Congress

OF THE United States of America.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Thursday, November 8, 1864.

Mr. Early being already on two committees, was excused from serving on the committee of accounts, and Mr. Conrad appointed in his stead.

Mr. Speaker laid on the table a return from the governor of New York, of the election of Gordon S. Mumford to the next congress, in the room of Mr. Tomkins resigned.

Mr. Lattimore presented a memorial from the board of trustees of Jefferson college, in the Mississippi territory, expressing their apprehension of losing the lot at Natchez, with which that institution had been endowed, and praying congress to secure them to the same. The petition was referred to Messrs. Linnicum, T. M. Randolph, Stedman, Alston and Elliott.

The petitions of William Dumbard and of the Mayor and corporation of the city of Nashville, were referred to the same committee.

The motion made yesterday by Dr. Leib, was taken into consideration and an amendment was proposed by adding "Blacks and People of colour, other than freemen, shall be excluded from the gallery."

This gave rise to some conversation, after which the amendment, upon a division of the house, appeared to have but one member in its favour.

On a question on the resolution to exclude all persons from the lobby except members of the Senate and Stenographers, was taken and lost, only 32 members voting for it.

Mr. J. Clay offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to present in the name of congress to captain Stephen Decatur, a sword of the value of $10,000, and to each of the officers and crew of the United States' Keokuk Intrepid, a month's pay, as a testimony of the high sense entertained by congress of the gallantry, good conduct and services of captain Decatur, the officers and crew of the said Keokuk, in attacking and destroying a Tripitan frigate of 44 guns, late the United States' frigate Philadelphia.

The resolution was referred to a committee of the whole on the state of the Union, and ordered to be printed.

The committee of revival and unfinished business made a report, which was received and ordered to be printed for the use of the members.

Adjourned. Committee of post office and post roads. Messrs. Newton, Thomas, Hannah, N. Mitchell, Lowmces, G. W. Campbell & Southard.

Committee to whom was referred the articles of impeachment against Samuel Chase—Messrs. J. Randolph, J. C. Clay, Early, Boyle and John Rice (of Ten.)

Friday, November 9, 1864.

The petition of John Steel, presented last session, and the petition of captain George Little, one of the Boston fregate, now first presented, for indemnity against a judgement in the supreme court for 10,132 dollars 89 cents damages, for the illegal detention of a foreign vessel taken in the West Indies, in the year 1799, were referred to the committee of claims.

D Mitchell moved the order of the day on the President's message, but on Mr. J. Randolph's request for a little more time for members to digest and arrange the various important points contained in that communication, Doctor Mitchell withdrew his motion.

M. Kennedy presented a petition from a number of mercantile traders and farmers of the Edenton district, in North Carolina, praying the establishment of a port of entry and delivery at Plymouth. The new district to comprehend all the creeks and harbours on the Roanoke and Currituck rivers—referred to the committee of commerce and manufactures, together with a petition presented at the last session on the same subject.

Mr. J. Clay's motion relative to captain Decatur, the officers and crew of the Intrepid keokuk, was taken up in committee of the whole.

Mr. Varnum in the chair. On motion of Mr. Clay the resolution was altered by striking out after the word "sword," the words "of the value of $10,000," and filling up the other blank with the word "two," thereby giving the officers and crew two months pay.

Mr. J. Clay, with a view of shewing the propriety of the measure, read extracts of letters written by commodore Peble and lieutenant Decatur, which had been obtained from the secretary of the navy; they contained an account of the circumstances attending this honorable exploit, which have heretofore been printed in the public newspapers.

The committee rose and reported the resolution as amended.

Mr. Griswold resumed the object of this step was to pay a tribute of respect to those brave men who had so gallantly achieved this glorious and dangerous enterprise. He wished to do this in a manner the most honorable & notorious, and perhaps the best course would be to obtain from the head of the navy a report of a list of the names of the officers and the number of the crew, together with a detail of the circumstances attending the event. With this view he moved to postpone the consideration of the resolution reported by the committee of the whole till to-morrow, in order to introduce a resolution to this effect: That the secretary of the navy be referred to communicate to this house the names of the officers and the number of men employed in the destruction of the frigate in the harbor of Tripoli, together with a statement of the circumstances attending that event.

The postponement was agreed to without opposition, and the resolution of Mr. Griswold was adopted with a small variation suggested by Mr. J. R. Randolph, and acquiesced in by the house, viz: "That the president of the United States be requested to cause to be laid before this house, &c."

Mr. J. Clay and Mr. T. M. Randolph were appointed a committee to wait on the president and communicate the request of the house.

On motion of Mr. Holmes, it was agreed that when the house adjourns, it adjourns till Monday next.
