This Day Published,
BY WARNER & HANNA,
Price 75 Cents,
THE FIRST BALTIMORE EDITION OF
The
MODERN SONGSTER; Or,
UNIVERSAL BANQUET OF VOCAL MUSIC,
Consisting of a complete collection of the most admired American and English Songs, Ballads, Glees, &c. which have been sung with applause at the public Theatres. Also some of the best and most favorite Scotch, Irish, and Welch Songs, together with a curious collection of Original Toasts and Sentiments, used in the most polite circles, including a variety of scarce old songs, not to be found in any other collection, with suitable observations on the art of singing, necessary to be perused by all persons who wish to practice, with propriety, that agreeable pastime.
Listen to the voice of Love.

DIRECTIONS FOR SINGING.
regard to singing is, that the person who is called upon for a Song, either in public or private company, should, without making too much apology (as is often the case) do the best he can to oblige the parties. Those who are so very forward with long apologies by way of introduction, generally follow those disgusting ceremonies with a degree of affectation, which should always be avoided by such as wish to please in the agreeable pastime of Singing. In company when any person is called on who really never sings, it is sufficient we presume for the person to signify it; and all polite companies will admit the apology.
Father, with respect to the rules of this art, nothing need be said—for although much may be acquired by care and practice, yet an accomplished Singer must originally be supplied by nature with a good voice, without which none can arrive at perfection.
However, we think it absolutely necessary that people should be possessed of a good collection of all the New Songs, which will serve to refresh the memory, and be found an agreeable companion on many occasions. We trust the public will generally acknowledge, that nothing will answer that purpose better than
