To the Voters of the City and County of Baltimore.

HAVING been encouraged by many of many friends in he city and county to offer myself as a candidate to be put in nomination for the office of SHERIFF, at the ensuing election. I hope it will not be deemed improper thus early to signify my intention, and to solicit the patronage of my friends generally, and the voters of the city and county at large.

Those who have not a personal knowlege of me, will, on enquiry, find that I have been bred to business, and have been conversant in mercantile transactions from early life-Should my fellow-cuizens think proper, at the expiration of the time of the present sheriff, to bestow on me the office, I trust my conduct therein will be such as will give satisfaction, if a dil'gent attention and a faithful discharge of the dutie. thercof, are capable of doing the same.

This Day Published, BY SAMUEL BUTLER,

· At the corner of Market and Charles-streets, Price I dollar neatly bound and lettered,

Ferdinand & Elmira. Printed from the original manuscript of an American lady, author of ' Dorval,' Julia and the Baron, and Amelia.

The writer of this instructive and amusing work, has heretofore published the effusions of her pen in New England, and there (where the flights of fancy, as if chilled by the trigid blasts of the north, are not received with that friendly welcome which they experience in the more genial climate of the south and middle states) commanded that applause, which genius and fancy never fail of producing on those liberal and candid minds who will take the trouble to discriminate between the ordinary day-labor of the common English novelist, who works for a living the same as any other mechanic, and has no other end in view than to bring forth a fashionable piece of goods, that will serve the moment and remunerate himself; and the lady of refined sentiment and correct taste, who writes for the amusement of herself, her friends and the public. It contains upwards of three hundred pages, is well printed on a new type and fine paper.

Also, just published as above, INTERESTING ANECDOTES OF THE Heroic conduct of Women, Previous to, and during the French revolution: translated from the French of M. Du Broca, and other modern writers of authenticity.

When it is considered that this work records some of the most shining virtues of humansnature, such as consumey, forticude, courage, affection, tenderness, love ard patriotism, as well as superior good sense and judgment, which have been exhibited by femal-s, and snews that the Fair Sex, when exigency requires, are by no means inferior in these virtues, and in several of them superior to what in like cases would be expected f om the boasted lords of the creation o'cluck, A.
