This, our readers will observe, is the ordinary course of proceeding in like cases; and which, it is contended, on the part of Americaamounts to a fair importation into that country' so as to justify the subsequent transmission o. the produce of a hostile colony to the motherf country, or any other port in Europe, while the contrary is maintained by our Prize Courts.

The Master of the Rolls did not enter into those general principles of the Law of Nations, on which this countr yasserts a right to prevent ; only observed, that by the uniform sense of the allowed by his Majesty's war instructions, was unlawful; and that therefore the only question ! ence, of the Royal Instruction which applied to

He also mentioned, that by the law of America, as now clearly understood, the importer actually derived a positive advantage by these transactions; or that though the duties are not paid, negociable debentures are issued on the credit of the bond, and these the importer can put into circulation, until a period at some months distance, which is allowed for the payment of the bond, or for its discharge by production of these debentures.

Busion, May 4. . Votes for Governor.

We have published from various sources, votes in 438 towns. After correcting several, they stand thus:

Strong, 37,309 Sullivan, 36,923

Majority,

As the votes above stand, we give gov. COMMERCIAL DAILT ADVERTISER Strong a majority of 380. By the secretary's book, there are 344 scattering votes, (including New-Bedford, which returned 106 for James Sullings;) take these 344 from gov. Strong's majority of 380, and there remains 36 for His Excellency!-Nineteen towns yet to be heard from, which last year gave Judge Sullivan a handsome majority.

NEW-YORK, May 7. POSTSCRIPT.

The ship Enterprize, captain Packwood, arrived last evening at the Hook, in 42 days from London. We acknowledge our obligations to captain P. w.o ! very politely forwarded to us by a pilot | that town. boat a note announcing his arrival, and it closing his latest London paper, which is of the 20th of March, one day later than our advices by the Hardware. It contaits no additional intelligence of moment, nor does it throw any light upon the obare the principal articles:

LUNDON, March 20. The dispatches brought by the Flag of Truce were received at Boulogne from Paris at 10 o'clock on Tuesday night, with orders to send them off immediately and to deliver them to the first British Cruiser that had a king's officer on board -they were brought to Boulogne by a Courier .- In pursuance of the orders received, a French Naval Officer immediately embarked on board a Flag of Truce, but none of our ships were spoken till the Flag of Truce had stood over nearly to Dover Roads, when she fell in, little after 7 o'clock yesterday morning, with the Venus frigate-the French officer immediately went on board her and delivered his Dispatches, which were instantly conveyed to admiral Hollaway at Deal, and from thence sent off to government.

The Flag of Truce remained off Dover tillhalf past 12 yesterday, when she sailed again for Boulogne. Of the nature of been received, that Henry Whitby, comthe dispatches, the French officer who manding a British armed vessel, called was the bearer of them, was wholly unin- | the Leander, did on the twenty-fifth day formed. By some persons they were of the month of April last past, within supposed to relate merely to a Cartel for | the waters and jurisdiction of the United | the exchange of prisoners. Others can hardly believe that they relate to a Cartel, because they say that a week ago no answer had been sent to the last proposal received from the French Government upon the subject, upwards of a month since. As soon as the dispatches arrived at Mr. Fox's office, he went to the Queen's House, and communicated them to his Majesty, with whom he had a long Audience; after which a council is said to have been held. A morning paper adds, that another French officer arrived at Deal in a Gally belonging to the Nile lugger, which took him out of a French lugger off Gravelines. Our Deal letter, however is perfectly silent upon the sub-

The arrival of the flag of truce, which was known at the stock of exchange between two and three o'clock, produced the effect of raising the funds, which in the preceding part of the day had been depressed by large sales of stock made, as we understand, by some Dutch houses. The rise however, was not so great as i probably would have been, had not some communication, been made with respect to the Loan for the service of the year.

Some Paris papers arrived last night of the 12th instant. One of them, the Gazette de France, contains a note which seems to shew that the French expect Bonaparte's speech will pave the way for a negociation of Peace. It is a note upon anarticle of London intelligence, which mentions that " Mr. Fox suffered himself to be very easily persuaded by Lord Grenville, that peace could not be that of on account of the unfavorable circumstances and unpropitious situation in which England tound herself."

BY THOMAS JEFFERSON, President of the United States of America. A Proclamation.

Whereas satisfactory information has States, and near to the entrance of the harbor of New-York by a cannon shot fired from the said vessel Leander, commit a murder on the body of John Pierce, a citizen of the United States, then pursuing his lawful vocations within the same waters and jurisdiction of the United States, and near to their shores, and that the said Henry Whitby cannot at this time be brought to justice by the ordinary process of law.

AND WHEREAS it does surther appear that both before and after the said day, sundry trespasses, wrongs and unlawful interruptions and vexations on trading vessels, coming to the United States, and within their waters and vicinity were committed by the said armed vessel the Leander, her officers and people, by one other armed vessel called the Cambrian, commanded by John Nairne, her officers and people, and by one other armed vessel called the Driver, commanded by Slingsby Simpson, her officers and people, which vessels being all of the same nation, were aiding and assisting each other in the trespasses, interruptions and vexations aforesaid.

Now THEREFORE, to the end that the said Henry. Whitby may be brought to justice, and due punishment inflicted for the said murder, I do hereby especially enjoin and require all officers having authority, civil or military, and all other persons within the limits or jurisdic ion of the United States, wheresoever the said Henry Whitby may be found, now or hereafter, to apprehend and secure the said Henry Whithy, and him safely and diligently to deliver to the civil authority of the place, to be proceeded against according to law.
