For Sale,

A very valuable TRACT of LAND, in Baltimore county, within 11 1.2 miles of the city of Baltimore, containing 640 acres, scated on a branch of Middle River, which empties into, and is within about 5 miles of the Chesapeake Bay. There are about 40 acres of this land cleared, the residue, about 600 acres, abounds with valuable timber, calculated for every useful purpose, such as ship-building, staves, &c. The soil is calculated to raise every species of country produce, but it is more particularly adapted for an extensive grazing farm, as more than one half may be made choice meadow. The river, an which this land is seated, is navigable for vessels drawing about 8 feet water, and abounds with the best fish, with which our markets are supplied, and there is not, perhaps, at this time, a tract of land offered for sale in the state, that enjoys more real advantages than this; its contiguity to the city of Baltimore, which is confessedly the best market on the continent, and the advantage of water carriage for ship timber, staves, tan-bark and fire wood, which is always in demand, and bears a flattering price, are objects worthy the attention of any person wanting to purchase such a place. A part of the purchase money will be required down, and a pleasing credit given for the balance. For further particulars apply in Baltim re, to

- JACOB FOWBI.E. Beware of a Swindler and subtile Villain!

200 Dollars Reward.

BSCONDED from his lodgings on Satur-11 day afternoon, between three and four o'clock, a MAN, (or rather a Human Wretch) who called himself by the name of Bowers, sometimes Joseph Bowers; he was about six feet high; in the form of his person he is very well proportioned-has light colored short hair. being longest on the forepart of his head and combed forward over his temples and forehead -his eyes are of rather small size, and between a light blue and a grey color; when speaking in a low tone, he is very apt to draw his right eye-lid down low; his eye-sight is quick and keen and appears to notice every thing about him, he has a clear light colored skin, a small light colored beard, good white teeth, he has not a very red countenance, but is a handsomefaced man; with a good wholesome appearance; has a nose of rather a large size and a common sized mouth; he has squre shoulders and long arms and hands, and slim fingers; by the looks of his hands, he has not done much work lately, he is a little round shouldered, the trunk of his body is of a common size, has large hips and tolerable large thighs and legs and a rather large sized foot; he has rather a loud voice and pretty much the English accent, and is rather clamerous in his conversation, he talks much of Old and New-England, and speaks much of the mistirtunes (in the loss of property) which have attender him. We deem it almost needless the describe his dress, as we suppose he will change it, however it may not be amiss to describe it; he had on a blue broadcloth coat rather short in the waist, with yellow metal buttons; a short white cassimere waistcoat, a pair of narrow ribbed, olive colored velvet pantaloons, he most frequently wore a white and blue silk handkerchief round his neck over his cravat, his hat was black with a narrow brim and was rather old; he seems to be desirous of ingratiating himself into the favor of the fair sex. The notorious Swindler carried from this place one hundred and ninetyfour pieces of Bengal ginghams, which he took of captain Israel Brayton in this place, and immediately absconded with the goods, the ginghams were striped with blue, and some with red, &c, he (previous to leaving this place) took the goods to Fell's-Point, and there broke the packages & packed the ginghams in a box and trunk, which he carried them off in; the box was from four and a half to five feet long, and from four to four and a half feet wide, and from eighteen to twenty inches deep, made of white pine or poplar boards, about three quarters of an inch thick, and was (when the goods were packed into it) marked with bullocks raw hide of a dark brown color, which was damaged and the hair had come off in a number of places, particularly on the front part of the top. It is supposed that he has made for some part of Virginia, most likely for Norfolk, or for Philadelphia, or the country in the neighborhood of the river Ohio, or perhaps may be A great variety of entertaining Histories,
