ed the people from the ship; but adds when the natives were turned out of ship by Mr. Wright, they went on ore apparently in a violent passion.

MMERCIAL DAILY ADVERTISER

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11, 1806

The president of the United States ared at the seat of government on Satur-last, from Monticello.

Captain Carver, arrived at Boston, in days from Bayonne, mentions a report the ports of Portugal, were to be shut inst the English. [Phil. pap.

COMMUNICATION.

To remove and keep clear of bed-bugs.

Aloes of the Succotrina kind, to be had from st druggists and apothecaries, dissolved in kind of spirit to the consistence which may applied to the joints & crevices of the bed-ads, or elsewhere, with a feather, will cer-ly kill and remove them. About an ounce gill of spirit, will clear seven bedsteads, the cost be but a few cents. It is a good thod to mark the breadth of a finger with solution round each foot of the bed-posts.

[Fed. Gaz.

A tremendous hurricane was expericed at the Isle of Bourbon on the 21st.
February last, which did immense dage to the coffee plantations and to the pping, blew down several houses, kila number of the inhabitants, and des-yed nearly all the corn on the island. ur vessels were driven ashore, and two erset by the violence of the wind. Of former were the ships Columbus, capt. llender, and David, captain Webber, of ston. These vessels were totally lost, th about one half of the cargo of the .. er, and one third of the cargo of the ter.

ANECDOTE.—Some, who are as deficient in te as in Christianity, have represented the ble as beneath the notice of a literary man e would wish to introduce an anecdote which st be doubly interesting to them, as the man o contended for the Inspired writers, was a tive of this state. The gentleman above alled to was once engaged in a controversy th a Clergyman, and declared that no writer, cient or modern, rivalled Homer in the sub-ity of his conceptions. To prove his assern, he cited the following passage: " Jove frowns, and darkens more than half e skies." There! cried he, what passage ll you find equal to this? A frown from the ow of my heathen omnipotent, overshadows half the skies with darkness. The Clergy-an did not ruminate long for an answer. He posed him by the following quotation from e 20th chapter of Revelations, verse 12th, And I saw a great white throne, and Him t sat on it, from whose face the earth and e Heavens fled away, and there was no place them." Your fabled god, he remarked, uld only put one half the Heavens into a fer-nt by the distortion of his visage. At the re appearance of the Christian Deity, crean trembles, and seeks annihilation for shelter.
is honorable to the character of the heathen mirer, that he not only had taste and judg-ent enough to relish the superior splendour, revelation, but likewise the magnanimity to ofess it.

To the citizens of Baltimore and its precincts.

The Managers impressed with a belief that e utility of the general dispensary is now nerally felt and acknowledged, and sensible t it imposes too great a burthen upon a few the citizens to require them to make an anal application to their fellow citizens for subriptions to the charity, have this year apinted Mr Benjamin Thomas to wait upon ose who are now on the list of contributors, d to receive from such as are disposed to conue their aid, their subscriptions for the en-ing year. They take the liberty of recomending to their fostering care an institution ich contributes so much on the relief of sufring humanity, and not to be "weary in well ing;" and they respectfully request those to om God has given the ability, and who are contributors to the dispensary, to send to treasurer, Mr. Philip E. Thomas, No. 106, ltimore-street, such benefactions as they y be disposed to give. The subscription of e dollars per annum is necessary to entitle a bscriber to recommend indigent sick to the e of the institution and to vote for managers d attending physicians. The election of the mer will take place on Friday, the 20th inst. d that of the latter, on Friday, the 27th inst.
They have thought proper to publish the anxed list of contributors to the dispensary ey will be happy to be able to proclaim next r, that not only that its present patrons have mitted to it their support, but that many hers have joined them in their labor of love.
