mr. Ritchie is a guntleman of much ability and high character, and is universally respected and extremed in the community in which he live. While in Congress he carned a reputation for excitiones attention to his public durities, which was not overshadowed by any other member of the House, and his constitution hear witness to the earnest and constitutions maneer in which he at all times adjusted himself to the honerable and responsible positions to which he was chosen by the popile of his district. Mr. Ritchie's re-election will be halled with pleasure by the popile of his district. Mr. Ritchie's re-election will be halled with pleasure by the Democrapy of Maryland, and as he will go into the fight within determination to win the battle, there is no doubt of his ability to secure an increased in the countries of the present party evants in the State, which have been followed invariably by state for state, which have been followed invariably by state, which have been followed invaria the unanimous renemination of the Hon.
