BALTIMORE

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1864.

We are informed from good authority that 92 hacks, 93 private carriages, 85 waggons, & 38 carts were counted on the camp-meeting ground on Sunday last.

COMMUNICATION.

On Thursday a camp meeting was commenced, agreeably to notice given in the several papers, on a piece of ground, about 11 miles from this city, which had been previously offered to the committee of arrangement for that purpose, by Gen. Ridgely.

How pleasing was the sight to the true and pious follower of Christ. To see the knees of both the aged and youthful bowed before the awful throne of an omnipotent God—to see their uplifted hands, imploring the "forgiveness of sins," from a merciful Father, through the divine intercession of his martyred son, and begging his aid in the dissemination of true gospel light.

FOR THE AMERICAN.

To the voters of the city of Baltimore. THE time now approaches when you will again be called upon, agreeably to the laws of your country, to select and make choice of suitable characters to guard and protect your rights. Permit me then, as a fellow-citizen and lover of our common country, to call your attention to the importance of the trust you will vest in those whom you may elect, as your representatives in the next general assembly of this state.

You will oblige one of your democratic subscribers, by inserting in your paper the following nomination, taken from the Federal Gazette of last evening.

From the FEDERAL GAZETTE. Messrs. Taint & Brown. Permit me, through the medium of your paper, to nominate, Colonel John Sticker, a candidate to represent the city of Baltimore, in the congress of the United States. If talents and extensive information; if a particular acquaintance with commercial affairs; if unquestionable principles, and a fervent zeal for his country's good are qualities that entitle a candidate to our confidence, he possesses them to an eminent degree. Add to these, that he is a native American.
