

BOSTON, February 21.
Extract of a letter from Cadix, to a gentleman in this town.
"We continue yet in the same uncertainty, regarding war. Yet it cannot be doubted any longer, our government having laid an embargo on all the English property in this country.
"Our markets stand thus:—Flour 21 a 22 dollars. Wheat 140 a 145. Corn 3 1/2 dollars. Rice 9 dollars. Fish 7 1/2 a 8 dollars. Staves 130 a 135. Bees Wax 18 a 20 dollars.

PHILADELPHIA, February 28.
Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Presqu Isle, dated January 27, 1805.
We have had a very hard winter, so far; a great deal of snow; but people are healthy, and trade increases every day. Above 4000 barrels of salt have been hauled over from this place to La Beauf, this winter; and traders are sending down to Baltimore, for more, to be sent on the ice, on sleds:—there is now advertisements up, for 30 to fetch salt upon the ice. What a vast benefit the salt trade will be to this country! The salt taken over to La Beauf, and sent down the river this fall and winter, has caused a great deal of money to be left in this country; a great deal of salt has gone down as far as Cincinnati. There are this winter, between 30 and 40 flat bottomed boats building at La Beauf, to carry salt and other produce, down French Creek against the spring opens, to go to Cincinnati, and there is a vessel building here, to sail on the lake. You may form an idea of the great advantages this country will receive from such an extensive trade as will be here in a short time. If we view its growth, what may we calculate on, in ten years from the present! Three years ago, the salt bro't here was scarce sufficient to supply the people of this place; and now we can send 5000 barrels down the Alleghany.—Land is rising to a great price, a few weeks ago a tract of 400 acres sold for 10 1/2 dollars per acre.

Extract of a letter from capt. Hunt, of the ship Sally, of and for this port, from Bordeaux, dated "St. Thomas, Jan. 24, 1805.
"We sailed from the Cordovan, the 25th Sept. and experienced from the 1st Oct. to the 10th Dec. a continued scene of violence; and tremendous gales from the westward, having sprung a leak we were obliged for the preservation of the ship to heave overboard a considerable part of her cargo, and being almost exhausted with fatigue, bore away for this Island. On the 5th of January, when 7 leagues was captured by the British Kings brig L'Epervier, captain Impy, and carried into Tortola, where they have landed the cargo and libelled that part of it on freight. If necessary I shall run the ship down here to repair.

Letters from Cape Francois to the 11th inst. received this morning by the Lovely Lucy, state, that in consequence of the scarcity of coffee, business there had become very languid.—Flour was at 17 dollars, Pork 20, but very few sales.

The place continued perfectly tranquil. An expedition against the City of St. Domingo, consisting of 15,000 troops was preparing, and it was expected would march about the 15th.

These letters also state, that the French privateers abounded in the Bites; and that one had the audacity to row into Gonaves during the night, and would have succeeded in cutting out several valuable vessels, but for a timely discovery and repulse.

The ship Louisiana, of and for this port, would sail from Port-au-Prince, on or before the 1st of April.

We learn from Washington, that the Supreme Court of the United States, have reversed the decision of Judge Washington, made in the Circuit Court of the United States, for this District, in the case of the United States and the Assignees of Peter Blight. We understand, that Judge Washington had determined, that the priority of the United States over the other creditors of Bankrupt, only extended to Custom House Bonds; and that, were the U. States had purchased Bills of Exchange, of a person who afterwards became Bankrupt, the Bills having been returned unpaid, they must rank as common creditors, and come in for a dividend of the effects of the Bankrupt. The decision of the Supreme Court establishes the priority of the United States; and we understand, that in consequence of it that greater part of the estates of two Bankrupts will go to pay the United States; thereby, depriving a large number of creditors of their dividends.

WASHINGTON CITY, March 1.

On Wednesday, the pleadings in the trial of Judge Chase were brought to a close.—Mr. Rodney finished his remarks in a speech of about half an hour's length; when Mr. J. Randolph rose about half past 11, and continued speaking till about 3 o'clock. Mr. Harper repeated his explanation, and Mr. J. Randolph followed him.

On motion of General Jackson, the court came to a resolution to pronounce judgement on Friday at 12 o'clock.—(This day.)

Thus are the proceedings, in this important case, nearly brought to a close, after a full, patient and deliberate hearing. In no instance, perhaps, in this country, or in any other, has a tribunal of justice exhibited more honorable traits of impartiality, or dignified deportment. During the whole progress of the trial a degree of order and decorum has been preserved, which reflects high honor on the Senate of the United States, and the individual who presides over their deliberations.

IN SENATE.
WEDNESDAY, February 27.

Agreeably to notice, Mr. LOGAN asked leave to bring in a bill to suspend trade and intercourse with the island of Saint Domingo, and on the question, shall leave be given?

It was determined in the negative, by the calling vote of the vice-president.

The following resolutions were submitted to the senate by Gen. S. Smith.

Resolved, That a duty of four per cent. had been imposed by Great Britain on goods, wares and merchandise exported to the United States, and of only one and a half per cent. on similar goods, when exported to the nations of Europe, that this duty operated as a tax of one million and a half of dollars on the people of the United States, and that the duty paid by the United States, more than was paid by the nations of Europe for a similar amount of goods, was 937 500 dollars. It is also, that he had felt in the second resolution, articles usually imported from Great Britain, which in case it should be thought proper to prohibit their importation from thence, might be procured from other nations, nearly on equal terms, that he did not know whether congress would recriminate, but if such should be their will, the proper documents would be in readiness for the two houses to act upon.

Resolved, That the secretary of state be directed to lay before this house at the next meeting of congress, such laws of Great Britain as impose any higher or greater duties on the exportation of goods, wares and merchandise to the United States, than are imposed on similar goods, wares and merchandise when exported to the nations of Europe, and also to report the amount in the billing money of the exports to the United States from Great Britain and Ireland for the years 1802, 1803 and 1804, on which such duties are charged.

Resolved, That the secretary of the treasury be directed to lay before this house at the next meeting of congress, a statement showing the value (agreeably to the prime cost) in sterling money, of Irish linens, and all other manufactures of linen of sail duck, hats, looking glasses plated and glass ware, ribbons, silks of all kinds, printed linens and cotton, and the quantity of British salt and rum, imported into the United States during the years 1802 1803 and 1804, and also the value of linens imported into the United States from all other foreign nations.

(To the Editors.)

WASHINGTON CITY, March 1.

I have this moment returned from the capitol. The members of the high court of impeachment took their seats at half past 12—soon after which the president rose and directed the secretary to read the first article of impeachment against Samuel Chase, Esq.—and observed, that the question would be put to each member on each article separately; viz. "Is Samuel Chase, Esq. guilty or not guilty of a high crime or misdemeanor in the article of impeachment just read?"—the result was as follows:—

Art. Article,	Guilty.	Not Guilty.
1st Do.	16	18
2d Do.	10	24
3d Do.	18	16
4th Do.	18	16
5th Do.	—	34
6th Do.	4	30
7th Do.	10	24
8th Do.	19	15

Consequently acquitted on all the articles.

A gentleman of this city politely favored the editors with the following additional statement, relative to the votes on the trial of Judge Chase—communicated in a letter, dated

Washington, March 1, 1805.

"I have only time to inclose you a rough list of the votes as given this day on Mr. Chase's impeachment.

"The following result will show that the republicans have not been governed by party prejudice, as has been insinuated;—their votes prove that no such motive have influenced them.

NEW-YORK, February 28.

By the schooner Little Edward, from Guadaloupe, we learn, that the French privateer, Gen. Ernout, of 8 guns, arrived there the 26th of January, with part of the crews of the ship Ardent, Smith, of 14 guns, and brig Phillip, Buthingham, of Baltimore, both homeward bound from Jeremie; which the captured after a smart engagement off Crooked island about the 1st of January. The captains, mates, and 16 of the crews were put in prison at Guadaloupe; the remainder, excepting four that were killed, were put on board of American vessels. The Ardent was ordered for Point Petre, but had not arrived when captain Crowell failed from thence. The brig was ordered for St. Martin's—the privateer left them in lat. 25, long. 72. During the engagement, capt. Smit, of the Ardent, had his fingers cut off with a cutlass.

On the 28th January, the French privateer ship Grand Defree, of 20 guns, arrived with the British ship Ruby, capt. Sleight, (formerly capt. Granby) of Dublin, a prize valued at 30,000 sterling.—Two other English ships arrived about the same time, belonging to the London fleet, one of them captured by the same privateer.

Mr. Cathcart, late Consul General at Algiers, his lady and children, arrived here last night in the ship Mercury, from Leghorn.
