BALTIMORE SATURIJAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1804.

*Publius, is in type; but is necessarily omitted to-day,

Pursuant to appointment, the conferrees appointed at the different ward meetings, of the democratic republicans, met at Mr. Stevenson's, and after some deliberation determined, unanimously, that they would recommend to their fellow citizens, for their support at the ensuing election,

For representatives to congress, WM. MAC CREERY, and N. R. MOORE, esqs.

For delegates to the general assembly. THOMAS DIXON, and JOHN STEPHEN, esqs:

In giving, to day, the proceedings of the meetings, in all the wards in the city, we surely present Mr. Brown with a delestable treat-to which his restect ons on the very powerful influence the active measures had, that he adopted, to prevent them, must afford a releshing sauce. He flattered himself, no doubt, with an idea, founded on his vanity and self-sufficient consequential greatness, that he could put a stop to them-and to do this, be conceived it was only necessary to give an expression of his disapprobation, by a volley of low-bred, pityful blackguardism, against certain respectable characters who first supported them -this, as he supposed, would deter others from coming forward; but, in the issue, however, he finds he is less mighty than he expected, as republicans are numerous, who bid defiance to his base attacks.

The Gazette, on the subject of the Meeting in the Fifth Ward, shall be noticed in our next.

In consequence of Mr. William Wilson's having declined standing a candidate, as an elector of a mayor, &c. for the THIRD ward, we are authorised to state, that, if elected, Mr. James Mosher will serve in that capacity.

It was stated at the meeting of the Fourth Ward that Mr. G. P. KREPORTS declined serving in the first branch of the city council—we are authorised to state that it was not correct, and that he will serve, if elected—of course

G. P. Keeports and

Chr. Raborg will be generally supported by the DEMOCRATIC REPUBLICANS.

COMMUNICATION.

Messrs. PRINTERS,

Gentlemen, OBSERVING a paragraph in Dobbin's paper of this morning, censuring the conduct of a certain person, at the meeting of the fifth ward, last evening, and charging him with indeco rum. That the person alluded to, eitherdirectly or indirectly interfered in the business of that meeting, is a palpable faisehood; but it is well known, that last e vening was not the first time the writer of that paragraph has intruded, and made himself conspicious, as he fir quent-ly gets STRIKING proofs and personal marks to shew. September 28:

Musical Product. The famous Spanish Singer, Donna Isabella Coibran, is on her way from Italy to Paris. Tois virtuoso, who is not yet twenty years old. is already considered as the first singer of our times. At three years of age, she sung very well, and at six she was regarded as a wonder. The last co cert sie gave at Aladrid before her departure brought her in 40,000 reals (6,0001.) She has, at the requisition of the Emperor Napoleon, obtained permission to travel for twelve months, eight of which she will pass at Paris. On the day of the Emperor's Coronation, she is to sing for the first time. From the Emperor's private purse 100,000 livres (4,000l.) are assigned for her expenses during her residence in France, not including presents, and what she will gain if permitted to sing before the public,

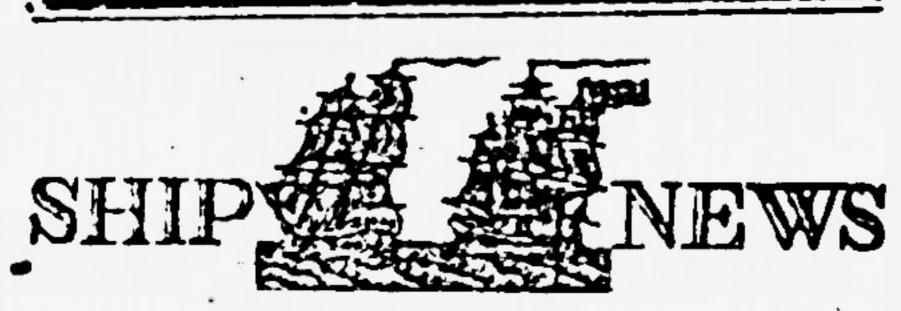

Some of our cotemporaries doubt (says an English paper of August 6) whether any treaty has been concluded between this country and Russia. - We can assure them that the treaty was signed by Lord Harrowby and Count Woronzo, on Tuesday last, before his majesty went down to the House of Peers. Other powers are to be invited to accede to it.

The state coach for Bonaparte's coronation is making at Paris, it will, it is said, cost 800,000 livres.

Nothing is a greater proof of our progress in refinement than the modern revolution in our English nomenclature. In days of yore an empress was content to be called Mound, or a heroine Joan. In these days our milkmaids are Carolines and Arabellas : our fish hags Louisas and Sophias. Passing through a street the other day, our ears were assailed by the roise of a mother exclaiming, "Julia Maria Matilda, come out of the kennel, you dirty listle sow. [Lond pap.

Departed this life, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland Mrs. Elizabeth Botner, in the 57th year of her age. She was long a respectable inhabitant of Baltimore; and in comp'iment to her m-mory, a funeral discourse will he préached at the request of her friends by the Revd. Dr. Rattoone, at Christ church, 11 o'clock Sunday morning next. .
