WE, the subscribers, of the city of Baltimore, do hereby certify, that Mr. William Merryman has acted towards us, as his creditors, in an honorable and upright manner-and has settled with us, we believe, to the utmost of his ability, and much to our satisfaction.

We are convinced his failure in business proceeded not from his own misconduct, but from those misfortunes incident to trade.

And further, after the insolvent act was passed in his favor, he shewed no disposition to use it to our injury, but made us, his creditors, such liberal propositions aslto convince us of his correct intentions towards us.

Beware of a Swindler and subtile Villain!

200 Dollars Reward.

BSCONDED from his lodgings on Saturday afternoon, between three and four o'clock, a MAN, (or rather a Human Wretch) who called himself by the name of Bowers, sometimes Joseph Bowers; he was about six feet high; in the form of his person he is very well proportioned-has light colored short hair, being longest on the forepart of his head and combed forward over his temples and forehead -his eyes are of rather small size, and between a light blue and a grey color; when speaking in a low tone, he is very apt to draw his right eye-lid down low; his eye-sight is quick and keen and appears to notice every thing about him, he has a clear light colored skin, a small light colored beard, good white teeth, he has not a very red'countenance, but is a handsome faced man; with a good wholesome appearance; has a nose of rather a large size and a common sized mouth; he has squre shoulders and long arms and hands, and slim fingers; by the looks of his hands, he has not done much work lately, he is a little round shouldered, the trunk of his body is of a common size, has large hips and tolerable large thighs and legs and a rather large sized foot; he has rather a loud voice and pretty much the English accent, and is rather clamerous in his conversation, he talks much of Old and New-England, and speaks much of the misfortunes (in the loss of property) which have attended him. We deem it almost needless the describe his dress, as we suppose he will change it, however it may not be amiss to describe it; he had on a blue broadcloth coat rather short in the waist, with yellow metal buttons; a short white cassimere waistcoat, a pair of narrow ribbed, olive colored velvet pantaloons, he most frequently wore a white and blue silk handkerchief round TATHERE are made and sold, wheat fans, his neck over his cravat, his hat was black with rolling and other screens, for wheat, a narrow brim and was rather old; he seems to be desirous of ingratiating himself into the favor of the fair sex. The notorious Swindler sand, &c. &c. shakes for tidian meal, wire four pieces of Bengal ginghams, which he took of captain Israel Brayton in this place, and immediately absconded with the goods, the ginghams were striped with blue, and some with red, &c. he (previous to leaving this place) took the goods to Fell's-Point, and there broke the packages & packed the ginghams in a box and trunk, which he carried them off in; the box was from four and a half to five feet long, and from four to four and a half feet fully informs the public, that he has resumed | wide, and from eighteen to twenty inches deep, made of white pine or poplar boards, about three quarters of an inch thick, and was (when the goods were packed into it) marked with black paint, I. D. 155, though it is very probable that he will either blot out the mark or scrape it off. The trunk was two and a half feet long and seventeen or eighteen inches wide, and twelve inches thick, covered with bullocks raw hide of a dark brown color, which was damaged and the hair had come off in a number of places, particularly on the front part of the top. It is supposed that he has made for some part of Virginia, most likely for Norfolk, or for Philadelphia, or the country in the neighborhood of the river Ohio, or perhaps may bemaking his way for some of the West India 200 dollars will be given for the apprehending said Bowers together with the goods, so that he can be brought to trial for his villainy, and one hundred and seventy-five dollars will be given for the securing of the said goods so that the owner gets them, and seventy-five dollars will be given for the apprehending said Bowers, so that he is brought to trial for this nefarious plece of villainy.

ISRAEL BRAYTON. From a source of information which there is no reason to doubt, the beforementioned Bowers has committed this species of villainous swindling in many different parts of the continent, it therefore is requested of the different printers in the U.
