October 11.

The arrival of the sl.ip V. illiam, captain Rockwell, from Liverpool has enabled the editor of the Mercantile Advertiser to lay before the public the latest European intelligence that has hitherto reached the Ame. ican continent. Our London papers, from which the following extracts are made are to the 27th of August, inclusive. Captain R. saw a London paper of the 28th, which contained the official account of the capture of the French frigate Didon by the British frigate Phænix, after a desperate action of three hours. He left at Liverpool, the ship William Pean, to sail in a day or two; and the shift Birmingham, of Kaltimere, from Savannah, and the brig Sally from New York, both just arrived.

London, August 19. Some further accounts from the coasts were received yesterday, by government, which tend still more, it is said, to strengthen the belief that the attempt at invasion will speedily be made.—The troops continue to embark on board the fleet in the Texel. Their number is about 25,000.—Admiral Russel being reinforced with two more ships of the line, has sailed from Yarmouth Roads to proceed again to the Texel. The Boulogne squadron; however, has returned to the Downs, but it will no doubt, soon again resume its station.

A letter received by a respectable German house in this city, states, that the enemy have actually passed the Rhine, and seized a quantity of English

August 24. We have this day to announce the sailing of the combined fleet. This event rests upon the authority of the sollowing bulletin posted yesterday at Lloyd's:

" Admiralty-Office, August 23, 1805. " Dispatches from Admiral Cornwallis, dated the 19th inst. received this morning, 17 jinclose a report from captain Brace, of his jin the North Seas. The transports are to reamajesty's ship Iris, of his having on the | dezvous at the Noire. 13th, in the evening, seen the combined | bor, consisting of twenty-nine sail of the have come out of the harbour that even-

Our expectations have certainly been much disappointed by the quickness of the enemy's movements, which have deotherwise gained by the blockade of so considerable a force in Ferrol harbor; morning favoured, from an experienced officer lity that Sir Robert Calder will be able to overtake the ships which have thus succeeded in putting to sea. His force, consisting of twenty sail of the line, is, no doubt, adequate to obtain a splendid victory; but as he did not sail for Ferrol until the 17th, and the enemy's fleet was seen on the 13th in the evening, we fear the chance of gaining upon them, with the start of at least three days in their favor, is not considerable. It is evident, from the number which left Ferrol, that the vessels damaged in the action of the 22d, remained in port to repair their losses, and were replaced by those which had been so long blockaded by Sir Robert

The conjectures hazarded with respect to their destination, are as numerous as those formerly thrown out when the combined fleet sailed, after their junction with the Spanish Admiral Gravina. To intercept the homeward bound East India and China fleet, to raise the blockade of Brest, been all mentioned as their object, and each has its adherents and supporters. event of the highest importance to the destruction are they reach the British chores. French government; and should intelligence of the departure of Lord Nelson from these seas, and of Lis return to England, have reached Admiral Villeneuve, that circumstance alone may have dediced him to repass the Stratts. Yest aday the funds experimeed a very conside a de dise ami various reasons were arsigned for the sudden and favorable) change which took place in the market. It was known early in the morning that Mr. Flaworth, one of his majesty's messengers, had arrived at Lord Mul- logne on the 12th, and continued at that place grave's office, in Downing-street, from the fellowing day. Feigreburgh, and it was generally under-Satisfactory nature. But, in addition to, at halipast two o'clock. this fact, there was a report that his "A letter from Admiral Cornwaller, dated majesty's ministers, in consequence of 22d just states, that on the preceding evening pacific overmes from Bonoparte, Lad the Brest Beet, consisting of 2! sail of the line Marie-de-Capone, a city of 15,099 souls, is at present entirely of the harbour. The Admiral anchored the present entirely emphasitable. Lord Nelson attended yesterday morning at the admiralty, where he had a long conservace with Lord Barbani. A great corcourse of people crouded about the place, at xious to see lim. August-26.

The dispatches brought last Friday by Mr. Lisworth, the messenger, are now understood to be of the highest importance. They are stated to contain not ! only the ratification of the treaty between this country and the Emperor Alexander, but an account of the demand by Austria of the latter for assistance, and the determination of the court of Petersburgh to march a considerable army into the hereditury dominions, to co-operate against France. It is even mentioned in private letters, that 60,000 Russian troops had, j on the 30th ult. commenced their march for Brunn. The same accounts add, that his Prussian majesty has declared his their confederacy against Bonaparte. these statements we cannot but think there is a considerable degree of exaggeration. We not only doubt the actual march of a Russian army; but we can discover nothing in the past conduct of the king of Prussia, or in the general line of politics to which he attached to warrant the idea that he will not take part with France. It is, however, vos probable, that the ratification of the featy with Russia has been received by government. If Russia be determined upon carrying into effect with vigor and cordiality operashould declare herself in a decisive tone: but whatever may be the coalitions of the treaty, it is not at all likely that they will be allowed to transpire until the meeting of parliament.

Government was occupied the wffole of last week and is still employed in taking up a great number of transports. They are probably intended for the conveyance of Russian troops to men and Farmers, who would wish to engage their services may be required; and we learn that a Russian squadron, of ten sail of the line, is shortly expected to co-operate with us

The most active exertions are making to refleet of the enemy outside of Ferrol har- | inforce our grand fleet, and Admiral Cornwallia will shortly have thirty sail of the line under line, five frigates, and three brigs, steering ed with Sir Robert Calder. Admiral Stirling his command, exclusive of the twenty dispatchthe Council, thay have ordered, "that all ships about W. N. W. and beating to wind- sailed on Saturday in the Glory, of 98 guns, ward. At Portsmouth the Victory of 100, Be-Jona, Saturn, Hero, and Repulse, of 74 guns, will sail in the course of a few days. We understand that Lord Nelson will proceed to Plymouth to hoist his flag on board the San Josef, of 112 guns. His Lordship is to resume his command in the Mediterranean, with unlimitted

The following letter, with which we were this tains several interesting particulars worthy of notice. It is dated New Ronney, August 24. "We arrived last evening from off Boulogne, where everything remained in statu quo, except that about the enemy's vessels under Dutch colours formed a junction with the Boulogue flotilla on the 21st inst. from the eastward. Several neutrals which we have spoken corroborate each other in the report that eight line of battle ships are ready for sea in the Texel, and 400 transports, with about 2000 cavalry already embarked. About 20,000 troops are also ready near Amsterdam and its vicinity. I really think a fleet, ere next month is expired, will come up the Channel to give us a little glary, when, probably, the craft in Boulogne may atempt an invasion. There are two or three difficulties, however, that the attempt of theirs will most evidently have to contend with, be their attempt made when it may, to surmount which, is not, thank God, exactly at their command. In the first place we have ascertained that, with all their invention and emming, they cannot bring out more than 500 vessels from the three. harbours of Boulogne, at one tide, 300 from (cach ; and these only at a spring tide. This is not one third of their number, and will lie open to the attack of our squadron from the meatent the second division of their flotalla begins to and to release the expedition in the move out.
