REMARKABLE-We are credibly informed, as incredible as it may appear that a poor famil from one of the eatlern states, lately passed through Albany on their way to the Wellern Country for the purpose of cultivating an extensive farm which had been given to them. This fa mily consisted of a man, his wife, and twenty four sons, twenty of whom were born at ten births. They had been married only 18 years. Our informant adds that so great was the curiosity of the people in and about Albany, that hundreds growded to fre them-one gentleman pre-Tensed each of the sons with en dollarsand presents of various kinds, were heap ed upon them.

FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1805.

The Liverpool paper of the 18th March. contains a list of 120 English vessels, taken by French privateers and carried into Guadaloupe between May 1, 1803, and September 22, 1804.

The following example of "political in solerance, as despotic as wicked," is related in the Worcester Agis:

c. The Honorable Chief Justice of the C. C. P. on court-week, went into the shop of an honest and industrious mechanic of this town, who has lately commenced bulinels .- This man, though irreproachable in his chaaacter, has the missortune to follow the dictates of his own judgement, and repose considence in the General Administration. In a word he is guilty of the high crime of being a Republican. " Mr. A." said the pompous ex Senator, believe Ishave been wrong in encouraging . you in your bulinels, and recommending your work."-" How fir has not the work answered your expectations?"- That is not the point " rejoined the great man, but I understand you are a UEMOCRAT!!"__ . 44 Well fir, I hope that does not injure my wares ?"-" I do'nt know," concluded the Spient Judge, "I think no DE. MOCRAT ought ever to be truffed!!!"

The Franks enjoy privileges here, of very great importance in a country where the populace are under so little subordination. For example, if one of them hap pen to have been infulted, he has the right of causing the offender be arrested by one of the Janissaries belonging to the consul of his nation, and taken before a judge. There are consuls here from France, England, Holland, Denmark. Spain Venice and Naples.

Their are neither wells nor fountains in this place; and notwithttanging every precaution that can be taken to preserve the rain water, it often happens, in dry seasons, that none of it is to be found. Roman and African medas, both of filver and copper, are found in this country: we purch sed some copper ones, which have a horses head on one side, with a palm tree and dates on the other.

We yellerday paid a visit to the Bey, who did us the honor to give us a particu lar audience in a spacion saloon. A great number of persons, among whom the most conspicuous was his own son, were flanding before h m, while a flave with a large fan made of swan's feathers cooled the air, and drove the flies from him. He was armed with pillols and poniards You would naturally f ppose that the first compliment was made by the confol But this was not the case; a janissary stepping befire the company, alvanced towards the Bey and, after killing his hands, spoke a few words to him. The Bey at fall defired us to be frated; and soon after some slaves spread large pieces of mullin fringed with gold upon our knees, and brought us coffee and various forts of therbet. One of the flaves then poured rose water over us, whilst another perfumed us with myrrh and aloes-21 the while making several inclinations of the head.

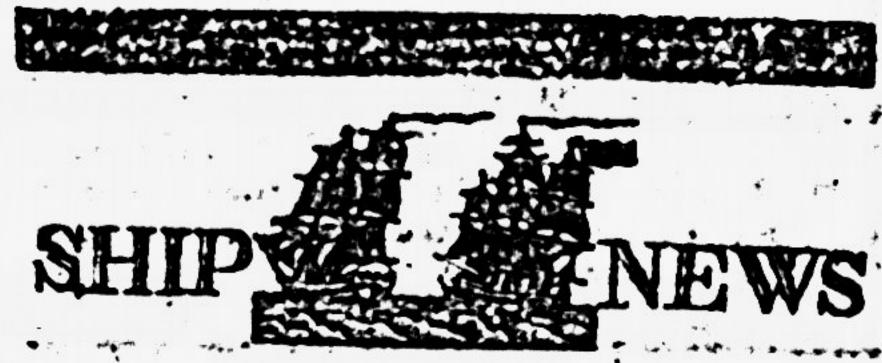

The son of the Bey having expressed a wish to see our frigate, a council was held to determine whether this proceeding was confillent with his dignity; but it being observed, that neither his father nor grandfather had ever been on board a foreign ship of war, it was decided in the negative.
