Die I, at his seat opposite Joppa, in Baitimore county, on Wednesday evening last after a painful illness, JOHN YOUNG DAY, Esq. in thetthirty third year of his age. He was endowed with an enlightene? and well culfirsted mind, which added to his natural turn for sociability, rendered him a desirable companion and friend. He possessed and practised all the qualities of an affectionate husband, a tender father, a good son, and a sincere friend; and the writer of this, to whom the deceased was well known, feel's a pleasure in saying, that from the Juvenile engagements of an academy to the more exalted station of man, he ever displayed an urbanity of mind and a propensity for doing right, which characterised a nobleness of soul that rarely falls to the lot of mankind. He retained his reason to the last moment of his life; and so perfectly reconciled was he to the awful change that was approaching, that he gave the most minute directions respecting his funeral Without the least emotion, and anticipated his translation from this life in a manner that bespeaks, in an eminent degree, his peace with this world, and a well-grounded hope of meeting, in the other, that reward, which a well spent life entitled him to.

Died-on the morning of Tuesday, the 1st. inst. Death closed for ever the eves of the respected SAMUEL TYLER, Esq. of Prince-George's county (Md.) after a short and violent illness, in the 63th year offiis age.

On the 24th, met with a very heavy gale of wind, in which he received some little damage, and on the 6th of October, in lat. 39 36, long. 71 17, he fell in with the schooner Hulda and Ann, capt. Wm. H. Dough- | are required to make immediate payment to crty, of and for New York from Savannali, out | 13 days-capt. D. who was so ill that he could hardly stand the deck, said that himself and every hand, except a black man, were sick; I captain Minor put an able seaman on board to assist in navigating the sch'r and left her standing for her port with a fine south-wester, but next day the wind came out at N. W. Yesterday arrived the brig Rosanna, capt. : Erown, from Liverpool-Sailed from thence I the 20th of August, and left ship Maria, Wallington, of and fortids port in 14 days. Captain B. September 27, in lat. 41, long. 59, at 3 P. M. saw the wreck of a sch'r which proved to be the Bloom, captain Rossetter of and from Philadelphia, bound to Bilboa; who was unfor-Newbern | tunately upset in a gale of wind on the 24th olt. lying too and filled—we took from the wreck, the captain, mate, and four of the people, all of the crew but two who perished. October 1, in lat. 40 17, long. 66, at 7 A. M. spoke the ship Melpomene, captain Dobney, from Amsterdam, bound to Ne . York under jury masts, being upset in the gale of the 24th of last month. Octcher 2. at 6 P. M. saw a ship under jury masts, standing to the northward. Copt. Rossetter furnishes us with the followlowing from his log-book :- having taken charge of the ach'r Bloom, belonging to Win. Davy and Son, and Dutill and Wachmouth, punctual customers. leaded with sugar and cocon and bound for Bilboa. We left the Capes of Delaware on the 13th of September. On the 23d it began to blow heavy from the S. E. 24th, heavy gales from S. by E. with a heavy sea running, hove ! too under close reefed foresail with the bonnet off. At 10. A. M. being in lat. 41, N. long. 57, W. was unfortunately knocked down on our beam ends by a heavy stroke of a scaewhich carried off our boats, spars, &c. We were in this situation about five minutes before we could get the lanyards of the main rigging cut away, and about ten minutes afterwards, before the vessel i righted.—The mainmast broke about a foot above the deck, and carried the head of the fore mast away with it about three feet below the Trussel-trees. After she righted we found the cabin doors stove in, (which was secured by a plank nailed across them,) the vessel entirely full of water, and it two and an half feet above the main deck. The cook, named Jacob Tilghman, a black man, was in the cabin, and got jammed by some of the water casks or provisions, fetching way on him, and we never saw him afterwards. It was impossible for us to do any thing towards saving the vessel in her situation as the sea was running entirely over her, during the time we remained on her. Before night the quarter deck was quite loose and lifting up with every sea as high as the rail This day all the provisions and most of the cocoa that was in the cabin floated out, but we could not attempt to save any of them for our sustenance as we were obliged to keep ourselves lashed to the taffrel rail for fear of being washed off the wreck. 25th, Wm Buckworth, seaman, died about 8, A. M. from the fatigue and cold of the night, since the time we were knocked down we were continually under water. 27th, moderate weather, found the vessel settling very fast, hove the cables and anchors with every thing heavy we could get at over board. The deadlights with the bulks head at the quarter deck all stove in -By fishing in the cabin with a spike nail (crookened) that we picked out of the | street.

cept a bolt and a half of canvas and a few of the sailor's clothes. Affired at the Lazaretto, the brig Molly, Wheaton, from Bassaterre, Guadaloupe. Sailed from thence, the 27th ult. and on the 23d, in lat. 26 55, N. long. 67 50, fell in with the wreckof the schooner Hampshire, capt. Thomas Barbar, of New York, who had been upset and lost 6 men, her main mast, and every thing off decks on the 18th Sept.—the captain and 3 men had of New-York, condemned at Antigua. Left at | been 5 days in the fore-rigging when I relieved | ions; and who can produce satisfactory recomthem—the sch'r was then full of water and almost under, with nothing standing but the forequarter deck, we got a bag of cocoa and a bolt and a half of canvas. 29th, at 4 P. M. after being 112 hours on the wreck, was taken off by the brig Rosanna, capt. Brown, of Philadelphia, who treated us with the greatest humanity, being all nearly unable to help themselves, from their bruises and exposure to the weather, and wash of the sea. There was nothing saved ex-ven, in 8 days for St. Thomas; schrs. Sheil Cas- Sukey, captain Hughs, of Newburyport, who tle, Tulford, in 8 days for Washington, N. C. had lost his foremast on the 19th, and purposed Resolution, Betner, in 10 days for Newbern : | to get into the first port he could in the United Rewastico, of Baltimore; and sloop Richard, of | States .- On the 30th, in lat. 32 27, long. 71 30, Suffolk, Virginia. Left at St. Bartholome vs. W. spoke the brig Abby, Taber, of New-Bedship Glory, Hayner, of Norfolk; brig Char- ford, who had lost her main mast on the 23d lotte, Jones, of New-York. The sloop Hiram, | Sept. and purposed to try for any port in the U. of New-York, sailed the same day for St. Tho- | States. The said captain informed me had been 15 months on a whaling voyage.
