STATE OF THE HAMBURG MARKET.

It has undergone no material change, the same inactivity prevails. It is said the business done at the Leipsic fair has been very advantageous. The proprietors of British manufactured goods found a ready sale a: high prices. This place is now the most important market for all British produce, from the late events in Swisserland and the strong prohibition there as well as in France and Italy of the importation of all Brush manufactures.

The certainty of the Danish ports on the Eyder remaining open and the shipping by small craft on the Watten to the place being. permitted, promises encouragement to our trade.
