The first campaign is finished, and Bonaparte finds in his possession upwards of 60,000 prisoners. He has expelled the troops of the house of Austria from Bavaria, and re-established his Ally in the sovereignty of his states.

An article, under the date of London, Nov. 4, says-" A report was circulated at Paris, on Monday last, that the Emperor of Austria had applied for a cessation of hostilities, and that Bonaparte had answered, that he would consent to a cessation, on condition of the Emperor of Germany sending back the Russians feliconcing his alliance with England, and placing Venice and the Tyrolese in the hands of the Emperor of the French."

It was reported in London, that the Archduke Charles had totally defeated the French troops in Italy.

VIENNA, Oct. 17 .- The most intimate, and (as it is here asserted) the most satisfactory negociations have taken place between our Court and that of Prussia.

Prissia has joined the coalition against France, and a junction has been formed between the Russians and Prussians. The latter power is merching her armies to Franconia, to the Banks of the RLine, and to the borders of the Batavian Republic. Three armies, amounting in the whole to 150,000 men, are actually on their march for the different points.

General Rienmayer, with 25,000 men, had effected a junction of 45,000 Russians, | 4, state that the House of Representatives had near Branau.

A more brilliant and decisive campaign (says the London editors) is not to be found in the annals of ancient or modern ; warfare. -- We tremble for the final results, and we must in the mean time, fashion our minds to hear of new successes on the part of the enemy."

Star Office, Nov. 7 .- 2d edition. Capt. Langford arrived at the Admiralty this afternoon, accompanied by a Prussian officer bringing with him the most important dispatches from the Elbe.

These dispatches bring a treaty of ALLIANCE between this country and His Prussian Majesty, whose army of EIGHTY THOUSAND MEN was actually on its march against the common enemy, when the dispatches were sent iff.

The Emperor of Russia had been at Berlin to hold a conference with the king of Prussia.

The same Emperor is hurrying to the scene of action at the head of SIX-TY THOUSAND MEN, and his Imperial brother of Germany is also marching at the head of ANOTHER army.

The remains of Lord Nelson are to be brought to England for inter-

It is just reported, that the Arch Duke Charles has gained a victory over the French army under Massena in Italy.

COMMERCIAL DAILY, ADVER'TISE

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1805

By an arrival at New-York we observe it reported, that the sloop Nancy, from Havanna, bound to Baltimore, was spoken Dez. 10, out 38 days had lost his jib and foresail, and was on allowance of half a biscuit a day-supplied withprovisions, From the Merchants' Coffee House Books.

The circuit court of the district of Columbia, says the Alexandria Advertiser of Wednesday, has been engaged for the two last days on the trial of John A. Burford, for the robbery and attempt to murder Mr Peter, of the Bank of Columbia, in June last; and this morning the jury brought in a verdict—Nor Guilly.

The Kentucky Gazette says-" The buil ling of gun-boats in this state, was by a letter from the secretary of war, dated the last of October. suspended; but by a subsequent letter, the contractors are informed, that by information from N. Orleans it is probable they will be wanted at that place immediately. They are therefore instructed to proceed in completing them with all possible dispatch.

We refrice to find that there is a prospect of the repeal of the ect of the South Carolina legislature authorising the importation of slaves. Acrampts from Columbia, as late as December the day preceding, adopted a resolution, apprinting a committee to bring in a bill to probiby the importation of slaves in that state, from beyon is his or elsewhere, by the bold majority

This looks as if the public sentiment had for been roused, and as if the representatives of the people were, in good carnest, about to wip foil from the character of the state one of the dark. est blots ever cast upon it. The same accounts represent it as probable that the repealing bill 40 sail of English transports taken into will pass the senate by a majority of two votes. Nat. Intelligeneer.

On the 4th November, the representatives of the territory of Orleans met at New Orleans.-On the same day the governor addressed them. On the ensuing day John N. Destreham was chosen speaker. On the 8th the house returned an answer to the governor, and nominated Messrs. Bellechasse, Gurley, M'Carty, D. rbigny, Destreham, Sauve, Bouligny, Villan, Evan Jones and Donnemour, the persons, from whom the president of the United States is to select 5 individuals, who are to compose the legislative council.—ib.

On Friday last the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania after a discussion of the days, agreed to an address in answer to the speech of the governor. In this answer, whose length prevents its entire insection in this day's paper, } is the following paragraph:

" At this important crisis of our national affairs, when we have leason to apprehend that the general government will be obliged, 'to sacrifice its handable love of peace to an Learnrable assertion of its rights and dignity; when I arrivals from Blibca are, that business was our national tlag is insulted and our territories violated, by the subjects of forci upowers, " it becomes us to declare that we have the full it confilence in the collected sais land and for detient of the executive well legislative transfer of the fileral givernment;" and that whatever measures may be found necessary for the assertion of our rights and dignity will be promptly and cheerfully supported by the state of Pennsylvania " Mr. Wells, a federal member, in sted to strike out the words in Italic, on which a teng debate custed, which issued in the determination of the house to retain the words, every republican member voting for retaining them, and the federal members, 13 in number, voting for striking them out. The majority on this pecasion inciudes all the republican members, as well constitutional as democratic. Here then we have the p'edge that with regard to national interests there is no division among the republicans of Pennsylvania. May a sense of common danger and of mutual interest awaken them to there. collection of times when they were friends, and reproduce the amity that then so happily sub-

The Senate, in correspondence with their practice for some time past, have made no answer to the speech of the governor.—ib.

"It is believed that federalism is in-"creassing in Rhode-Island; for encour-" agement is given to Public Schools."

Boston Centinel, This sounds mighty well of itself; keep FACTS out of sight, and the charming theory, that federalism is the EXCLUSIVE pillar of public education, glides along smoothy enough. Facts are mortal enemies to federalism. Perhaps we may agree to the correctness of the Boston Centinel's insinuation, that federalism is the main stay of public schools, if one or two stumbling blocks can be got of the way; to accomplish which we beg the assistance of the Boston Centinel, and its readers. If the encouragement of public schools is a property of federalism, the world certainly ought to know it, that credit ought not to be with-held from those to whom it is due.

The following are the stumbling blocks alluded to. In Mr. Griswold's memoir, we find that Gen. Trocy "remarked with DISAP-"PROBATION upon the fondness-of-"New England people to SCHOOL "THEIR CHILDREN—and said he " wished the Connecticut Western Re-" serve were sunk out of existence, and " that the people might never reap a " cent's benefit from it for the purpose of SCHOOLING"

Not long since, a zealous federalist in the town of Farmington, in this state, well known as the Sancho Panza and constant echo of Lieutenant Governor TREADWELL, observed that " poor men's "children, had too much 'education-and " that if this evil continued much longer-" if common people were suffered to ac-" quire education with so much facility, it a would soon be impossible to govern W. thema!!!!-
